CARP WANTS TO FIGHT SIKI AGAIN

THE WEATHER

Boston and Vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday; continued cool; fresh northwest winds.

Sun rises at 5:38; sets at 5:38.
Moon sets at 8:56 p. m.
High tide at 2:07 a. m.; 2:26 p. m.
Temperatures: Maximum, 62 at 1 a. m.; minimum, 50 at 7 a. m.; average, 56.
Light all vehicles at 6:36 p. m.

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

VOL. 19—No. 158 BOSTON, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1922 Registered in U. S. Patent Office 3 CENTS; WORTH IT

COMPLETE STOCKS NIGHT

TWO COMPLETE NEWS SECTIONS, TWO FIRST PAGES, TWO FICTION PAGES, TWO PAGES OF PICTURES AND COMICS

M'NAMEE INDICTED IN PRUDENTIAL FRAUDS

Today

Turkey Comes Back
The Angel Never Came
Fool Proof Flying
The Trouble With Marriage

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

Of nations conquered in the big war, Turkey comes back first.

Read the offer made to her by the great Allies and you learn that fighting alone counts in the family of nations.

Turkey fought and won. England, France and Italy beg her to meet them in conference, offer her, most humbly, "Thrace, as far as the river Maritza, and including Adrianople." Turkey is invited into the League of Nations; she is assured that the Dardanelles will be kept open and neutral. "Anything in reason, if you will please stop fighting," is the word.

What a change from Armistice Day, when Turkey was the yellow dog kicked out of Europe. It makes a difference when you fight and win.

In Constantinople there is fear of Turkish massacres. The Turkish idea of a celebration is a massacre. And the Christians in Constantinople lack the absolute faith that upheld them in times past.

When the Turks first entered the city in triumph, after eleven centuries of Roman rule—about 468 years ago—the Christian women and children gathered in the square before the Church of Saint Sophia. They had been assured that at the right moment an angel with a flaming sword would appear and protect them.

The angel did not turn up, but the Turk did, with his usual massacre. He made a Mohammedan mosque of Saint Sophia, putting minarets for muezzins at the corners, and covering with plaster the beautiful mosaic designs forbidden by the prophet.

Turkey has not replied to the humble petition of the great Allies. But Russia has served notice that the Dardanelles belong to the countries on the Black Sea—to Russia chiefly.

The question of war or no war depends on Russia and the character of Kemal, Turkish leader.

If this war comes, it will be interesting chiefly as Russia's war. That big country may come back number two. That depends partly on the ability of Trotzky as a leader of armies.

The Wright Airplane Company says it has perfected a machine that anybody can fly after four hours' practice. That is bound to come, for flying on a road as broad as the sky should be much easier than driving a motor in traffic.

If the fool-proof airplane has come, it means a great deal to human freedom, for the law of gravitation becomes a law without power over man when all can fly.

The Protestant Episcopal bishops decide that there must be no divorce, except for infidelity. If they think that infidelity is the only thing that makes marriage hard to stand, they know little about marriage. Boredom, with terribly dull husbands, is the general trouble.

The bishops desire to preserve morality. What is the moral effect of compelling to stay married those that don't want to be married, or forbidding men or women, separated, to marry again?

Mrs. Peter Santes, in a hospital at Mason City, Iowa, gave birth to an infant that said "Mother" quite distinctly when only five minutes old and repeated the word several times in the course of the day.

So the nurses say, but they are mistaken. To say "Mother" you must use your teeth and tongue

Continued on Page 2, Column 4

Four Men Held on Girl's Charge

AGED MAN ACCUSED, DIES

Wakefield Stirred by Indictments Against Prominent Residents

Revelations by a thirteen-year-old girl has resulted in the secret indictment of four Wakefield men by a Middlesex grand jury.

Subsequently the serious nature of the charges so terrified Frank Salvani, seventy-eight-year-old fruit dealer, that he became ill and died at Melrose Hospital.

The other men accused are Charles M. McCarthy, William H. Mason and Walter M. Cotting.

All four men were highly respected heretofore and one of the group is reported as being a leading member of one of the Wakefield churches.

Sums of money the girl had, and which she could not satisfactorily explain to her parents, led to disclosure that she had been with these men in the back rooms of certain stores and that they had given her money and presents.

The incensed father consulted Chief of Police Pollard, who, in turn, had the child point out the men on the street.

HUB MEN FLEECED BY GANG

Met Big Losses in Poolroom Where Downey Played; Leaders in Flight

Crooked gamblers, "cappers" and "comeon" men who worked in the fake poolroom of Humphrey Lane and Robert S. Fiske at Park square are in flight from the city.

Following the arrest of Lane and Finn, in whose crooked gambling room Paul Downey, now in jail charged with the theft of $127,770 from the Federal Trust Company, is said to have been led to ruin, the men packed their bags and departed by train and automobile. Today the police say that practically every man who was mixed up in the running of the fake pool room is far from Boston.

The police have not lost sight of these men, however. They say it will be but a few days before they are arrested and brought back to Boston.

It was discovered today that many

Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

Ring Winner

Copyright, Keystone View Co.
BATTLING SIKI

CARP IS SEVERELY SCORED

French Pugilist in Bed, Badly Bunged Up as Result of Beating by Siki

Paris, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Georges Carpentier, knocked out by Battling Siki and deprived of his title as heavyweight champion of Europe by the unexpected victory of the hardy Senegalese, was keeping to his bed today, battered and discouraged and watched over by his trainers.

His manager, Francois Descamps, is already out, however, for a return match with the victorious African.

"It is all his fault; it is a good lesson for Georges," Descamps said today. "If Carpentier had not tried to play with Siki he would not have been hit in the third round by the lucky punch that dazed him."

GEORGES CRITICISED.

Carpentier is blamed severely by all the sporting writers for taking the fight as a joke. They remark that the ex-champion seemed to think he had nothing to do but play to the gallery for the benefit of the moving picture men and that he could "get" Siki when he wished.

None of the writers suggests, however, that Carpentier could whip Siki in a return match, for they recognize the fact that the Senegalese battler can apparently take unlimited punishment. Many of them, nevertheless, express the opinion that Carpentier could have finished the fight a victor in the first or second rounds yesterday, when Siki impressed them as being in a fright.

Continued on Page 10, Column 1

Scores Lawyer for "Unfit" Letters

Simply Unbelievable and Very Offensive, Says Aggrieved Woman

As an aftermath of a Rhode Island divorce tangle, Mrs. Smith opens war on lawyer who introduced her husband to pretty stenographer.

MRS. ARTHUR L. SMITH

That Attorney Charles H. McKenna had an evil influence on her husband, president of the Rhode Island Senate, is the charge of Mrs. Smith, who demands McKenna be disbarred.

LARCENY CHARGED TO BANK OFFICER

Ex-Mayor of Cambridge, Who Headed Closed Trust Company, Is Accused

John H. H. McNamee, ex-mayor of Cambridge and former president of the Prudential Trust Company, and another former official of the bank were indicted today by Attorney-General Allen's special grand jury.

Indictments were returned by the jury before Judge John F. Brown in Suffolk Superior Court. They charge conspiracy, fraudulent loans and larceny.

Investigation of the company began last Wednesday and was in progress during the week.

Among those who testified were five directors of the institution. They were:

Senator George E. Carrick, No. 67 Spark street, Cambridge; George S. R. McLean of Newton; John E. Reagan, lawyer, No. 67 Devonshire street; Patrick J. Donahue of Natick and Reginald Brown, No. 70 Milk street.

OTHER WITNESSES.

Other witnesses were John E. Hanigan, liquidating agent; his assistant, Paul Flynn of Waltham, and Catherine Conway, No. 182 Blue Hill avenue, who had been employed

Turn Over.

8 ROLL INTO TOWN, AND THEN TO COURT

Policeman Moran heard strange noises from a Boston taxi as it rolled into Newton. At West Newton police station, one after another, eight men stumbled out. Five drew suspended fines of $15 each today. Three others were given suspended sentences of a month each in the House of Correction. All were charged with drunkenness.

BANK STATEMENT.

N. Y. bank clearings	$334,000,000
N. Y. bank balances	64,000,000
Boston bank clearings	41,000,000
Boston bank balances	20,000,000
N. Y. F. R. bank, credit	60,000,000

BROCKTON STREET R. R. TO REORGANIZE

There was no opposition today to the petition for privileges in connection with the reorganization of the Plymouth & Brockton Railway Company. The petit on was for the right to issue $280,000 in stock and $280,000 in bonds, and to change the name of the company to the Brockton & Plymouth Street Railway Company.

WOMAN WOULD DISBAR R. I. LAWYER

Providence, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Arthur L. Smith, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and wife of the president of the Rhode Island Senate, Arthur L. Smith, today filed complaint with the Rhode Island Bar Association asking for the disbarment of Attorney Charles H. McKenna of Providence and Barrington.

The attempt on the part of Mrs. Smith to have the attorney disbarred is the aftermath of the divorce tangle of the Smiths that created a sensation in Rhode Island political and social circles last Winter.

Mrs. Smith obtained a legal separation from the Senator after he had filed a cross libel against her. She charged her husband with being friendly with a stenographer, Mary O'Day, and many letters purported to have been written by him to the stenographer were read in court.

At that time Mrs. Smith declared that Attorney McKenna was at the bottom of her domestic troubles. She declared that it was McKenna who introduced her husband to the stenographer.

"McKenna has been an evil influence on my husband," said Mrs. Smith." He has been at the bottom of our troubles all along."

Since the granting of the separation Mrs. Smith and McKenna have been engaged in a battle of letters. Now Mrs. Smith charges that the letters which McKenna sent her were unfit for the eye of any man or woman. She says they were worse than shocking, that the contents are unprintable and unmentionable. As a result of this she has filed her complaint.

STANDARD OIL MARKS UP KEROSENE A CENT

New York, Sept. 25.—The Standard Oil Company of New York today advanced the price of kerosene in New York and New England 1 cent a gallon. The new price is 14 cents.

REFUSES TO PROSECUTE RAWLINSON

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—Branding as manifestly untrue the charges of Miss Dorothy Clark, 17-year-old dancer, that Herbert Rawlinson, film star, attacked her, Chief Deputy District Attorney Keys today refused to take action against the actor. The action of the District Attorney's office followed personal appeals made by both sides in the controversy to District Attorney Woll[illegible]

Telephone Rights
Bought and Sold
On Commission

Kidder, Peabody & Co.
Founded in 1865
BOSTON PROVIDENCE NEW YORK

"11" cigarettes
They are GOOD!
10¢

FRANKLIN SAVINGS BANK
Inc. 1907
6 PARK SQUARE, BOSTON
Interest Begins OCT. 2

A HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION IN THE EVENING
Classes begin tomorrow night. Get thorough training WITHOUT LEAVING YOUR JOB. Courses in Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Civil Arithmetic, English, Algebra, Geometry, French, Latin, History, Chemistry, Physics, Mech. Draw'g, College Preparation. Office open tonight. Enroll NOW.
Northeastern Preparatory School Boston Y. M. C. A. 316 Huntington Ave.

STUDY TRAFFIC—Burdett Night School Transportation Course begins Oct. 3 Get circular. 14 Boylston St.—Adv.

McNAMEE, PRESIDENT OF THE PRUDENTIAL BANK, IS INDICTED

LOAN FRAUDS AND LARCENY CHARGED BY JURY

Continued from First Page.

at the bank as President McNamee's secretary.

The Prudential is the first of the closed companies to be investigated by the extraordinary Grand Jury. It was closed September 10, 1920, by Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen, with liabilities said to total $2,000,000.

In July, 1921, Charles S. Hill, sitting as master for the Supreme Court, made a report scoring William B. Bailey, ex-treasurer of the bank, and charging him with irregularities. He said that Mr. Bailey had "pulled the wool over the eyes of McNamee." He alleged that Mr. Bailey received a bonus of $6,500 for lending money to his friend, Charles E. Baker of Melrose Highlands, who, at the time, was trying to gain control of the Boston Dredging Company.

When Bank Commissioner Allen posted the notice closing the bank, the fourth institution to be closed within six weeks following the sensational bursting of the Ponzi bubble, he explained why he acted.

He said an examination had showed the bank's standing had been impaired by the steady withdrawal of deposits and by bad and slow loans.

Investigation after the closing of the bank showed that the State had $40,000 of its funds on deposit there. It also developed that the Prudential was one of the banks which gave its advertising to State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell and later obtained an increase in State deposits.

COUNSEL NOTIFIED.

Following the announcement of the secret indictments, Assistant Attorney-General Hurwitz said he had notified Samuel Webb, counsel for McNamee, to appear in the Superior Criminal Court for arraignment.

Settlement of the affairs of the Prudential since the closing in 1920, became so involved that the depositors formed a protective association and demanded the removal of Bank Commissioner Allen and an investigation of the methods of Liquidating Agent Hanagan. Governor Cox refused to act in either demand.

As bearing upon the possible action of the special grand jury, which under the direction of Attorney-General Allen investigated the affairs of the Prudential Trust Company, a report filed in the Supreme Court on July 26, 1921, by Charles S. Hill as master in suit by a depositor to establish a trust, contained interesting information as to the management of the bank.

After stating that William B. Bailey was treasurer of the Prudential Trust Company from the time of its incorporation on January 6, 1915, to June 4, 1920, when he resigned and was succeeded by Joseph W. Travi, who held the office of treasurer until September 10, 1920, on which day Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen took possession of the trust company, Mr. Hill said:

"In April, 1920, Travi, who then was assistant treasurer, discovered a serious condition of affairs in the bank. For some time the Boston Dredging Company had been a depositor in, and borrowing customer, of the bank. One Baker was endeavoring to buy the control of this company. Bailey, the treasurer of the Prudential Trust Company was working with Baker to enable Baker to borrow from other banks enough money to finance the purchase. For his services and expenses in this regard Bailey received $6,500 from Baker.

MONEY BORROWED.

"Baker subsequently borrowed $17,000 from the Prudential Trust Company which has never been paid. This loan was by the Prudential Trust Company considered as a Dredging Company loan. The Dredging Company itself was a heavy borrower, in fact, to sums exceeding those allowed by law to one corporation. In April Travi asked

Banker Indicted

JOHN H. H. McNAMEE.
Former president of Prudential Trust Company accused by Attorney-General Allen's special Grand Jury.

Mr. McNamee (John H. McNamee, president of the Prudential Trust Company) what he thought the amount of the Dredging Company loan was. Mr. McNamee said about $40,000. Travi told him he was in error and was thereupon directed by Mr. McNamee to make a search and discover just how things stood. Travi then found that, aside from their having heavy loans, the Dredging Company account was overdrawn $24,000.

"In the paying teller's cage, in an envelope treated as cash, were paid checks of the Dredging Company to between $8,000 and $9,000. In the check-teller's cage he found envelopes containing paid checks of the Dredging Company of about $16,000. Later he discovered another lot of paid checks aggregating about $5,500. These checks aggregating about $30,000 were between two and three months old and had never been charged up, though paid, to the Dredging Company account or recorded as over-drafts. They had consistently been treated as so much cash. There was evidence that this had been done under the direction of Bailey, the treasurer."

Today, by interesting coincidence, depositors in the closed Prudential were receiving dividends at the Commonwealth Trust Company.

BAR MRS. LYDIG FROM MARRIAGE WITH DR. GRANT

New York, Sept. 25.—The canon of the Episcopal church against marriage after divorce, made more drastic at the triennial convention of the church last week, caused much discussion here today in so far as it concerns Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension.

The attack on the canon by Dr. Grant, even before its more drastic amendment, followed the failure of Bishop William T. Manning to sanction the marriage of Dr. Grant and Mrs. Rita De Acosta Stokes Lydig, whose divorce from Major Philip M. Lydig was on the ground of incompatability.

In his attack Dr. Grant and Bishop Manning differed on the authenticity of a part of the text of the new testament.

Dr. Grant and Mrs. Lydig have made no statement on the amendment to the remarriage canon at the Portland convention.

Formerly the canon of the Episcopal church merely forbade clergymen to perform a ceremony where either party had been divorced for a cause other than infidelity. The amendment passed by the House of Deputies of the convention forbids communicants of the church from marrying a divorced person except where the divorce was granted on grounds of infidelity.

There is a resolution making execommunication the penalty for violating the law.

THERE WAS WATER IN THE ALCOHOL

Harry Hennessey and Joseph Murray of the Back Bay were invited to have a little drink at a house at No. 97 St. Stephens street.

"Fine," said Harry and Joe.

Then they discovered that the alcohol had been watered, according to their story. They complained to their host about the undue amount of water and the party at once became rough.

When the police arrived one of the pair was bathing the other's eye, and the host had flown out of a rear window.

Today Harry and Joe were fined $10 each in the Roxbury Court on a charge of drunkenness. A charge of wanton injury to personal property was dropped.

TODAY

Continued from First Page.

together. Try it. New born babies have no teeth.

Babies say "Mama" all over the world, very early, as W. J. Bryan may learn from Darwin, because that is a sound uttered naturally by an infant in search of its lunch. Later the child thinks the word means mother, but it really means "Lunch."

Government experts say coal will be very scarce, and tell you to economize and buy British coal. That helps to keep prices up.

Henry Ford says, "Coal prices are breaking. There is plenty of coal. Use as little as possible and that will bring the price down."

Take your choice. The moral, in any case, seems to be, use little coal.

All educators are discussing the statement by President Hopkins of Dartmouth that too many men go to college. He—Hopkins—says college education should be reserved for men worthy of it, for material worth educating for a "brain aristocracy."

Is it not a fact that mediocrity more than genius needs training-ing and educating? Is not the most important task of civilization the raising of our low mental AVERAGE?

Exceptional ability will do fairly well without college training, for, as Jaures said: "When you teach a child to read easily, you open all knowledge to that child."

How many people realize what the coal strike mean?

The coal miners increased their wages by 60 cents a ton. To cut off that 60 cents, or part of it, every effort was made. There were lockouts, trials for treason, injunctions, bloody strikes, one labor massacre.

All on account of FIFTY CENTS PER TON in the labor cost of coal. At the same time, while labor increased its charge 50 cents, the owners of coal lying in the ground increased their price SIX DOLLARS a ton.

No fuss is made about THAT. No injunctions against mine owners' charges, no massacres, no strike by the public.

That is the difference between labor and capital. And the difference exists because capital is intelligent and the public is dull.

FOUR IN ALIENATION SUIT

WINS HEART BALM
Mrs. Marion Howard, formerly of Winchester, who was awarded $42,500 in her alienation suit against Miss Margaret E. Pierce, the heiress on whose farm her husband worked.

LOVED BY HEIRESS.
James O. Howard, the former Winchester man, by whom Miss Margaret Pierce, the New York State heiress, admitted she had a child.

HEIRESS, ACCUSER.
Above is Margaret Pierce, whose love for her farm superintendent netted his wife $2,500. Below Mrs. Martha Howard, mother of the employee the heiress "vamped," whose accusations aided materially in swaying the jury.

GANG TRAPS BUSINESS MEN

Continued From First Page.

men, some of whom are believed to be prominent in Boston business houses, have been playing the races and losing heavily at the Park square pool room.

These men have covered their identity, according to the police, by using women's names instead of their own. One of the men is known as "Grace," another as "Peggy," another as "Maude." The police are trying to learn the real names of these men.

Police believe there may be several more startling disclosures before the investigation of the workings of the gang of crooked gamblers is completed. Many of the men who used women's names in their dealings with the poolroot are believed to be employes of various Boston business houses. The losses of several are known to have run into the thousands.

QUESTIONS FOR POLICE.

Where these men secured the money which they are said to have poured into the coffers of the gamblers is a question the inspectors working on the case are anxious to have answered.

Whether or not other young men in Boston have been dipping into the moneybags of their employers in order to play the races and games at the Park square poolroom is an other problem they wish to solve. These men will be closely questioned when found.

Inspectors John A. Dorsey and Fred Finn of headquarters staff, who arrested Downey, Lane, Finn and a clerk named Harris, are still working on the case.

Their investigation disclosed an instance where Downey was framed for $17,000 winnings, the result of a 12 to 1 shot he chanced. Less than an hour after he had received an installment of $5,000 on his $17,000 winnings it was swept away in a dice game. The $12,000 owed him by the gamblers was also swept away. Loaded dice were used on this occasion.

Lane and Finn kept in constant communication with young Downey. He spent every lunch hour there. The office of the "Gem Advertising Company" was headquarters for more than a dozen hand book men who were placed in different sections of the city taking bets. Most of the regular gamblers who patronized the place got a run for their money, but suckers like Downey were fleeced without mercy.

Lane, who lives at No. 29 Queensbury street, and who has a long police record as a yegg and pickpocket, now owns two high-priced cars and was blithely motoring through the Fenway when arrested by Dorsey. Finn had been arrested an hour before, at the time that Downey was taken.

Miss Mary Ryan of Malden, the girl who was to have married young Downey on Wednesday, accompanied by Downey's mother, visited the youth yesterday at Charles street jail, where he is held in bail of $50,000. The sight of both of them was too much for the boy, who broke down and wept.

"Mother! May! Forgive me! I made a mistake."

GIRL, JAILED, IS FREED AS FUR IS FOUND

Charged with larceny of fur necklace from Mrs. David Fine of No. 30 Priscilla road, Chestnut Hill, on September 21, Jane Moore, twenty years old, a colored housemaid, spent all day Saturday at the police station.

She was locked up at 8 o'clock in the morning. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon she was released when Mrs. Fine found the neckpiece behind the bathtub.

In court this morning the girl asked for time to obtain counsel to prosecute a charge against her employers.

U. S. TO HELP, NOT "RULE," IN HAITI

Washington, Sept. 25.—The mission of the United States in Haiti is one of "co-operation" and not of "imperialism," according to a verbal message sent today to the Haitian people by President Harding, through Leon De Jean, the Haitian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

HEIRESS' NOTE SHOWED PRIDE

Warsaw, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Marion Howard, formerly of Winchester, Mass., who was awarded a $42,500 verdict against Miss Margaret Pierce, twenty-year-old heiress, for alienation of the affections of her husband, based her suit in large part on burning love letters that had passed between the two.

Attorneys for Miss Pierce, who was only sixteen years old when she is alleged to have "vamped" James Howard, who is forty, have asked for a new trial. Arguments will be heard on October 2.

Miss Pierce admitted that Howard is the father of her child, born two years ago. Howard left town about the time of the child's birth, and has neither been seen or heard from since.

WROTE OF STORK

One of the letters from Miss Pierce to Howard, supposed to have been written just after she realized she was to become a mother, follows in part:

"Am sending a picture of the place where I am staying. The picture is not a good one, for really it's prettier here than the picture shows it to be. Please don't ever tell I sent this to you, but I just found it so took it for you. I have been here twelve weeks, Tuesday, the 27th, and have got to stay about thirteen weeks more. Although Mrs. Pender says now she thinks I will be sick before October.

"Mr. P. said one day: 'Margaret, this will be a great lesson to you, and I know you will never yield to any such thing again'. I laughed, of course, but felt like telling him 'no, not till I see Lee again'."

DREAMED OF HIM

"That is so, dear, all the men of the world are far from my mind but you. You, dear, I long for night and day. Only last night I woke up from a dream.

"I thought you were with me and had me in your arms and was kissing me and I could hear you say, 'my dear Mitty,' but you were not there. Oh, God, could you have only been.

"I can't bear to think of you miles away, darling, but wherever you roam you will always have my heart. I will try with all my might to stick it out for three years more, but the minute I am 21 I must come to you wherever you are, if I know. I can't stand it without you. This life is awful.

"I must close now, lover; could write more, but will do it next time. Write me soon, but send it to ——. Have mailed from there, see, so Mrs. B. won't catch on, for she might tell Mr. P.

"Always your loving but mighty lonesome Mitty.

"B. W. M. and M. of H—— and K's."

INJUNCTION ON RAIL MEN PUT INTO EFFECT

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The drastic temporary injunction order asked by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty against absorptive strike leaders was put in force today by Judge James H. Wilkerson without any of its effectiveness being modified.

Several slight changes in the wording of the order submitted Saturday were made by Judge Wilkerson to clarify its meaning.

Donald R. Richberg, defense attorney, attacked "the exercise of an authority which we respectfully urge is not within the power of the court.

"To call this proceeding in its method and result 'due process of law,' to justify the denial of constitutional rights of the defendants by this judicial finding based on ex-parte affidavits," he said, "seems to me to disregard the fundamental principles of our system of laws, as well as to exercise a power specifically denied to the Federal Courts by an act of Congress passed in order to prevent the very deprivation of liberty and property which is here accomplished.

Counsel for the railway shop crafts indicated today that the next step in the shopmen's fight would be a petition to the United States Court of Appeals for a review of Judge Wilkerson's order.

Hearings on the petition of 15,000 signalmen for an increase in wages were opened by the Railroad Labor Board today.

The signalmen's wages were cut July 1 in a decision handed down by the board at the time it slashed the pay of the shopmen, but the signalmen did not join the July 1 walkout. Their strike vote was half in abeyance when they were granted the rehearing set for today.

The July 1 cut in the signalmen's wages ranged from 5 to 7 cents an hour. Forty-two railroads and their subsidiaries are represented at the hearing.

FIRST BIG STRIKE AT AMES PLANT

North Easton, Sept. 25.—Failing to receive any reply, they say, to a written petition filed a week ago asking for the restoration of the wages that prevailed prior to a 12 per cent. cut several months ago, 276 employes of the Ames Shovel and Tool Works walked out on strike early this forenoon and met to consider formation of a union. They have been at work under open shop conditions.

It is said to be the first general strike in the Ames works, one of the most widely known old-time establishments in the district. The committee acting for the men state the response to the walkout order was practically 100 per cent.

MOTHER SAVES BOY FROM JAIL

A mother's plea for her boy saved Patrick Ducy, eighteen years old, of No. 75 Horter street, East Boston, from a long jail term. Ducy was arraigned in the Chelsea Court for misappropriating an automobile owned by the Boston City Fuel Company of East Boston, and for driving without a license. He was fined $25 and given six months probation.

Mrs. Mary Ducy, his mother, testified that Patrick was a good son and always turned in his week's pay. "You can thank your mother that you are not sent to jail for a long term," said the judge.

Ducy said that he had merely borrowed the automobile for a joy ride, follows in part:

"Am sending a picture of the place where I am staying. The picture is not a good one, for really it's prettier here than the picture shows it to be. Please don't ever tell I sent this to you, but I just found it so took it for you. I have been here twelve weeks, Tuesday, the 27th, and have got to stay about thirteen weeks more. Although Mrs. Pender says now she thinks I will be sick before October.

"Mr. P. said one day: 'Margaret, this will be a great lesson to you, and I know you will never yield to any such thing again'. I laughed, of course, but felt like telling him 'no, not till I see Lee again'."

DREAMED OF HIM

"That is so, dear, all the men of the world are far from my mind but you. You, dear, I long for night and day. Only last night I woke up from a dream.

"I thought you were with me and had me in your arms and was kissing me and I could hear you say, 'my dear Mitty,' but you were not there. Oh, God, could you have only been.

"I can't bear to think of you miles away, darling, but wherever you roam you will always have my heart. I will try with all my might to stick it out for three years more, but the minute I am 21 I must come to you wherever you are, if I know. I can't stand it without you. This life is awful.

"I must close now, lover; could write more, but will do it next time. Write me soon, but send it to ——. Have mailed from there, see, so Mrs. B. won't catch on, for she might tell Mr. P.

"Always your loving but mighty lonesome Mitty.

"B. W. M. and M. of H—— and K's."

RUSSIA TO REFUSE JAP LAND DEMAND

Moscow, Sept. 25 (By International News Service).—Soviet Russia, according to the official newspaper Isvestia, will refuse to grant the northern half of Sachalilen Island to Japan "in compensation for the killing of Japanese citizens at Nikolaevsk." The newspaper said that "the United States must be a party to the negotiations under the terms of the Washington conference agreement.

Russia was not a participant in the Washington conference.

GERMANY MAKES BIG PAYMENT TO BELGIUM

Paris, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The German delegation today delivered to the Reparations Commission notes for approximately 90,000,000 gold marks in payment of the August and September allotments due to Belgium. The payments due aggregate 100,000,000 gold marks, but there are credits for merchandise, previously delivered, which will serve to supplement the present transfer.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK PROCLAIMED

Governor Cox today proclaimed October 2 to 9, inclusive, as Fire Prevention Week. The purpose is to call attention to the tremendous waste caused by fires. The proclamation says there has been a steady increase in fire loss in the State, and particularly calls attention to the need of preventing forest fires.

Tuesday at 9 A. M.—

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Including heavy SILK crepes jerseys and others at $1.95—COME!

Yes! plenty of MEN'S good SILK and other SHIRTS

Fine stripes, plain colors, collars attached or neckband style. Sizes 14 to 16½ in lot.

SECONDS but see the SAVINGS!

$1.95 9 A. M. Tuesday

SILK jersey shirts
SILK crepe shirts
fine tub SILK shirts
broad cloths, (mercerized cottons)

For all the people!

One day we buy the retail stock of an Italian department store, another day we buy the retail stock from one of the finest 5th Avenue, N. Y. specialty shops—think it over. Here is a savings store for all the people all the time.

First prices must be low or we lose, in accordance with our automatic reduction plan, ¼ after 12 selling days, ½ after 18 selling days, ¾ after 24 selling days, goods given away after 30 selling days.

HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAIN LOTS—NO MAIL ORDERS FILLED

FITCHBURG ELOPERS ARE CAUGHT AS THE WOMAN REPENTS

HER LETTER LEADS TO ARREST

Back From Baltimore They Are Coming; She Begs Forgiveness

Fitchburg, Sept. 25.—The fickleness of a repentant woman has landed Alfred Chambers, thirty-four, and father of five, in jail at Baltimore, Md.

And with him is Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, who, tired of the man for whom she spurned her husband and baby daughter, wrote for forgiveness.

This letter caused their arrest and will eventually result in Chambers being brought back to this city to face charges of deserting his wife and leaving destitute his children.

HAD MANY CONQUESTS.

The "romantic roofer" and his "soul mate" fled Fitchburg in Chambers' flivver the night of August 27 after weeks of clandestine tete-a-totes along the country roads round the city.

The elopement was the crowning achievement of the dapper, debonair "Al" Chambers.

In fact, the "romantic roofer" is reported to have had many conquests in Fitchburg. And many are the women who fear his latest escapade will drag their fair names into the mire of the divorce courts.

And, according to his wife, Chambers had few aims in life other than the continual quest of new loves.

"Al has not been any goo dto me," said Mrs. May Chambers, who, although twenty-six, shows plainly the effects of nine years of married life with the "romantic roofer."

"He never did anything for me or the little ones. He never had any interest in his children or his home. He preferred to sport around with other women. He would rather spend all his money on some fast woman than to do anything for me or the children.

"That man certainly had enough love affairs. I do not know how many different women he had flirtations with, but there was a number."

ALWAYS A POVERTY PLEA.

"He never did anything for me or the little ones. He never had any interest in his children or his home. He preferred to sport around with other women. He would rather spend all his money on some fast woman than to do anything for me or the children.

"That man certainly had enough love affairs. I do not know how many different women he had flirtations with, but there was a number.

"He never bought the kiddies any candy. If I asked him for any money for little things for the youngsters, he would plead poverty and then go

Procuring Profitable Employment

Boston concerns are as eager to find willing, capable workers as you may be to secure congenial employment. Your problem is to find that vacancy which you are best fitted to fill—and the purpose of this ad is to offer you the problem's solution.

There are two helps at hand which will put you in touch with the right opportunity.

One is the "Help Wanted" columns of The American. The other is the "Situation Wanted" classification, where, with an ad of your own, you can tell these employers what you have to offer.

In following the latter course, don't be afraid to say what you can do best. Then, when the ad is ready, leave it with

Boston American
Boston's Want Ad Directory
80 Summer Street

DEATH THREAT FOR HER 3 CHILDREN

Photo by Bachrach
MRS. BAYARD WARREN

Bay State Airplane 'Stowaway' Dies in Crash

New York, Sept. 25.—Investigation of the airplane crash at Mitchell Field, Garden City, L. I., in which six men were killed, was to be began today by a board of inquiry headed by Major Davenport Johnson of the army air service.

That one of the men, Private Irving M. Whitney of Ashburnham, Mass., was a stowaway, was learned today. He slipped into the big Martin bomber unobserved. His presence aboard was not known until after the crash.

right out and spend dollars on some sweetheart of his.

"We have five children. The oldest is only seven and our youngest is only nine months old."

Arthur O. Miller isn't saying what he will do as regards his wife, but his action in turning her letter over to Chief of Police Thomas J. Godley is taken as an indication he will not forgive.

Baby Miller, their little daughter, was asked, "Do you want your mama back?"

"No," replied the child.

"Yes. Chambers will be brought back here," said Chief Godley. "I will wait to see if the Baltimore authorities want to sentence them before I act.

"As for the woman—well, I do not know just what will be done in her case. We may bring her back and we may not."

NECK BROKEN TWO TIMES, LIVES

By Universal Service.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Charles Stockwell, an express messenger of Niagara Falls, N. Y., is recovering after having his neck broken in two places.

Stockwell was injured when the "Million Dollar Express" on the Michigan Central was wrecked near Gary, Ind., Aug. 20. Dr. N. C. Holmblad, surgeon for the American Express Company, by which Stockwell was employed, made an X-ray of the patient's neck. It disclosed fractures of the sixth and seventh cervicle of the vertebrae.

POLICE AT MERRY PARTY; 4 ARRESTS

News that a wedding at No. 409 Massachusetts avenue might turn into a funeral brought Patrolmen Yates and Banks of the East Dedham street to the scene. There was no sign of a minister, bride or bridegroom. The neighbors evidently had been misinformed as to the nature of the celebration. But the police were needed.

In the melee that followed Patrolmen Yates and Banks both received and inflicted injuries. Later Hazel Smith, alias Williams; Allen Joyce, Roger Goodale and J. Lowrie were in court. Hazel was charged with being drunk and the rat with assault and battery. The cases were continued.

DAVIS BLAMES 'AGITATOR' FOR LABOR STRIFE

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 25.—Declaring that strife and bloodshed in the nation's industrial life have reached the proportions of a "disgrace to our whole civilization," Secretary of Labor Davis called upon labor leaders in an address here today to help restore industrial relations to an orderly basis.

The "ultra-red radical" was blamed by the secretary for much of the violence in clashes between labor and capital. For its own preservation, he said, organized labor must put a stop to the activities of "agitators" and their campaign of "riot, arson and murder."

Mr. Davis' address was delivered at the annual convention of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America.

"I know that whenever men clash in industrial strife," he continued, "there always is present the agitator, the ultra-red radical whose purpose in life is the destruction of all organized society and whose whole philosophy is violence and bloodshed."

CAMBRIDGE MAN DIES IN AMBULANCE

Manuel Rogers, 50 years old, of No. 75 Winter street, Cambridge, died today while being taken to a hospital in the police ambulance. The police had answered a telephone call saying that a man was seriously ill. Rogers is survived by his wife and seven children. An autopsy will be performed by the medical examiner to determine the cause of the sudden death. The police believe that he was a victim of wood alcohol. The body is in the Litchfield Morgue.

Over the Wire

Steubenville, O.—Five bandits held up the First National Bank at Hopedale, Harrison County, and fatally wounded George Whittaker, cashier. The bandits escaped without obtaining any money.

Albany, N. Y.—Governor Nathan L. Miller announced today that he would accept a renomination for governor provided his associates on the State ticket entertain the same idea about the State government as he does. "If I am nominated I head such a ticket I will accept" he declared.

Washington—An informal conversation relative to recent efforts of the United States to extend its jurisdiction beyond the three-mile limit in the enforcement of the national prohibition act, is understood to have taken place today during a short conference at the White House between President Harding and Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador.

New York—Garnet Andrews, president of the Richmond Hosiery Mills Company, today asked the police to send out a general alarm for his son, Garnet, Jr., aged 17, who he said had disappeared from a Virginia military academy following expulsion for hazing.

Portland.—Shopmen of the Maine Central railroad and Portland Terminal Company, who have been on strike since July, adopted a resolution not to return to work until they are ordered by the officers of System Federation No. 80.

WARREN PAYS $20 TO SAVE CHILDREN

A drink-crazed fisherman who haunted the deserted cottages on Misery Island, ten miles off Beverly Farms, stumbled on a picnic party of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Warren of Pride's Crossing and their three children and robbed them of $20 after bluffing the millionaire that an accomplice with a rifle was concealed in the bushes nearby.

He was later arrested by the Salem police as he lay asleep in the tiny cabin of his catboat, anchored to the lee of the lonely island, where the robbery of Warren had taken place. At the Salem police station, where he was booked for robbery, he gave his name as Charles Alander, thirty-five years old, of Foster's Walk Beverly.

In the Salem Court today he was charged with larceny of $20 from Bayard Warren, was found guilty and ordered committed to the Concord Reformatory.

When asked by the court to explain his demand of $15 ransom from Warren, Alander said that somebody had stolen the rigging from his catboat and he wanted the money to buy new rigging.

Mrs. Warren, who was formerly Elizabeth Sears, daughter of the millionaire, Herbert Sears, of Commonwealth avenue, went to the island in the morning with Warren and their three children. They were seated on the sand eating lunch when Alander appeared.

Alander is said by the police to have been eking out a rather scanty living by means of his nets, occupying abandoned cottages and living on the island as a sort of hermit-fisherman.

Advancing toward Warren with shaky steps, he announced:

"I want some money. You better give it to me, because there's a man over behind those bushes with a rifle. He's got you covered, and if you don't come across, he'll shoot the kids."

MILLIONAIRE GIVES $20.

Warren glanced about. The bushes, thick and impenetrable, were close at hand. The stranger might be bluffing. But he might be telling the truth. Warren looked at the three happy children, David, Jr., Billy and Cammie. Then he looked at Mrs. Warren. He decided to risk nothing.

Reaching into his pocket, he extracted two ten dollar bills from a big roll and handed them to Alander.

As soon as Alander disappeared over a sand dune the Warrens made for their power boat and set out for shore. On landing, they told Chief Sullivan of the Manchester police what happened. Chief Sullivan notified the Salem authorities, in whose district Misery Island lies, and Captain John Carr was sent out with a squad of men.

FIND HIM ASLEEP.

The officers found Alander asleep in his boat, the atmosphere of the little cabin redolent of cheap whiskey. In his pocket were two ten dollar bills, and on his face was a smile of serene content.

Alander said he had been so intoxicated on the afternoon of the picnic that he could not remember just what he had done. He was held for the Salem Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren are among the best known members of Boston's social set. Their marriage united two extremely large fortunes, and they spend a great part of their time at their big estate in Pride's Crossing.

SEN. WALSH OFF TO STUMP THE WEST

Washington, Sept. 25.—The political campaign opens "with the trend unmistakably toward the Democratic Party," Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said today upon leaving for a long cross-continnt trip devoted to speech-making and political conferences.

"Whether the Republicans can counteract the present movement remains to be seen," he said. "They may to some extent, but the primary elections show that the attitude of the people now is one of protest against the conditions developd by the present administration."

In the senatorial campaign, Senator Walsh said the brightest Democratic prospects seemed to be in New York and New Jersey.

As a Sculptor Flapper Makes a Fine Trench Digger

SHE SLINGS A MEAN HUNK O' MUD.

I leave it to the readers. Is this such a bad interpretation of "Intelligence?" Henri said it made him sick, but I think he's jealous.

FIANCEE OF KAISER AIDS INJURED

Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Princess Hermine von Schoenaich-Carolath of Reuss, who is to marry the ex-Kaiser early in November, acted as both hostess and nurse when two men were injured in an airplane wreck near the Princess' castle at Saebern, Silesia.

The airplane turned turtle, crashing to earth in a field not far from the imposing Reuss castle. Of the four occupants, two escaped injury. All were taken into the castle.

In the airplane were Ludwig Hasenpflug, a former captain in the German army; William Strunk, a famous Austrian aviator, who piloted Enver Pasha from Kovno to Moscow on the same flight, when Enver was captured; Toni Read, famous German war "ace," who was piloting the machine, and the writer.

Captain Hasenpflug and Captain Strunk were caught under the falling plane and hurt. Raab and the writer escaped with only a severe shaking up.

The wreckage lay less than 100 yards from the castle. The noise of the crash aroused the occupants, and servants came running out to see what had happened.

An invitation to the occupants of the smashed machine to enter the castle and partake of its hospitality and care was conveyed from the Princess. Servants assisted the two injured men into the imposing old mansion, where all were cordially received.

The princes appeared and after asking a few questions took charge of the work of caring for the injured.

SETTLING WAR CLAIMS OF $800,000,000

New York, Sept. 25.—Upon the agreement reached by representatives of the German republic and

Robert C. Morris
Photo by International News Service.

Robert C. Morris, prominent New York attorney, one of the claims filed by hundreds of relatives of Americans who lost their lives when the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Mr. Morris has been appointed by President Harding to represent the United States before the Mixed Claims Commission, which will adjudicate claims of more than $800,000,000 for losses incurred by Americans at the hands of German raiders during the war.

WOMAN KILLS SELF; CHILD SAVES BABY

Passaic, N. J., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Gertrude Provisor's plan to end her own life and that of her two months old daughter was partially frustrated today by an older daughter, five years old who rescued the infant from drowning in a bathtub in which the mother had placed her after cutting her own throat. Mrs. Provisor died.

By THE FLAPPER
(Caryl Frink.)

It was the sculptor's busy day. He was finishing a statue that a committee of Woodmen of America were waiting impatiently to unveil. Nothing is harder on a sculptor than to be rushed at the last minute.

"Why don'tcha put a wart on the nose?" I asked.

"Why don't you keep still?" answered the sculptor.

"What makes you so fresh?" I asked him next.

"My artistic temperament," he answered. "How'd you get in here?"

SUGGESTS WART.

"The door was open. Why don'tcha put a wart on the nose?"

"Because this is a serious work of art. It must be perfect," answered the sculptor.

"I didn't know art was ever perfect," I said. "That's why I suggested the wart. I'd keep quiet if you'd give me some wet clay to play with."

"All right, all right," screamed the artist, throwing his tam-o'-shanter out the window. "Here's a barrel full of clay. Now will you shut up?"

"Sure," I said. "But what'll I make? You'll hafta give me a subject."

"Intelligence," suggested the sculptor. "Do a head and call it 'Intelligence.'"

So I set to work and for almost an hour nothing could be heard but the splashing of clay. In fact everything was so quiet that at the end of the hour I felt I'd hafta scream. So I did.

"Whassamatter, whassamatter?" cried Henri, clutching his ears.

CALLS IT TEMPERAMENT.

"It's my artistic temperament," I told him. "How do you like it?"

"You do it again and out you go, see?"

"I mean my art work," I said. "How'd you like it?"

Henri came over and studied my lump of clay with half-closed eyes.

"Terrible!" he cried. "It makes me sick to look at it."

"All right," I said, "I'll study under a teacher who does appreciate my talents."

And I took off my smock and started for the door.

"At that," I said, at the door, "I'd put a wart on the nose if I were you."

Henri threw a wad of clay at me but I ducked it.

"JAKE" STAHL IS BURIED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 25. Garland J. (Jake") Stahl, banker-athlete, who died last week near Los Angeles of heart failure, was buried this afternoon. Funeral services were conducted by Dr. Hert P. Moore, president of Lake Forest University. Stahl's body arrived yesterday from the Pacific coast.

SEEK 2 ARMED MEN AS SLAYERS OF RECTOR

By International News Service.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 25.—Somerset County detectives investigating the double murder of the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant-Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. James Mills, today are searching for two armed Italians who were in this city acting in a mysterious manner, just before the crime was committed.

The two Italians were seen near the Mills home on Carmen street on the evening of September 16, a few hours before the clergyman and Mrs. Mills were shot to death on the Phillips Farm about two miles from town. About 2:30 o'clock the following morning they were seen to take refuge in a boat on the Delaware and Raritan Canal. About six hours later they were seen leaving town in an automobile.

The Italians looked like men of desperate character, and in saloons that they visited they showed revolvers.

One theory is that the men may have been "professional killers," hired to murder the preacher and the choir leader. Another is that they may have committed the crime from robbery.

It is known that the authorities have discovered a new witness who was believed to have been near the scene of the murder at the time it was committed.

Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain rector, was to be questioned this afternoon regarding certain papers that were said to have been taken from Dr. Hall's desk in his private study shortly after his death.

Immediately after the finding of the bodies, it was learned today, a relative of Mrs. Hall entered the clergyman's study and, after ransacking private drawers in a desk removed a number of papers.

Pearl Bahmer, seventeen years old, who with Raymond Schneider, found the bodies, was released today when arraigned before City Recorder Trindell. Schneider was freed Saturday.

GIRL DISAPPEARS ON WEDDING DAY

New York, Sept. 2 —O. the eve of her wedding day Miss Bella Zatetsky dis-

Bella Zatetsky.
Photo by International News Serv.

peared from her home at No. 137 East Tenth street, New York. The girl was preparing her wedding finery and disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed her up. Her mother says that she has met with foul play. The best detectives of the New York force have been unable to find any trace of the girl.

SLAIN BY BLACK HAND AS THRONG LOOKS ON

The long arm of the Black Hand reached out to strike down a victim in plain sight of hundreds of pedestrians in crowded Haymarket square when Salvatore Procopio of the North End was shot to death just after he emerged from a subway station.

Procopio was shot four times—in the head, mouth, neck and heart—and many of the startled witnesses of the encounter were put in danger by the flying bullets.

Two women who stepped out of a limousine close to the victim narrowly escaped being hit. They turned to a policeman, pointed to a man who was walking through the crowd, and said:

"There is the man who did the shooting," and drove away.

Policeman Daukshis of the Hanover Street Police Station captured Joseph Morrello, twenty-three years old, of No. 8 Wall street, North End, after a chase of several blocks. The policeman said that Morello was the man whom the women in the limousine pointed out as Procopio's slayer.

In the victim's pockets were savings bank books and postal deposit certificates totaling more than $2,500. An automatic gun with five discharged cartridges was found by his side.

Haymarket Square was thronged with pedestrians and idlers at the time of the shooting. Procopio was standing near the intersection of Stillman and North Washington streets. Suddenly bystanders saw another man stand up close to him and draw an automatic gun from his pocket. Two shots rang out and Procopio dropped lifeless to the sidewalk the crowd dashed into hallways and doorways for cover.

SEES SHOTS FIRED.

Policeman Daukshis, on duty a block or two away, heard the report of two pistol shots and turned in time to see a man fire two more bullets into the body of Procopio. The murderer then threw the pistol to the ground near the victim and ran.

Daukshis ran up in time to get the information volunteered by the two women in the limousine.

Then he took up the chase after the fleeing man. The man ran down Stillman street to Thacher street. Here the policeman lost sight of his quarry for a moment, but found him again on Bean street. Drawing his own gun as he caught up with the fugitive, Daukshis threatened to fire unless the man stopped. Then he placed him under arrest. Morello denied the shooting, but could give no explanation of why he ran from the policeman.

The murdered man was identified by Leonardo Squillocio, president of one of the North End banks, where Procopio had money on deposit. Mr. Squillocio could not say where the slain man lived, nor could he give any information regarding his affairs.

Morello was arraigned before Judge David A. Lourie in the Municipal Court, and was held until October 9 without bail.

57

Ready to heat and serve

Heinz-made dry spaghetti, cooked in Heinz spotless kitchens according to the recipe of a celebrated Italian chef—with Heinz famous Tomato Sauce and a special cheese with just the right flavor—appetizing, delicious, healthful!

HEINZ Spaghetti

Ready cooked, ready to serve

McNAMEE, PRESIDENT OF THE PRUDENTIAL BANK, IS INDICTED

LOAN FRAUDS AND LARCENY CHARGED BY JURY

Continued from First Page.

at the bank as President McNamee's secretary.

The Prudential is the first of the closed companies to be investigated by the extraordinary Grand Jury. It was closed September 10, 1920, by Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen, with liabilities said to total $2,000,000.

In July, 1921, Charles S. Hill, acting as master for the Supreme Court, made a report scoring William B. Bailey, ex-treasurer of the bank, and charging him with irregularities. He said that Mr. Bailey had "pulled the wool over the eyes of McNamee." He alleged that Mr. Bailey received a bonus of $6,500 for lending money to his friend, Charles E. Baker of Melrose Highlands, who, at the time, was trying to gain control of the Boston Dredging Company.

When Bank Commissioner Allen posted the notice closing the bank, the fourth institution to be closed within six weeks following the sensational bursting of the Ponzi bubble, he explained why he acted.

He said an examination had showed the bank's standing had been impaired by the steady withdrawal of deposits and by bad and slow loans.

Investigation after the closing of the bank showed that the State had $40,000 of its funds on deposit there. It also developed that the Prudential was one of the banks which gave its advertising to State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell and later obtained an increase in State deposits.

COUNSEL NOTIFIED.

Following the announcement of the secret indictments, Assistant Attorney-General Hurwitz said he had notified Samuel Webb, counsel for McNamee, to appear in the Superior Criminal Court for arraignment.

Settlement of the affairs of the Prudential since the closing in 1920, became so involved that the depositors formed a protective association and demanded the removal of Bank Commissioner Allen and an investigation of the methods of Liquidating Agent Hannigan. Governor Cox refused to act in either demand.

In hearing upon the possible action of the special grand jury, which under the direction of Attorney-General Allen investigated the affairs of the Prudential Trust Company, a report filed in the Supreme Court on July 16, 1921, by Charles S. Hill as master in suit by a depositor to establish a trust, contained interesting information as to the management of the bank.

After stating that William B. Bailey was treasurer of the Prudential Trust Company from the time of its incorporation on January 6, 1915, to June 4, 1920, when he resigned and was succeeded by Joseph W. Travi, who held the office of treasurer until September 10, 1920 on which day Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen took possession of the trust company, Mr. Hill said:

"In April, 1920, Travi, who then was assistant treasurer, discovered a serious condition of affairs in the bank. For some time the Boston Dredging Company had been a depositor in, and borrowing customer, of the bank. One Baker was endeavoring to buy the control of this company. Bailey, the treasurer of the Prudential Trust Company was working with Baker to enable Baker to borrow from other banks enough money to finance the purchase. For his services and expenses in this regard Bailey received $6,500 from Baker.

MONEY BORROWED.

"Baker subsequently borrowed $17,000 from the Prudential Trust Company which has never been paid. This loan was by the Prudential Trust Company considered as a Dredging Company loan. The Dredging Company itself was a heavy borrower, in fact, to sums exceeding those allowed by law to one corporation. In April Travi asked Mr. McNamee John H. McNamee, president of the Prudential Trust Company) what he thought the amount of the Dredging Company loan was. Mr. McNamee said about $40,000. Travi told him he was in error and was thereupon directed by Mr. McNamee to make a search and discover just how things stood. Travi then found that, aside from their having heavy loans, the Dredging Company account was overdrawn $34,000.

"In the paying teller's cage, in an envelope treated as cash, were paid checks of the Dredging Company to between $8,000 and $9,000. In the check-teller's cage he found envelopes containing paid checks of the Dredging Company of about $18,000. Later he discovered another lot of paid checks aggregating about $5,500. These checks aggregating about $30,000 were between two and three months old and had never been charged up, though paid, to the Dredging Company account or recorded as over-drafts. They had consistently been treated as so much cash. There was evidence that this had been done under the direction of Bailey, the treasurer."

Today, by interesting coincidence, depositors in the closed Prudential were receiving dividends at the Commonwealth Trust Company.

Banker Indicted

JOHN H. H. McNAMEE.
Former president of Prudential Trust Company named by Attorney-General Allen's special Grand Jury.

BAR MRS. LYDIG FROM MARRIAGE WITH DR. GRANT

New York, Sept. 25.—The canon of the Episcopal church against marriage after divorce, made more drastic at the triennial convention of the church last week, caused much discussion here today in so far as it concerns Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension.

The attack on the canon by Dr. Grant, even before its more drastic amendment, followed the failure of Bishop William T. Manning to sanction the marriage of Dr. Grant and Mrs. Rita De Acosta Stokes Lydig, whose divorce from Major Philip M. Lydig was on the ground of incompatability.

In his attack Dr. Grant and Bishop Manning differed on the authenticity of a part of the text of the new testament.

Dr. Grant and Mrs. Lydig have made no statement on the amendment to the remarriage canon at the Portland convention.

Formerly the canon of the Episcopal church merely forbade clergymen to perform a ceremony where either party had been divorced for a cause other than infidelity. The amendment passed by the House of Deputies of the convention forbids communicants of the church from marrying a divorced person except where the decree was granted on grounds of infidelity.

There is a resolution making excommunication the penalty for violating the law.

THERE WAS WATER IN THE ALCOHOL

Harry Hennessey and Joseph Murray of the Back Bay were invited to have a little drink at a house at No. 97 St. Stephens street.

There they met Harry and Joe.

Then they discovered that the alcohol had been watered, according to their story. They complained to their host about the undue amount of water and the party at once became rough.

When the police arrived one of the pair was bathing the other's eye, and the host had flown out of a rear window.

Today Harry and Joe were fined $10 each in the Roxbury Court on a charge of drunkenness. A charge of wanton injury to personal property was dropped.

TODAY

Continued from First Page.

together. Try it. New born babies have no teeth.

Babies say "Mama" all over the world, very early, as W. J. Bryan may learn from Darwin, because that is a sound uttered naturally by an infant in search of its lunch. Later the child thinks the word means mother, but it really means "Lunch."

Government experts say coal will be very scarce, and tell you to economize and buy British coal. That helps to keep prices up.

Henry Ford says, "Coal prices are breaking. There is plenty of coal. Use as little as possible and that will bring the price down."

Take your choice. The moral, in any case, seems to be, use little coal.

All educators are discussing the statement by President Hopkins of Dartmouth that too many men go to college. He—Hopkins—says college education should be reserved for men worthy of it, for material worth educating for a "brain aristocracy."

Is it not a fact that mediocrity more than genius needs training and educating? Is not the most important task of civilization the raising of our low mental AVERAGE?

Exceptional ability will do fairly well without college training, for, as Jaures said: "When you teach a child to read easily, you open all knowledge to that child."

How many people realize what the coal strike means?

The coal miners increased their wages by $6 cents a ton. To cut off that 50 cents, or part of it, every effort was made. There were lockouts, trials for treason, injunctions, bloody strikes, one labor massacre.

All on account of FIFTY CENTS PER TON in the labor cost of coal. At the same time, while labor increased its charge 50 cents, the owners of coal lying in the ground increased their price SIX DOLLARS a ton.

No fuss is made about THAT. No injunctions against mine owners' charges, no massacres, no strike by the public.

That is the difference between labor and capital. And the difference exists because capital is intelligent and the public is dull.

FOUR IN ALIENATION SUIT

WINS HEART BALM
Mrs. Marion Howard, formerly of Winchester, who was awarded $42,500 in her alienation suit against Miss Margaret E. Pierce, the heiress on whose farm her husband worked.

LOVED BY HEIRESS.
James O. Howard, the former Winchester man, by whom Miss Margaret Pierce, the New York State heiress, admitted she had a child.

HEIRESS, ACCUSER.
Above is Margaret Pierce, whose love for her farm superintendent netted his wife $2,500. Below Mrs. Marina Howard, mother of the employee the heiress "vamped," whose accusations aided materially in swaying the jury.

GANG TRAPS BUSINESS MEN

Continued From First Page.

men, some of whom are believed to be prominent in Boston business houses, have been playing the races and losing heavily at the Park square pool room.

These men have covered their identity, according to the police, by using women's names instead of their own. One of the men is known as "Grace," another as "Peggy," another as "Maude." The police are trying to learn the real names of these men.

Police believe there may be several more startling disclosures before the investigation of the workings of the gang of crooked gamblers is completed. Many of the men who used women's names in their dealings with the poolroof are believed to be employes of various Boston business houses. The losses of several are known to have run into the thousands.

QUESTIONS FOR POLICE.

Where these men secured the money which they are said to have poured into the coffers of the gamblers is a question the inspectors working on the case are anxious to have answered.

Whether or not other young men in Boston have been dipping into the moneybags of their employers in order to play the races and games at the Park square poolroom is another problem they wish to solve. Theses men will be closely questioned when found.

Inspectors John A. Dorsey and Fred Finn of headquarters staff, who arrested Downey, Lane, Finn and a clerk named Harris, are still working on the case.

Their investigation disclosed an instance where Downey was framed for $17,000 winnings, the result of a 12 to 2 shot he chanced. Less than an hour after he had received an instalment of $5,000 on his $17,000 winnings it was swept away in a dice game. The $12,000 owed him by the gamblers was also swept away. Loaded dice were used on this occasion.

Lane and Finn kept in constant communication with young Downey. He spent every lunch hour there. The office of the "Gem Advertising Company" was headquarters for more than a dozen hand book men who were placed in different sections of the city taking bets. Most of the regular gamblers who patronized the place got a run for their money, but suckers like Downey were fleeced without mercy.

Lane, who lives at No. 29 Queensbury street, and who has a long police record as a yegg and pickpocket, now owns two high-priced cars and was blithely motoring through the Fenway when arrested by Dorsey. Finn had been arrested an hour before, at the time that Downey was taken.

Miss Mary Ryan of Malden, the girl who was to have married young Dawney on Wednesday, accompanied by Downey's mother, visited the youth yesterday at Charles street jail, where he is held in bail of $50,000. The sight of both of them was too much for the boy, who broke down and wept.

"Mother! May! Forgive me! I made a mistake."

GIRL, JAILED, IS FREED AS FUR IS FOUND

Charged with larceny of fur necklace from Mrs. David Fine of No. 30 Priscilla road, Chestnut Hill, on September 21, Jane Moore, twenty years old, a colored housemaid, spent all day Saturday at the police station.

She was locked up at 6 o'clock in the morning. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon she was released when Mrs. Fine found the neckpiece behind the bathtub.

In court this morning the girl asked for time to obtain counsel to prosecute a charge against her employers.

U. S. TO HELP, NOT "RULE," IN HAITI

Washington, Sept. 25.—The mission of the United States in Haiti is one of "co-operation" and not of "imperialism," according to a verbal message sent today to the Haitian people by President Harding, through Leon Dn Jean, the Haitian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

INJUNCTION ON RAIL MEN PUT INTO EFFECT

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The drastic temporary injunction order asked by Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty against shopcrafts strike leaders was put in force today by Judge James H. Wilkerson without any of its effectiveness being modified.

Several slight changes in the wording of the order submitted Saturday were made by Judge Wilkerson to clarify its meaning.

Donald R. Richberg, defense attorney, attacked "the exercise of an authority which we respectfully urge is not within the power of the court."

"To call this proceeding in its method and result 'due process of law,' to justify the denial of constitutional rights of the defendants by this judicial finding based on ex-parte affidavits," he said, "seems to me to disregard the fundamental principles of our system of laws, as well as to exercise a power specifically denied to the Federal Courts by an act of Congress passed in order to prevent the very deprivation of liberty and property which is here accomplished.

Counsel for the railway shop crafts indicated today that the next step in the shopmen's fight would be a petition to the United States Court of Appeals for a review of Judge Wilkerson's order.

Hearings on the petition of 15,000 signalmen for an increase in wages were opened by the Railroad Labor Board today.

The signalmen's wages were cut July 1 in a decision handed down by the board at the time it slashed the pay of the shopmen, but the signalmen did not join the July 1 walkout. Their strike vote was held in abeyance when they were granted the rehearing set for today.

The July 1 cut in the signalmen's wages ranged from 5 to 7 cents an hour. Forty-two railroads and their subsidiaries are represented at the hearing.

HEIRESS' NOTE SHOWED PRIDE

Warsaw, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Marion Howard, formerly of Winchester, Mass., who was awarded a $42,500 verdict against Miss Margaret Pierce, twenty-year-old heiress, for alienation of the affections of her husband, based her suit in large part on burning love letters that had passed between the two.

Attorneys for Miss Pierce, who was only sixteen years old when she is alleged to have "vamped" James Howard, who is forty, have asked for a new trial. Arguments will be heard on October 2.

Miss Pierce admitted that Howard is the father of her child, born two years ago. Howard left town about the time of the child's birth, and has neither been seen or heard from since.

WROTE OF STORK

One of the letters from Miss Pierce to Howard, supposed to have been written just after she realized she was to become a mother, follows in part:

"Am sending a picture of the place where I am staying. The picture is not a good one, for really it's prettier here than the picture shows it to be. Please don't ever tell I sent this to you, but I just found it so took it for you. I have been here twelve weeks, Tuesday, the 27th, and have got to stay about thirteen weeks more. Although Mrs. Bender says now she thinks I will be sick before October.

"Mr. P. said one day: 'Margaret, this will be a great lesson to you and I know you will never yield to any such thing again.' I said no, of course, but felt like telling him 'no, not till I see Les again.'"

DREAMED OF HIM

"That is so, dear, all the men of the world are far from my mind but you. You, dear, I long for night and day. Only last night I woke up from a dream.

"I thought you were with me and had me in your arms and was kissing me and I could hear you say, 'my dear Mitty,' but you were not there. Oh, God, could you have only been.

"I can't bear to think of you miles away, darling, but wherever you roam you will always have my heart. I will try with all my might to stick it out for three years more, but the minute I am 21 I must come to you wherever you are, if I know. I can't stand it without you. This life is awful.

"I must close now, lover; could write more, but will do it next time. Write me soon, but send it to ——. Have mailed from there, see, so Mr. P. won't catch on, for she might tell Mr. P.

"Always your loving but mighty lonesome Mitty.

"S. W. M. and M. of H—— and K——."

FIRST BIG STRIKE AT AMES PLANT

North Easton, Sept. 25.—Failing to receive any reply, they say, to a written petition filed a week ago asking for the restoration of the wages that prevailed prior to a 15 per cent. cut several months ago, 276 employes of the Shovel and Tool Works walked out on strike early this forenoon and met to consider formation of a union. They have been at work under open shop conditions.

It is said to be the first general strike in the Ames works, one of the most widely known old-time establishments in the district. The committee acting for the men state the response to the walkout order was practically 100 per cent.

MOTHER SAVES BOY FROM JAIL

A mother's plea for her boy saved Patrick Ducy, eighteen years old, of No. 75 Border street, East Boston, from a long jail term. Ducy was arraigned in the Chelsea Court for misappropriating an automobile owned by the Boston City Fuel Company of East Boston, and for driving without a license. He was fined $25 and given six months probation.

Mrs. Mary Ducy, his mother, testified that Patrick was a good son and always turned in his week's pay. "You can thank your mother that you are not sent to jail for a long term," said the judge.

Ducy said that he had merely borrowed the automobile for a joy ride.

RUSSIA TO REFUSE JAP LAND DEMAND

Moscow, Sept. 25 (By International News Service).—Soviet Russia, according to the official newspaper Isvestia, will refuse to grant the northern half of Saghalien Island to Japan "in compensation for the killing of Japanese citizens at Nikolaevsk." The newspaper said that the United States must be a party to the negotiations under the terms of the Washington conference agreement.

Russia was not a participant in the Washington conference.

GERMANY MAKES BIG PAYMENT TO BELGIUM

Paris, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The German delegation today delivered to the Reparations Commission notes for approximately 90,000,000 gold marks in payment of the August and September allotments due to Belgium. The payments due aggregate 300,000,000 gold marks, but there are credits for merchandise, previously delivered, which will serve to supplement the present transfer.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK PROCLAIMED

Governor Cox today, proclaimed October 2 to 9, inclusive, as Fire Prevention Week. The purpose is to call attention to the tremendous waste caused by fires. The proclamation says there has been a steady increase in fire loss in the State, and particularly calls attention to the need of preventing forest fires.

Tuesday at 9 A. M.—

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Including heavy SILK crepes jerseys and others at $1.95—COME!

Yes! plenty of MEN'S good SILK and other SHIRTS

Fine stripes, plain colors, collars attached or neckband style. Sizes 14 to 16½ in lot.

SECONDS but see the SAVINGS!

$1.95 9 A. M. Tuesday

SILK jersey shirts
SILK crepe shirts
fine tub SILK shirts
broad cloths, (mercerized cottons)

For all the people!

One day we buy the retail stock of an Italian department store, another day we buy the retail stock from one of the finest 5th Avenue, N. Y. specialty shops—think it over. Here in a savings store for all the people all the time.

First prices must be low or we lose, in accordance with our automatic reduction plan, ¼ after 12 selling days, ½ after 18 selling days, ¾ after 24 selling days, goods given away after 30 selling days.

HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAIN LOTS—NO MAIL ORDERS FILLED

FITCHBURG ELOPERS ARE CAUGHT AS THE WOMAN REPENTS

HER LETTER LEADS TO ARREST

Back From Baltimore They Are Coming; She Begs Forgiveness

Fitchburg, Sept. 25.—The fickleness of a repentant woman has landed Alfred Chambers, thirty-four, and father of five, in jail at Baltimore, Md.

And with him is Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, who, tired of the man for whom she spurned her husband and baby daughter, wrote for forgiveness.

This letter caused their arrest and will eventually result in Chambers being brought back to this city to face charges of deserting his wife and leaving destitute his children.

HAD MANY CONQUESTS.

The "romantic roofer" and his "soul mate" fled Fitchburg in Chambers' flivver the night of August 27 after weeks of clandestine tete-a-tetes along the country roads round the city.

The elopement was the crowning achievement of the dapper, debonair "Al" Chambers.

In fact, the "romantic roofer" is reported to have had many conquests in Fitchburg. And many are the women who fear his latest escapade will drag their fair names into the mire of the divorce courts.

And, according to his wife, Chambers had a few aims in life other than the continual quest of new loves.

"Al has never been any goo dto me," said Mrs. May Chambers, who, although twenty-six, shows plainly the effects of nine years of married life with the "romantic roofer."

"He never did anything for me or the little ones. He never had any interest in his children or his home. He preferred to sport around with other women. He would rather spend all his money on some fast woman than to do anything for me or the children.

"That man certainly had enough love affairs. I do not know how many different women he had flirtations with, but there was a number."

And, according to his wife, Chambers had a few aims in life other than the continual quest of new loves.

"Al has not been any goo dto me," said Mrs. May Chambers, who, although twenty-six, shows plainly the effects of nine years of married life with the "romantic roofer."

ALWAYS A POVERTY PLEA.

"He never did anything for me or the little ones. He never had any interest in his children or his home. He preferred to sport around with other women. He would rather spend all his money on some fast woman than to do anything for me or the children.

"That man certainly had enough love affairs. I do not know how many different women he had flirtations with, but there was a number.

"He never bought the kiddies any candy. I asked him for any money for little things for the youngsters, he would plead poverty and then go

Procuring Profitable Employment

Boston concerns are as eager to find willing, capable workers as you may be to secure congenial employment. Your problem is to find that vacancy which you are best fitted to fill—and the purpose of this ad is to offer you the problem's solution.

There are two helps at hand which will put you in touch with the right opportunity.

One is the "Help Wanted" columns of The American. The other is the "Situation Wanted" classification, where, with an ad of your own, you can tell these employers what you have to offer.

In following the latter course, don't be afraid to say what you can do best. Then, when the ad is ready, leave it with

Boston American

Boston's Want Ad Directory

80 Summer Street

DEATH THREAT FOR HER 3 CHILDREN

Photo by Bachrach

MRS. BAYARD WARREN

Bay State Airplane 'Stowaway' Dies in Crash

New York, Sept. 25.—Investigation of the airplane crash at Mitchell Field, Garden City, L. I., in which six men were killed, was to be began today by a board of inquiry headed by Major Davenport Johnson of the army air service.

That one of the men, Private Irving M. Whitney of Ashburnham, Mass., was a stowaway, was learned today. He slipped into the big Martin bomber unobserved. His presence aboard was not known until after the crash.

right out and spend dollars on some sweetheart of his.

"We have five children. The oldest is only seven and our youngest is only nine months old."

Arthur O. Miller isn't saying what he will do as regards his wife, but his action in turning her letter over to Chief of Police Thomas J. Godley is taken as an indication he will not forgive.

Baby Miller, their little daughter, was asked, "Do you want your mama back?"

"No," replied the child.

"Yes, Chambers will be brought back here," said Chief Godley. "I will wait to see if the Baltimore authorities want to sentence them before I act.

"As for the woman—well, I do not know just what will be done in her case. We may bring her back and we may not."

NECK BROKEN TWO TIMES, LIVES

By Universal Service.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Charles Stockwell, an express messenger of Niagara Falls, N. Y., is recovering after having his neck broken in two places.

Stockwell was injured when the "Million Dollar Express" on the Michigan Central was wrecked near Gary, Ind., Aug. 26. Dr. N. C. Holmblad, surgeon for the American Express Company, by which Stockwell was employed, made an X-ray of the patient's neck. It disclosed fractures of the sixth and seventh cervicle of the vertebrae.

POLICE AT MERRY PARTY; 4 ARRESTS

News that a wedding at No. 406 Massachusetts avenue might turn into a funeral brought Patrolmen Yates and Banks of the East Dedham street to the scene. There was no sign of a minister, bride or bridegroom. The neighbors evidently had been misinformed as to the nature of the celebration. But the police were needed.

In the melee that followed Patrolmen Yates and Banks both received and inflicted injuries. Later Hazel Smith, alias Williams; Allen Joyce, Roger Goodale and J. Lowrie were in court. Hazel was charged with being drunk and the rat with assault and battery. The cases were continued.

DAVIS BLAMES 'AGITATOR' FOR LABOR STRIFE

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 25.—Declaring that strife and bloodshed in the nation's industrial life have reached the proportions of a "disgrace to our whole civilization," Secretary of Labor Davis called upon labor leaders in an address here today to help restore industrial relations to an orderly basis.

The "ultra-red radical" was blamed by the secretary for much of the violence in clashes between labor and capital. For its own preservation, he said, organized labor must put a stop to the activities of "agitators" and their campaign of "riot, arson and murder."

Mr. Davis' address was delivered at the annual convention of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America.

"I know that whenever men clash in industrial strife," he continued, "there always is present the agitator, the ultra-red radical whose purpose in life is the destruction of all organized society and whose whole philosophy is violence and bloodshed."

CAMBRIDGE MAN DIES IN AMBULANCE

Manuel Rogers, 50 years old, of No. 75 Winter street, Cambridge, died today while being taken to a hospital in the police ambulance. The police had answered a telephone call saying that a man was seriously ill. Rogers is survived by his wife and seven children. An autopsy will be performed by the medical examiner to determine the cause of the sudden death. The police believe that he was a victim of wood alcohol. The body is in the Litchfield Morgue.

Over the Wire

Steubenville, O.—Five bandits held up the First National Bank at Hopedale, Harrison County, and fatally wounded George Whittaker, cashier. The bandits escaped without obtaining any money.

Albany, N. Y.—Governor Nathan L. Miller announced today that he would accept a renomination for Governor provided his associates on the State ticket entertain the same ideas about the State government as he does. "If I am nominated to head such a ticket I will accept," he declared.

Washington—An informal conversation relative to recent efforts of the United States to extend its jurisdiction beyond the three-mile limit in the enforcement of the national prohibition act, is understood to have taken place today during a short conference at the White House between President Harding and Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador.

New York.—Garnet Andrews, president of the Richmond Hosiery Mills Company, today asked the police to send out a general alarm for his son, Garnet, Jr., aged 17, who he said had disappeared from a Virginia military academy following expulsion for hazing.

Portland.—Shopmen of the Maine Central railroad and Portland Terminal Company, who have been on strike since July, adopted a resolution not to return to work until they are ordered by the officers of System Federation No. 40.

WARREN PAYS $20 TO SAVE CHILDREN

A drink-crazed fisherman who haunted the deserted cottages on Misery Island, ten miles off Beverly Farms, stumbled on a picnic party of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Warren of Pride's Crossing and their three children and robbed them of $20 after bluffing the millionaire that an accomplice with a rifle was concealed in the bushes nearby.

He was later arrested by the Salem police as he lay asleep in the tiny cabin of his catboat, anchored in the lee of the lonely island, where the robbery of Warren had taken place. At the Salem police station, where he was booked for robbery, he gave his name as Charles Alander, thirty-five years old, of Foster's Walk Beverly.

In the Salem Court today he was charged with larceny of $20 from Bayard Warren, was found guilty and ordered committed to the Concord Reformatory.

When asked by the court to explain his demand of $15 ransom from Warren, Alander said that somebody had stolen the rigging from his catboat and he wanted the money to buy new rigging.

Mrs. Warren, who was formerly Elizabeth Sears, daughter of the millionaire, Herbert Sears, of Commonwealth avenue, went to the island in the morning with Warren and their three children. They were seated on the sand eating lunch when Alander appeared.

Alander is said by the police to have been eking out a rather scanty living by means of his nets, occupying abandoned cottages and living on the island as a sort of hermit-fisherman.

Advancing toward Warren with shaky steps, he announced:

"I want some money. You better give it to me, because there's a man over behind those bushes with a rifle. He's got you covered, and if you don't come across, he'll shoot the kids."

MILLIONAIRE GIVES $20.

Warren glanced about. The bushes, thick and impenetrable, were close at hand. The stranger might be bluffing. But he might be telling the truth. Warren looked at his three happy youngsters, Bayard, Jr., Billy and Cammie. Then he looked at Mrs. Warren. He decided to risk nothing.

Reaching into his pocket, he extracted two ten dollar bills from a big roll and handed them to Alander.

As soon as Alander disappeared over a sand dune the Warrens made for their power boat and set out for shore. On landing, they told Chief Sullivan of the Manchester police what happened. Chief Sullivan notified the Salem authorities, in whose district Misery Island lies, and Captain John Carr was sent out with a squad of men.

FIND HIM ASLEEP.

The officers found Alander asleep in his boat, the atmosphere of the little cabin redolent of cheap whiskey. In his pocket were two ten dollar bills, and on his face was a smile of serene content.

Alander said he had been so intoxicated on the afternoon of the picnic that he could not remember just what he had done. He was held for the Salem Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren are among the best known members of Boston's social set. Their marriage united two extremely large fortunes and they spend a great part of their time at their big estate in Pride's Crossing.

SEN. WALSH OFF TO STUMP THE WEST

Washington, Sept. 25.—The political campaign opens "with the trend unmistakably toward the Democratic party," Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said today upon leaving for a long cross-continent trip devoted to speech-making and political conferences.

"Whether the Republicans can counteract the present movement remains to be seen," he said. "They may to some extent, but the primary elections show that the attitude of the people now is one of protest against the conditions developed by the present administration."

In the senatorial campaign, Senator Walsh said the brightest Democratic prospects seemed to be in New York and New Jersey.

As a Sculptor Flapper Makes a Fine Trench Digger

SHE SLINGS A MEAN HUNK O' MUD.

I leave it to the rosiers. Is this such a bad interpretation of "intelligence?" Henri said it made him sick, but I think he's jealous.

FIANCEE OF KAISER AIDS INJURED

Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Princess Hermine von Schoenaich-Carolath of Reuss, who is to marry the ex-Kaiser early in November, acted as both hostess and nurse when two men were injured in an airplane wreck near the Princess' castle at Saxborn, Silesia.

The airplane turned turtle, crashing to earth in a field not far from the imposing Reuss castle. Of the four occupants, two escaped injury. All were taken into the castle.

In the airplane were Ludwig Hassenpflug, a former captain in the German army; William Strunk, a famous Austrian aviator, who piloted Enver Pasha from Kovno to Moscow on the same flight, when Enver was captured; Toni Raab, famous German war "ace," who was piloting the machine, and the writer.

Captain Hasenpflug and Captain Strunk were caught under the falling plane and hurt. Raab and the writer escaped with only a severe shaking up.

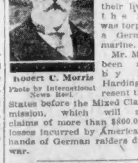
The wreckage lay less than 100 yards from the castle. The noise of the crash aroused the occupants, and servants came running out to see what had happened.

An invitation to the occupants of the smashed machine to enter the castle and partake of its hospitality and cure was conveyed from the Princess. Servants assisted the two injured men into the imposing old mansion, where all were cordially received.

The princes appeared and after asking a few questions took charge of the work of caring for the injured.

SETTLING WAR CLAIMS OF $800,000,000

New York, Sept. 25.—Upon the agreement reached by representatives of the German republic and Robert C. Morris, prominent New York attorney, rest the claims filed by hundreds of Americans who lost their lives when the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine.



Robert C. Morris

Photo by International News Reel.

Mr. Morris has been appointed by President Harding to represent the United States before the Mixed Claims Commission, which will adjudicate claims of more than $800,000,000 for losses incurred by Americans at the hands of German raiders during the war.

WOMAN KILLS SELF; CHILD SAVES BABY

Passaic, N. J., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Gertrude Provisor's plan to end her own life and that of her two months old daughter was partially frustrated today by an older daughter, five years old who rescued the infant from drowning in a bathtub in which the mother had placed her after cutting her own throat. Mrs. Provisor died.

By THE FLAPPER
(Caryl Frink.)

It was the sculptor's busy day. He was finishing a statue that a committee of Woodmen of America were waiting impatiently to unveil. Nothing is harder on a sculptor than to be rushed at the last minute.

"Why don'tcha put a wart on the nose?" I asked.

"Why don't you keep still?" answered the sculptor.

"What makes you so fresh?" I asked him next.

"My artistic temperament," he answered. "How'd you get in here?"

SUGGESTS WART.

"The door was open. Why don'tcha put a wart on the nose?"

"Because this is a serious work of art. It must be perfect," answered the sculptor.

"I didn't know art was ever perfect," I said. "That's why I suggested the wart. I'd keep quiet if you'd give me some wet clay to play with."

"All right, all right," screamed the artist, throwing his tam-o'-shanter out the window. "Here's a barrel full of clay. Now will you shut up?"

"Sure," I said. "But what'll I make? You'll hafta give me a subject."

"Intelligence," suggested the sculptor. "Do a head and call it 'Intelligence.'"

So I set to work and for almost an hour nothing could be heard but the splashing of clay. In fact everything was so quiet that at the end of the hour I felt I'd hafta scream. So I did. "Whassamatter, whassamatter?" cried Henri, clutching his ears.

CALLS IT TEMPERAMENT.

"It's my artistic temperament," I told him. "How do you like it?"

"You do it again and out you go, see?"

"I mean my art work," I said. "How'd you like it?"

Henri came over and studied my lump of clay with half-closed eyes.

"Terrible!" he cried. "It makes me sick to look at it."

"All right," I said. "I'll study under a teacher who does appreciate my talents."

And I took off my smock and started for the door.

"At that," I said, at the door, "I'd put a wart on the nose if I were you."

Henri threw a wad of clay at me but I ducked it.

"JAKE" STAHL IS BURIED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 25. Garland J. ("Jake") Stahl, banker-athlete, who died last week near Los Angeles of heart failure, was buried this afternoon. Funeral services were conducted by Dr. Hert P. Moore, president of Lake Forest University. Stahl's body arrived yesterday from the Pacific coast.

SEEK 2 ARMED MEN AS SLAYERS OF RECTOR

By International News Service.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 25.—Somerset County detectives investigating the double murder of the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant-Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. James Mills, today are searching for two armed Italians who were in this city acting in a mysterious manner, just before the crime was committed.

The two Italians were seen near the Mills home on Carmen street on the evening of September 14, a few hours before the clergyman and Mrs. Mills were shot to death on the Phillips Farm about two miles from town. About 2:30 o'clock the following morning they were seen to take refuge in a boat on the Delaware and Raritan Canal. About six hours later they were seen leaving town in an automobile.

The Italians looked like men of desperate character, and in saloons that they visited they showed revolvers.

One theory is that the men may have been "professional killers," hired to murder the preacher and the choir leader. Another is that they may have committed the crime from robbery.

It is known that the authorities have discovered a new witness who was believed to have been near the scene of the murder at the time it was committed.

Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain rector, was to be questioned this afternoon regarding certain papers that were said to have been taken from Dr. Hall's desk in his private study shortly after his death.

Immediately after the finding of the bodies, it was learned today, a relative of Mrs. Hall entered the clergyman's study and, after ransacking private drawers in a desk, removed a number of papers.

Pearl Bahmer, seventeen years old, who with Raymond Schneider, found the bodies, was released today when arraigned before City Recorder Trindell. Schneider was freed Saturday.

GIRL DISAPPEARS ON WEDDING DAY

New York, Sept. 2 —O. the eve of her wedding day Miss Bella Zatelsky disappeared from her home at No. 437 East Tenth street, New York. The girl was preparing her wedding finery and expected completely as if she had vanished her mother was not even has met with foul play. The best detectives of the New York force have been unable to find any trace of the girl.

Bella Zatelsky.

Photo by International News Reel.

SLAIN BY BLACK HAND AS THRONG LOOKS ON

The long arm of the Black Hand reached out to strike down a victim in plain sight of hundreds of pedestrians in crowded Haymarket square when Salvatore Procopio of the North End was shot to death just after he emerged from a subway station.

Procopio was shot four times—in the head, mouth, neck and heart—and many of the startled witnesses of the encounter were put in danger by the flying bullets.

Two women who stepped out of a limousine close to the victim narrowly escaped being hit. They turned to a policeman, pointed to a man who was walking through the crowd, and said:

"There is the man who did the shooting," and drove away.

Policeman Daukshis of the Hanover Street Police Station captured Joseph Morrello, twenty-three years old, of No. 8 Wall street, North End, after a chase of several blocks. The policeman said that Morello was the man whom the women in the limousine pointed out as Procopio's slayer.

In the victim's pockets were savings bank books and postal deposit certificates totaling more than $2,500. An automatic gun with five discharged cartridges was found by his side.

Haymarket Square was thronged with pedestrians and others at the time of the shooting. Procopio was standing near the intersection of Stillman and North Washington streets. Suddenly bystanders saw another man stand up close to him and draw an automatic gun from his pocket. Two shots rang out and Procopio dropped. Prone to the sidewalk the crowd dashed into hallways and doorways for cover.

SEES SHOTS FIRED.

Policeman Daukshis, on duty a block or two away, heard the report of two pistol shots and turned in time to see a man fire two more shots into the body of Procopio. The murderer then threw the pistol to the ground near his victim and ran.

Daukshis ran up in time to get the information volunteered by the two women in the limousine.

Then he took up the chase after the fleeing man. The man ran down Stillman street to Thatcher street. Here the policeman lost sight of his quarry for a moment, but found him again on Lynn street. Drawing his own gun as he caught up with the fugitive, Daukshis ordered him to halt, unless the man stopped. Then he placed him under arrest. Morello denied the shooting, but could give no explanation of why he ran from the policeman.

The murdered man was identified by Leonardo Squillicotio, president of one of the North End banks, where Procopio had money on deposit. Mr. Squillicotio could not say where the slain man lived, nor could he give any information regarding his affairs.

Morello was arraigned before Judge David A. Lourie in the Municipal Court, and was held until October 6 without bail.

57

Ready to heat and serve

Heinz-made dry spaghetti, cooked in Heinz spotless kitchens according to the recipe of a celebrated Italian chef—with Heinz famous Tomato Sauce and a special cheese with just the right flavor—appetizing, delicious, healthful!

HEINZ Spaghetti

Ready cooked, ready to serve

"WE WON'T." CRY WOMEN REBELLING AGAINST LONG SKIRTS

300 CLUB MEMBERS PROTEST

Headed by Mrs. Palmer, Rainy Day Club Leader, They Plan to Fight Present Fashion

By Universal Service.

New York, Sept. 25.—Fashion may decree that skirts are to be long but 300 club women of New York have shaken their heads over the edict and cried vehemently and in unison:

"We won't."

This band of fashion rebels is led by a pioneer, Mrs. A. M. Palmer, president of the Rainy Day Club.

For twenty-six years Mrs. Palmer has fought for the short skirt. She has been scoffed and stoned in behalf of it and now she does not propose to sit down and calmly let the clothesline be the only place where girls' stockings may be seen.

Mrs. Palmer is dignified, with a gracious manner and white hair, but she is ready to put up another fight against fickle fashion.

"WE WON'T," THEY CRY.

It was recently at a luncheon to stimulate interest in a safety campaign that she banged to her feet and told the 200 women there that they were endangered by the attempt to make them wear long skirts. She begged them not to follow the present fashion and they shouted:

"We won't!"

"We do not care how long skirts are worn within the house or in the ballroom," she continued today. "But we cannot permit the long skirts again on the streets.

"No skirt for street wear should be longer than seven inches above the floor. There should be no pendulary that extends longer than that.

"I know all the dangers of the long skirt and I know we must fight its return. We cannot have all the filth of the streets dragged once more into our homes by long skirts. We want our homes safe from disease and our children safe from germs. Every doctor will be with us in this campaign.

PERILS OF LONG SKIRT.

"Woman's own health must also be considered. No woman can get the proper exercise when a long skirt wraps itself about her ankles. When a girl in a long skirt gets on a street car it takes all the skirt to cover one leg and the other—

"I don't think there should any longer be any such word in the dictionary as 'modesty.'"

When she first started her short skirt crusade Mrs. Palmer was frequently stoned because she wore what she thought was proper. She often had to call a policeman when she wanted to go downtown.

SEES ALLIED CONTROL OF ASIA SITUATION

London, Sept. 25.—"The Union of France and England will continue firmly enough to control the situation in Asia Minor, backed by the controlling influences of the League of Nations," says Professor Gilbert Murray, vice-chairman of the executive League of Nations Union. Professor Murray, who is a director of Greek studies at Oxford University and an authority on the subject of the Near East, is anxiously watching every move made in the direction of a settlement of the much-mooted Eastern question. His recent remarks concerning the Turco-Greek situation attracted much attention in international political circles.

Prof. Gilbert Murray.

Photo by International News Reel.

HUNTINGTON SCHOOL BEGINS 14TH YEAR

The Huntington School will begin its fourteenth year with the opening of the Fall term tomorrow morning. It is expected that more than five youths from all sections of eastern Massachusetts will enroll. Among the new students will be six boys from west of the Mississippi, who are preparing for college. The newly enrolled students are given mentality tests, so that they can be rated according to their ability.

EVENING CLASSES

To Begin Oct. 2

Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, English Language, Business Law, Business Methods, Elocution, First Aid, Office Appr Training Course, Photography, Public Speaking, Debate, Salesmanship, Shop Mathematics, Shorthand, Typewriting, Spanish and others.

THE UNION

Boston Young Men's Christian Union
48 Hopkinton St.—Send for Circular

Talks With Clay

WONG GUEY.

CHINESE BOY SHOWS GENIUS AS SCULPTOR

By HELEN LANE.

Wong Guey is only ten years old, almond-eyed, black-haired and lovable, yet he talks in figures, beautiful clay figures.

He calls his sympathetic nurse over at the City Hospital what he thinks of America and the world in general through these figures, because he can't talk English.

The talent of this future Rodin is remarkable. Like most young artists, though, his career is beginning under difficulties.

HAD HOOK WORM.

Two months ago, together with his brother, Wong Bin, and his father, Wong Yuen, a well-to-do Chinese restaurant owner in the downtown section of the city, he landed in Boston from Pekin. Wong Yuen, having been over here long enough to get a good start as a business man, went back after his family.

At the Immigration Station keen-eyed Inspector Callahan discovered that they all had hookworm and so the poor little Wongs were ordered to the Chinese ward at the City Hospital.

The two little Chinese lads looked to Callahan. Every time their nurse gave them books to look at, they put them away. They couldn't read English. The nurse thought a while. Finally she got some plasticene from the Social Service workers.

So she left the two little Wongs with their plasticene.

FIRST TRY AMAZING.

"I was amazed," she told a Boston American reporter, "when ten-year-old Wong Guey came running to my desk, his face beaming and rugged at my skirts, all the while pouring forth Chinese. In his hand was the figure of a lady done in the colored clay.

"She wore a big floppy hat with tiny flowers on it. Over her arm was a sunshade; in one hand a purse. Every detail was carried out with minute care. She was standing on a curb waiting for a car.

"Every day after that he made something new. One day he called me to his father's bedside. There was a table set for a Thanksgiving dinner.

DETAIL REMARKABLE.

"I could hardly believe it. The napkins were there. A waitress was attending to her mistress who was just carrying a piece of bread to her mouth. A Thanksgiving dinner complete.

"These things are the more unusual because the little fellow makes his figures from observation. He has never seen an American Thanksgiving dinner. He probably found it in a book somewhere."

The reporter walked over to where the boy's father lay. He tried to rise courteously, but the reporter arrested his attempt.

"Wong Bin the cleverest of my boys. As soon as we are well, I send him maybe to art school. He make figures in plaster—you know, like putty," he said proudly.

MEN'S APPAREL SHOW

See "Fashion Town," Living Models and America's Advance Styles. Band concerts and special entertainers.

10 A. M. to 10 P. M.
MON. TUES. WED.
THURS. FRI
Sept. 25, 26, 27, 28, 29

Mechanics Building

PLAN TO SAVE AMERICANS IN WAR ZONE

London, Sept. 25, (By International News Service).—October 16 has been set as the tentative date of the Near East peace conference. The conference probably will be held at Venice.

By the Associated Press.

Constantinople, Sept. 25.—Admiral Bristol, the American high commissioner, today announced plans for the protection of American lives and property in the event of hostilities.

Until all Americans are removed to a place of safety, efforts to safeguard property will not be undertaken. Concentration points for Americans in case of danger would be the American Mission Bible House in Stamboul, the American Y. M. C. A., the Sailors' Club at Pera, the American Women's College, and Robert College.

If disorders become serious, Americans will proceed to the following evacuation stations: The United State Naval Supply Base, the Near East Relief Warehouse, the American Women's College and Robert College. They will bring food and water for several days. From these points they will be evacuated on United States destroyers, the U. S. flagship Scorpion and the U. S. submarine chaser 56.

If all the Americans fail to get out of Stamboul before serious rioting begins, it may be necessary to send a destroyer there.

Turks Balk at Dardanelles Terms

Constantinople, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Hamid Bey, representative of the Angora government in Constantinople, declared today the allied invitation to the peace conference could not be accepted by the Turkish Nationalists on the terms laid down.

"Regarding the straits, we have already admitted freedom for the passage of all vessels through the Dardanelles," he said, "but we are not prepared to define in what authority or body the control shall be vested. That question must be settled at a conference between the Turks and the Allies. We also insist that all nations have commercial, military or other interests in the Dardanelles, including Russia."

Turkey Backs Down; Army Retires

By International News Service.)

London, Sept. 25.—Turkish troops that crossed the boundary of the allied neutral zone at the western end of the Dardanelles are withdrawing, it was officially reported in the British government today.

According to advices received by the Foreign Office the retirement was begun "after amiable conversations between the British and Turkish commanders."

The Turks fell back in the direction of Balramitch.

Paris, Sept. 25.—With British warships patrolling the Dardanelles and dozens of transports loaded with British regular troops steaming under forced draft towards Chanak, the whole Islamic world is ready to spring to the standard of revolt at the signal of Mustapha Kemal, inspired leader of Musselmen.

Dispatches through diplomatic sources from Egypt and India indicate that elaborate preparations have been completed by which the first British gun fired against the Turks will be the signal for revolt.

With this ominous situation confronting him, Lloyd George today is hesitating in pressing his plan to make the Dardanelles another Suez. At the same time, the British withdrawal from Chanak, which would be interpreted as a sign of weakening, is not contemplated.

Instead all efforts of diplomats are concentrated in an effort to persuade Kemal to hold his victorious armies in check until the peace congress can be held.

U. S. to Protect Moving of Refugees

Athens, Sept. 25.—Prominence is given by the newspapers of the report Rear-Admiral Bristol has informed the Greek government the United States will undertake to protect with destroyers the removal of the remaining 50,000 refugees in Smyrna, if Greece provides the vessels for the evacuation. The statement the Americans will undertake to provide shelter and sustenance for the refugees brings much grateful comment.

The King and Queen gave an informal luncheon in honor of Miss Jean Christie, Y. W. C. A. worker, who rendered notable work at Smyrna. The Queen promised funds for a building if Miss Christie would found a Young Women's Christian Association in Athens.

EINSTEIN THEORY PROOF IN PICTURES

London, Sept. 25.—Professor C. A. Chant, of the University of Toronto, one of the astronomers who went to Australia to observe the eclipse of the sun, telegraphing from Walsal, Australia, said he believed the photographs taken on Thursday last, during the eclipse, especially the Lick Observatory photographs, would prove sufficient to verify, disprove or modify the Einstein theory of gravitation.

TURKS FEARED BOMBS

NEUTRAL ZONES OF DARDANELLES

If the Turks invaded the neutral zone of the Dardanelles (indicated by the dotted line), Great Britain intended to bomb them from the air—such was indicated when Air Commodore Samson was on his way to the Near East from London to take command of the air forces.

LETTER CLEARS PEASE OF MURDER

Arthur H. Pease of Beachmont, who is held on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Sabra Maude Pease, whose lifeless body was found in the ocean near Winthrop, is expected to be cleared of the charge by a letter which will be introduced today at the inquest on his wife's death.

This letter, now in the possession of the police, is said to have been written by Mrs. Pease to her husband. It is believed that it will prove Mrs. Pease intended suicide, and will go far towards exonerating Pease.

According to the police, the letter reads, in part:

"If I had only known beforehand of your intimate acquaintance with Mrs. Brown I would not have been so hasty in marrying you. You made me love you, and now I'm paying the penalty. If I am found dead, you will find enough money belonging to me to give me a decent burial. I want you to care for my mother."

STAGE ROMANCE TO CULMINATE IN WEDDING

He wouldn't "follow" her at the Broadway theatre, but now he will follow her for life.

Joseph B. Hurl, manager of the Milford Opera House, Milford, came to Boston six months ago, following a twenty-six weeks' engagement on the Keith circuit.

REFUSED TO FOLLOW

A booking office asked him to "put in" at the Broadway Theatre, South Boston. Mr. Hurl consented. Going to the theater he witnessed the musical act of Alice Killeen of Dorchester, who was teamed with another young woman.

He considered the act amateurish and refused to "follow" it. The romance between Mr. Hurl and Miss Killeen began that evening with his refusal to do "his stuff." Back stage he told Miss Killeen what was wrong with her act. Then he began to coach her and her friend with the result that a short time afterward Miss Killeen and her partner were "knocking 'em out of their seats."

WED NEXT SUNDAY.

"He thought he was smart, telling me he wouldn't follow me on the stage," said Miss Killeen, who is known as the "girl with the million-dollar smile," "but he who laughs last, laughs best. Joe now follows me everywhere. And what is even more important, he has promised to do so for the rest of his life."

Miss Killeen has appeared many times at benefit performances in behalf of disabled soldiers. The marriage takes place next Sunday, exactly six months from the time they met.

EVENING SCHOOLS IN HUB OPEN TONIGHT

The Boston public evening schools open their fall term tonight, free to all residents of Boston, without any fees for books, tuition or supplies. There are nine evening high schools, located in Brighton, the South End, Charlestown, Hyde Park, Roxbury, North Boston, Dorchester and East Boston, and five trade schools. Twenty-four elementary schools will be open in all parts of the city.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children
IN USE FOR OVER 30 YEARS
Always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

To Become Bride

MISS ALICE KILLEEN.

Photo by Waite.

"Girl with the million dollar smile," who is to wed Joseph B. Hurl, Milford Opera House manager, next Sunday.

FARMERS HIT BY POOR YIELDS AND PRICES

Crop yields and prices received this season have been somewhat disappointing to farmers of New England, according to a bulletin issued today by the Wakefield branch of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The heavy, damaging rains in June hurt Maine potatoes, Connecticut valley onions and tobacco," the bulletin adds. "Lack of rain later restricted Aroostook potatoes further, while continued wet weather did further damage to onions and tobacco, as well as to hay and grains. However, grains, especially oats in Aroostook and some other places, and hay generally, gave excellent yields.

"Fruit crops in Massachusetts are much better than last year, somewhat better in the other States except Maine. The general abundance of United States crops has caused prices to trend downward.

"Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Boston for week ending Saturday, Sept. 23rd, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.25 cents to 19.25 cents per pound and averaged 14.36 cents per pound."—Advt.

GILCHRIST'S

TUESDAY

MERCHANTS TRADING STAMPS

MERCHANTS TRADING STAMPS

Double Legal Stamps

This means a 5% Discount on every dollar you spend here, in addition to the savings which our Low Prices offer.

GILCHRIST CO.

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH

Financial Independence

is the tall oak of prosperity grown from the small acorn of systematic saving.

It is the goal to which this bank has been privileged to guide many of its depositors in the past Fifty-seven years, and toward which we will gladly assist you—first, by giving absolute safety to your funds; second, by administering the affairs of the bank to earn for you the highest possible rate of interest; and, third, by giving help and counsel on any problem of finance on which you desire advice.

Open every business day, 9 A. M. to 2 P. M. Open Saturday evenings from 5 to 8 for Deposits and Christmas Club Payments except July, August and September

Deposits go on interest Tuesday, Oct. 10

ASSETS OVER $17,000,000

UNION INSTITUTION for SAVINGS
216 TREMONT STREET
INCORPORATED IN 1865

The Boston American Goes Home With Them

MONEY MEN here-a-ways are making of the Boston American more and more a home newspaper every business day. They realize that, in addition to being a business-office adjunct, it is a HOME INSTITUTION.

These men have the American delivered at their offices or pick it up at lunchtime, for quick glances over matters financial. They may read it as they run for trolley, train or garage. But their REAL READING of it is at home, after dinner.

In this the whole family is likely to participate. There are pages for everybody, from the kiddies up.

As for our financial and industrial departments, more WOMEN as well as more men are reading them regularly at home. There is a growing number of New England women who are interested in stocks and related matters. The American is becoming their favorite medium of information.

And a growing number of women, as well as men, will be found reading our FINANCIAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

BOSTON AMERICAN

QUEEN OF SPAIN SETS STYLE IN PLUMP WAIST LINES

4 INCHES ADDED TO GOWNS

Launches Mode at Second Empire Ball; Fete Is Magnificent Spectacle

By C. F. BERTELLI,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Biarritz, France, Sept. 25.—"The fatter the waistline, the more fashionable the gown" is the newest edict of the style creators, judging from the latest creations worn by the leaders of society at the exclusive functions here.

Queen Victoria of Spain launched the mode at the Second Empire ball in Empress Eugenie's old palace, and for magnificence it eclipsed even the flamboyant fetes of Deauville and Paris.

The Queen wore a robe of sheer white reaching to the ankles. It was moderately decollete, while a belt of tulle thicked the royal waist by fully four inches.

WORE FAMOUS NECKLACE

Around her neck hung the famous necklace of pearls which was the gift of her grandmother, Queen Victoria of England, while suspended from the exact center of her forehead there sparkled the equally famous Mohatpur diamond, which is as large as a pigeon egg.

Her hands, however, were without jewels, contrasting vividly with those of the boyish Shah of Persia who wore sixteen rings, chiefly emeralds and sapphires, on his left hand, and five enormous marquise diamonds on his right hand.

Other royal personages present included the Prince and Princess Stzie de Bourbon of Parme, the Duchess of San Carlos, and the Duchess of Santonia, all of them attired in magnificent gowns with wonderful jewels.

OFFERED NEWPORT VILLA.

Americans crowded the salons and seemed to be particular favorites of the king and queen, and of the Shah. Queen Victoria told Mrs. Drexel that she and her royal husband hope to visit the United States next year, whereupon Mrs. Drexel immediately offered the hospitality of her Newport villa.

The Shah's partiality seemed to be divided between Jenny Dolly and Mrs. Edith Gould, showing the latter how to dance his latest creation, the "harem hug."

The Baroness Erlanger, the former Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, did not dance with the monarch who repeatedly offered to share his throne with her prior to her latest union with the Baron.

King Alphonso and the Shah were among the merriest dancers, Alphonso leaving at 5:00 a. m., while the Shah did not return to his hotel until after seven in the morning.

WOMAN OF 52 IN AUTO CRASH IS DYING

Northampton, Sept. 25. — Mrs. Julius W. Nootzel, 52 years old, of Charlemont, is dying at Dickinson Hospital with internal injuries as the result of the overturning of her automobile near Laurel. Her husband is in the hospital with a broken collar bone. A truck hit the Nootzel car and turned it over in the roadway.

Out for Congress

LILY F. DARCY.

New Bedford, Sept. 25.—Miss Lily F. Darcy has announced her candidacy for the nomination for Congress, to fill Joseph Walsh's unexpired term. Special primaries have been ordered by Governor Cox for October 24. Miss Darcy was Congressman Walsh's secretary.

HOLD MAN TWO CHELSEA BOYS ACCUSE

Thomas Cater, 28 years old, of Washington street was arraigned in the Chelsea Court today charged with assault upon 10-year-old Louis Alfred of No. 52 Woodlawn street and 9-year-old John Iaclone of No. 12 Winthrop road. He was held in $500 for the Grand Jury.

The police also lodged charges of assault with a dangerous weapon against Cattr. The police say that when they went to Cater's home to arrest him on the first charge, he threatened them with a shotgun. They entered via a window and after rescuing Alfred and Iaclone chased Cater upstairs. He stopped at the head of the stairs and levelling a shotgun at the officers, ordered them to halt. Later he was captured in a bathroom. Cattr struggled with the officers but he was disarmed.

In the bathroom the officers found another shotgun. Cater wore a cartridge belt with rows of 10 gauge buckshot.

Officer James O'Niel testified he was attracted to Cater's house by the cries of Young Alfred, who was running about the house trying to get away from Cater.

Day's News in Jazz Time

By MORTON BIRGE

One, Sikl dark, from Senegal
Has landed like a cannon ball
Upon that dear young Carpentier
In short, surprising battle.

The cellar door will soon close here
On Big League ball. We hope next year
To show the fan teams better than
A baby's rubber rattle.

On Thursday next the orphans go
To see the Thurston magic show;
Your car will ail. Be not afraid
To help in transportation.

O'er many Boston telephones
There come the wild and anguished moans
Of anxious souls beseeching coals
For Autumn's chill invasion.

On Misty Isle a picnic gay
Is held up in audacious way;
The Black Hand slays before the gaze
Of horrified beholders.

The Jesse Murphy case now gains
A new thread in its tangled skeins,
While bridal chimes bring stabbing crimes
Where wedding guests rub shoulders.

—o—

All the news in sparkling sheen
Greets the wise ones in the "GREEN."

PIPE ASHES SET SCHOOL ON FIRE

Kennebunkport, Me., Sept. 25.—Fire which is believed to have been caused by pipe ashes, damaged the Arundle School building quite badly.

DEMOCRATS TO FRAME PLANKS TONIGHT

Springfield, Sept. 25.—The platform on which William A. Gaston, as Democratic nominee for Senator and John F. Fitzgerald, as Democratic nominee for Governor, together with other Democratic candidates will seek in the forthcoming State election to supplant the Republicans will be drawn up in tentative form here tonight.

Andrew J. Peters, who was elected as chairman of the committee on resolutions, was one of the first of the advance guard to the State convention of tomorrow to arrive here.

The convention will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Municipal Auditorium. It will have as permanent presiding officer Senator David I. Walsh and as temporary presiding officer Mayor James M. Curley.

Aside from ratification of the candidates chosen in ther recent primaries and adoption of the platform for their campaign, its only business will be the selection of members of the State committee.

Leaders in the city today said there was every indication of harmony and that in all probability no disturbing factor would be introduced.

AUTO ESCAPES SHOTS FIRED BY POLICE

The police of Chelsea, Charlestown and Boston gave chase today to a touring car filled with men which went tearing along at a high rate of speed, with revolver shots fired at intervals.

It was first sighted in Chelsea square, then in City square, Charlestown, and finally at the North Station, where it outstripped the police pursuers and got away.

At no time during the chase did the police get near enough to sight the license number.

About a dozen shots were fired by the men in the car.

LIKE "OLD TIMES," BUT OH, THE DRY NAVY

New York, Sept. 25.—Hoboken, N. J., Elks were making merry at Whitestone Landing, L. I. It was "just like old times." The "joy juice" was plentiful and the merriment ran high. Out in the twilight lurked the good ship Hahn of the prohibition navy, while aboard impatient rum sleuths gnashed their teeth as they waited for the zero hour.

The happy Elks started aboard the excursion boat. The dry officers attacked. The spoils totaled eight-five bottles of whiskey, gin and brandy.

YOUNG TO BARE FILM WORLD LOVE AFFAIRS

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—The suit of James Young, prominent motion picture director, against Clara Whipple Young, his former wife, to recover property valued at $55,000, which he alleges she obtained by fraud prior to their divorce, will go to trial here Thursday.

Predictions are that the trial will prove a Hollywood sensation, inasmuch as Young promises to involve many screen celebrities. His attorneys promises to make public love affairs of Hollywood screen beauties, who will be called as witnesses.

Always Uniform in Quality

Delicious

"SALADA" TEA

H 816

HAS THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY PACKET TEA IN NORTH AMERICA.

Hot Weather Headaches

When you cool off suddenly and when you sleep in a draft, you get a Cold. The natural result is Headaches, Neuralgia and Sore Muscles.

To Stop the Headache and Work off the Cold,

Take

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING caused by the heat is quickly relieved by just one dose of Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets.

Does not contain any harmful or habit-forming drugs.

The box bears this signature E. W. Grove

Price 30c.

Store of Low Prices

Jordan Marsh Company
Great Basement Store
The Store of Stores within a Store
Corner of Lee Street and Washington

Store Hours 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Specially Low Prices—Big Values

Women's Flannelette Gowns, Skirts and Pajamas

Flannelette Night Gowns.....69c
Regular and Extra Size Flannelette Night Gowns.....98c
Flannelette Billie Burke Pajamas, one-piece..98c
Flannelette Skirts.....50c
Extra Size Flannelette Skirts.....79c
Jersey Knit Short Skirts.....50c
Extra Size Jersey Knit Short Petticoats.....69c

Women's Brassieres
A very low price indeed for women's hamburg trimmed brassieres.
Sizes 36 to 48; only..... 50c

Lace Clocked Silk Hosiery
Slight irregulars
1.95
Full fashioned, with lace clocks, in assorted patterns. Low price because of slight irregularities. Only 540 pairs.

Mercerized Union Suits
Mostly extra size
1.95
Medium weight, low neck, sleeveless, tight knee, band top. Only 342 suits.

Values Every Woman Will Appreciate

Women's 1-Clasp Mocha Gloves
1.45 pr.
P. K. and outseam sewn, with embroidered backs. In shades of gray and brown.

Women's Lambskin Gloves, 2-clasp, self and white stitching. 1.50

Women's Glace Gloves, 2-clasp, tan, brown, gray, black and white, 95c

Women's Fabric Gloves, strap wrist, braid-back. Pr..75c & 89c

Women's Fabric Gloves, 2-clasp, white, pongee, beaver & mode..69c

Big Value in Women's Ribbon Trimmed Felt
MOCCASINS

89c Of good quality felt with soft cushion chrome soles and spring heels. Sizes 3 to 8 in a variety of desirable colors. 89c

Now that people know how good U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heels are—

THE next time you take a pair of shoes to have rubber heels attached, you will probably call for U. S. Spring-Steps as a matter of course.

This is what thousands of people are doing.

People like yourself, who know today for the first time that there is a better money's worth to be had—U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heels.

* * *

Last March the United States Rubber Company started telling New England the facts about rubber heels.

It could do so for two reasons—

Because it had taken the trouble to discover the facts.

And because the U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heel is what a fine rubber heel should be.

* * *

The demand for U. S. Spring-Step Heels today shows how the quality instinct makes itself felt once people know where to find quality.

Better heels than you have ever worn before. More comfort, longer service, better appearance.

Call for U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heels by name.

They cost you no more.

The U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heel is the result of putting the greatest staff of rubber technicians in the country at work on the problem of producing a better heel.

They were given all the time they needed to do it. They were not dead-weighted by any question of "how much will it cost to manufacture."

U. S. Spring-Step is the scientific rubber heel. Yet you pay no more for U. S. Spring-Steps than for the ordinary hit-or-miss rubber heels.

UNITED STATES RUBBER COMPANY — US — RUBBER SYSTEM — AND ASSOCIATED COMPANIES

This Identifying Trade-mark is found only on the genuine

U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heels are made by the world's oldest and largest rubber organization. The only rubber company in the country growing its own rubber in any considerable quantity.

The United States Rubber Company has a reputation to protect —not in rubber heels alone—but in every kind of rubber product. From golf-balls to giant conveyor belts, its products are known the world over.

Its resources and all the experience of eighty years go into U. S. Spring-Step Rubber Heels.

"U.S." SPRING-STEP
RUBBER HEELS
United States Rubber Company

MAKERS OF U. S. ROYAL CORD TIRES

WIFE OF THREE NOW CHARGES HER HUSBAND IS BIGAMIST

SHE LOST MATE AND WED 2

Married and Then Returned to Her First Husband, Who Has Disappeared

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Confronted by her estranged husband's relatives with charges that she contracted two bigamous unions during a short separation from her spouse, young Mrs. Seward Sibley, formerly of Syracuse, whose first and last husband, a Glen Park engineer, mysteriously disappeared a week ago, countered today with the accusations that Sibley was a bigamist and a home-wrecker.

Thus there came to light at Watertown three alleged bigamies, some of them admitted, and a matrimonial tangle involving three men and two women.

Syracuse, Hermon, Sprague ville, Antwerp, Glen Park, Gouverneur, Hailesboro, Flint, Mich. and Waukeegan, Ill., are the scenes of some of the matrimonial exploits involved.

Statements following the sudden disappearance of Sewar dSibley brought the following from his relatives:

MARRIED TWO.

"We understand that his wife, if she is his wife, since they parted four or five years ago, has been married to two other men and never divorced either of them.

"After she has given this due consideration we think she might give this as his reason for disappearance instead of saying that she thought he might have met with foul play."

When shown this statement Mrs. Sibley, according to Watertown newspaper men, admitted its truth. She said:

"Sibley and I were married in Antwerp April 25, 1915, and the marriage was not without notice, for it closely followed his attempt to commit suicide because I had jilted him."

Here Mrs. Sibley produced a number of newspaper clippings to bear out her story.

DESERTED AT HERMON.

"Sibley deserted me at Hermon," said the wife.

"I went to Flint, Mich., and met Homer Edwin Clemons, whom I married at Waukeegan, Ill., on March 18, 1918.

"I married Clemons because I had received a letter telling me that Sibley had secured a divorce and had married Carrie Backus, eighteen years old.

"I became unhappy with Clemons and left him and he got a divorce."

Mrs. Sibley's next admitted marriage was to Frank A. Smith, Welington, Ont., Canada, November 4, 1920.

Sibley, she claims, left his second wife at home and called on his first wife while she was living as Mrs. Smith. Later Sibley, she said, returned to his second wife.

Sibley left his second wife to pay another clandestine visit to his first wife. It was at this time that they discussed how she would get away from her third husband. Finally a decision was reached that the Sibleys would drop the aded partners they had picked up and would return and establish a home.

Known as "Mother"

ESTELLE E. SNELL.

"The more you give, the happier you will be," is the creed of this Lynn woman who wants to adopt an orphan.

LYNN WOMAN SEEKS ORPHAN TO ADOPT

Estelle E. Snell of No. 19 Broadway, Lynn, wants to adopt an orphan.

"I love children," Mrs. Snell's eyes be came moist as she spoked. "I only wish that my roof were large enough to cover all the unfortunate children."

"Mother" Snell has raised four children of her own, two grandnieces, Marjorie Davis, 13 years old, and Grace Davis, 18 years old, and also adopted two nephews.

Everywhere "Mother" Snell visits the influence of her motherly disposition and kindliness is felt.

Mrs. Snell was born in Maine, 63 years ago, but is hale and hearty as any woman half her age and works hard keeping her tidy little bungalow on the shore of Lily Pond neat and comfortable. It is surrounded by a garden of flowers which Mrs. Snell continually cultivates.

"There is plenty in the world for all. The more you give the happier you will be," was Mrs. Snell's comment.

Friends are continually warning her that she'll wind up in the poor house.

"If I do, God knows where to find me," Mrs. Snell tells them.

COAL ON THE WAY, LODGE ASSURED

Senator Lodge's fight to start shipments of anthracite coal into Massachusetts brought results, as evidenced by the following telegram received by Mr. Lodge today from Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania:

"I have today submitted your request to the Fuel Commission and am happy to inform you that shipments to Massachusetts will begin forthwith in such quantities as are possible under the circumstances."

In a statement issued following the receipt of the wire from Senator Pepper, Senator Lodge said there was no doubt that shipments would come in increasing quantity until the coal crisis would be met.

MOVIE WORLD NEWS AND COMMENT

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

THOSE who think that vamping is an art which has been developed in the present generation should listen to Barbara La Marr, who holds that it was as widely practiced among Victorians as it is today. Miss La Marr is noted for her ability in portraying vamp roles, having enacted with marked success the part of Antoinette de Mauban in Rex Ingram's production of "The Prisoner of Zenda."

Certain games were just made to order for the coquette of our mother's time," says Miss La Marr. "The average girl of today would blush if she were asked to indulge in any one of those pastimes. Fancy! Every boy in the party kisses every girl and every girl can so arrange things, especially in the game they call Postoffice, that she can kiss any boy she likes.

"Mothers and aunts have a way of shaking their heads over what they consider the hopeless lack of conventional behavior on the part of their daughters and nieces. I'm sure almost every one of those daughters and nieces would be chagrined to know of the carrying on of the previous generation; of the carefully laid plans to allure that were made beneath the awfully circumspect exteriors; of the vamping that was done in the clothing of innocence and, most particularly, of the games that were played."

KID LEARNED TO WALK.

WILLIAM BEAUDINE, who directed Wesley Barry in "Little Heroes of the Street," met his own little youngster for a part in the picture. When the scene was filmed the little fellow could not walk, but crawled on his hands and knees.

Recently Beaudine, in looking over the film, discovered that a mistake had been made in the photography, and that his youngster had to go through another trying scene. But when they started shooting William, Jr., rose up on all twos and walked through the scene.

Not even "Pop's" most officious directorial voice could persuade the baby that his old form of locomotion was superior to the newly discovered one. Beaudine had to film some five hundred feet of negative, and the youngster proudly walked through the scene.

ORIGIN OF TUDOR ROSE.

Readers of English history will remember The Wars of Roses,—which also figure dramatically in Shakespeare's historical plays—and the Tudor rose was formed by combining the white rose of York with the red rose of Lancaster. This was because Henry VIII—the Richmond who overthrew the villainous Richard III—prudently married the heiress of the house of York, and so united the two factions. Henry VIII was hailed as "the undubitate flower and heir of both the said lineages," and the Court of Heralds produced the Tudor rose as the emblem of his line. In "When Knighthood Was in Flower," the Cosmopolitan picturization of the romance of Mary Tudor, played by Marion Davies, the emblem of the House of Tudor was embroidered on all the costumes of the court of King Henry VIII, some 700 in number.

WRITES FILM SCORES.

SOL COHEN, violinist of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, is preparing a special orchestration for Maurice Tourneur's "Lorna Doone," an elaborate picture version of the popular novel, which will be released shortly. Cohen, who is an ex-service man, also wrote the orchestration for Thomas H. Ince's "Skin Deep," a story based on the change of identity in a returned soldier after a plastic surgery operation remedy repulsive features which had stamped him as a crook.

ACTOR ONCE RANCHER.

GEORGE COWL, who has just finished an important role in Penrhyn Stanlaws' Paramount production of "Pink Gods," started on the stage at twenty-one with a stock company on tour in England, where he was born. Later he was a cattle-rancher at Fort Que' Appelle in Saskatchewan.

He also hunted gold in Arizona and Nevada. Later he ran a ranch where he raised horses, but the early lure of the stage came back on him and in 1913 he went to New York and became a motion picture actor.

G. A. R. VETS GATHER—ALL THAT ARE LEFT

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—With three days of reunions reminiscences, parades and campfires ahead of them before they settle down to the transaction of official business, the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and men and women of auxiliary and allied organizations today had taken complete possession of the city.

Special trains bringing most of the Eastern State Department delegations were scheduled to reach the city during the day. Veterans of Massachusetts, Maine and Vermont will arrive today on special trains.

White Mountains Are Luring Many Boston Society Folk, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

WITH her tall, slender, brunette beauty, the former Harriet Sears Amory made the loveliest of brides at the ceremony which, last June at Emmanuel Church, transformed her into Mrs. Warwick Potter.

The honeymoon was spent in travelling abroad, the young couple just returning to these shores on Saturday aboard the Mauretania. I understand that young Potter, who, by the way, is the son of the Robert Burnside Potters of Long Island, and his bride are to live in New York. He is of the Harvard '19 class, as well as a graduate of the Harvard Engineering School.

The former Harriet Amory, daughter of Mrs. William Amory of Commonwealth avenue, belongs to the 1917 Sewing Circle. During the war she was one of the busiest workers for this and that cause, and at the close of the great struggle she did a good deal for the French charities. Both she and her mother have spent a good deal of their life abroad, and the former Harriet Amory speaks French very fluently.

MRS. EDWARD WIGGLESWORTH, who is among the Boston contingent sojourning in the White Mountains, recently motored with guests to the Mount Washington Hotel at Bretton Woods from her Summer home at Jackson.

Dixville Notch is one of the most popular spots in the White Mountain regions, and among the Bostonians who have gone there for a short stay are the Walter Hunnewells, Jr., of Wellesley and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Clark of Pride's Crossing, all of whom are registered at The Balsams.

THAYER THORNDIKE of Commonwealth avenue has joined his parents, the Alden Thorndikes, at The Homestead, Hot Springs, Va., where the family usually spend a portion of the Fall season. Also with them is their daughter, Elizabeth Thorndike, who is to be presented this season.

AMONG the host of Bostonians who deserted these shores for European travel was Miss Anna Winslow, eldest daughter of the George Scott Winslows of Chestnut street. Miss Winslow sailed shortly after the marriage of her youngest sister, Miss Katherine Winslow, whose marriage to Louis B. McCagg, Jr., of New York was solemnized late in June at St. Paul's Cathedral.

APROPOS of Hub society folk who have taken the trip across the "big pond," many are now homeward bound. Among the latter are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Foster of Hyde Park, who arrived in New York on Saturday aboard the White Star liner Lapland.

JUST as those who spent the Summer months abroad are returning home for the Fall, many who passed the Summer on the North Shore or thereabouts are going to the Italian lakes and Spain for the Fall hunting of stag and wild boar.

The giant White Star liner Olympic, which sailed for Cherbourg and Southampton on Saturday, took out a Boston contingent, including Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Sears, with the Misses Emily and Jean Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Moseley Taylor (Emily Pope) of Brookline, as well as Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames of Dartmouth street and Newport.

MRS. JOHN L. THORNDIKE, one of the most prominent members of the Beverly Farms colony, has as her guest there Mrs. Frank B. Loring of Washington. Mrs. Loring has come to the Shore after a Summer spent in Canada.

MISS KATHERINE GREELEY, daughter of the Norman Frost Greeleys of Boston, is now visiting at the home of her fiance, Jonathan Brown, 3d, in Hamilton on the North Shore. Mr. Brown returns to Tech shortly.

Miss Gretchen Brown, a sister, who is also at "Red Top Farm," after spending the Summer travelling about, is, I believe, to be presented to society this Fall. Philip Brown, a younger brother, is back at Hamilton after a short trip to London with some boy friends, who stayed only one week in the British capital, just going for the trip over and back. He enters Harvard this Fall.

MISS ANNA WINSLOW

Miss Anna Winslow of Chestnut street is only one of the many Boston folk who spent the Summer travelling abroad. She is the daughter of the George Scott Winslows. (Photo by Bachrach.)

Betty Alden

SMITH, PATTERSON EMPLOYES TO DANCE

Marcell N. Smith, president of the Smith, Patterson Company, will be the guest of honor at the annual concert and dance being arranged by the Smith, Patterson Company Benefit Association, at the Chateau, Wednesday evening.

Esther Nason. (Photo by Bond.)

Friends of the members of the association are also invited. Nelson Smith, vice-president; Carl D. Smith, secretary; James Kingman, Fred Chico, Aubrey Gilmore, Frank H. Elliott and J. Victor Day, directors of the company. The matrons will be the wives of the officers of the company.

Edwin Lyons will be floor director, in charge of the arrangements. An exceptionally fine concert will be given from 8 to 9:30, in charge of Erskine A. Gay, George W. Saunders and Miss Esther Nayor.

Edwin Lyons. (Photo by Wide Studio.)

NAMES MEN HE CLAIMS BEAT HIM

At the Lynn Hospital, where he is in a serious condition, Raulus Kazlonnis of Laurel street, Lynn, today gave the police the names of the two men who assaulted him Saturday. He said they were Dominic Mikinhis of Cottage street and Andrew Gruffeky of Richard street, Lynn. All three are employes of the General Electric Company. Warrants will be asked for the two men named by Kazukonis.

'DIVINE HEALER' HICKSON IN SO. AFRICA

James Moore Hickson, the "Divine Healer," reported recently as having mysteriously disappeared from Boston, is now in Johannesburg, South Africa, according to dispatches received here from Washington.

The Rev. Dr. George F. Dudley, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Washington, told his congregation there that he has received word the "healer" is now touring South African cities, after which he will sail for Australia.

Reports that thousands of dollars collected by Hickson for missionary work were unaccounted for, were denied by Dr. Dudley, who characterized such reports as "extremely unfair to Mr. Hickson."

"I was in charge of his services here in Washington," said Dr. Dudley. "He insisted that no collections be taken. A box was placed in the church vestibule, and those who desired could make a free-will offering. It was understood that all money collected was to be used for the extension of the healing mission in China and India, and since he left here he has visited both of those countries.

"Mr. Hickson brought comfort to hundreds of people here and elsewhere. Whatever money was contributed at his services was for his own use, and it was understood that its expenditure was subject to his sole control."

GERMAN SAYS U. S. SHYS AT SOCIALISM

Berlin, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The healing of Europe's ills is possible only through the aid of America, but she will not help so long as she is convinced that Germany, as well as Russia and Austria, "is infected with the intellectual malady of socialism," says a statement by Dr. Carl Friedrich von Siemens of the Imperial Economy Council.

"If we ourselves have not the power to overcome this sickness," he warns the Germans, "then America will consider it essential that the sick epidemic be separated and the illness permitted to abate of itself, as a lesson of warning for other peoples."

SKY THE LIMIT IN BUYING UP ELECTIONS

Washington, Sept. 25.—Congress has left the country without any corrupt practices legislation so far as it applies to the election of senators. The sky and the consciences of individual candidates is now the limit.

The Supreme Court's decision which freed Senator Newberry, held the Federal Corrupt Practices Act illegal because it applied to election of Senators by Legislatures. Attorney-eneral Daugherty interpreted this in a letter to Representative Luce of Massachusetts, to mean that no senatorial candidate need file any statement of his expenditures in connection with either his nomination or election.

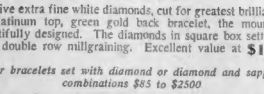
This letter was written November 15, 1921. Since then attempts have been made to check "Newberryism" in the coming election, but all have failed. After much delay on the part of Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, a sub-committee of the committee on privileges and elections, headed by Mr. Spencer, finally recommended a bill.

Spencer had gone to Europe and Senator Pomerene, Democrat, Ohio, drafted and introduced the measure, making it apply to elections by direct vote of the people. This bill passed the Senate, but was killed in the House.

Here a bill by Representative Andrews, Republican, Nebraska, which was practically the same as Pomerene's was substituted, limiting expenses of Senators to $10,000 and Representatives to $5,000. Andrews was given a lot of verbal support, but could never get the bill called up, and the session ended without action.

SPC

Diamond and Platinum Bracelet $125



Five extra fine white diamonds, cut for greatest brilliancy. A platinum top, green gold back bracelet, the mounting beautifully designed. The diamonds in square box settings, with double row millgraining. Excellent value at $125.

Other bracelets set with diamond or diamond and sapphire combinations $85 to $2500

Smith Patterson Co.
Summer St. at Arch & Chauncy Sts.
DIAMOND MERCHANTS AND JEWELERS

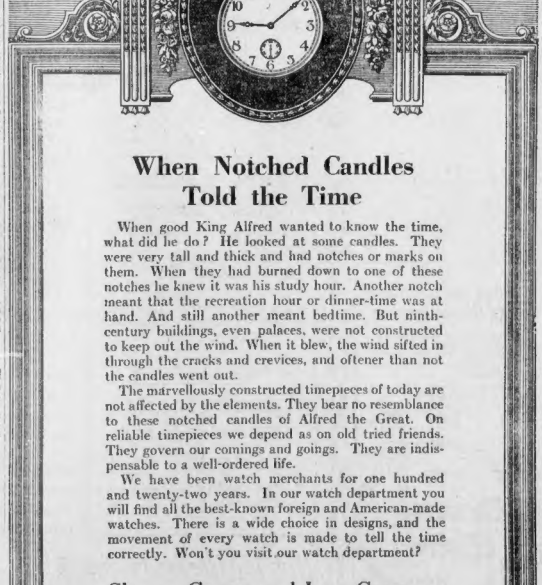
MUELLER'S SPAGHETTI

"All You Need in a Food"

Delicious

Mueller's Spaghetti has a nutty wheat flavor that is different—more tempting—more delicious—than any spaghetti you ever tasted.

MUELLER'S
The World's Best Spaghetti



When Notched Candles Told the Time

When good King Alfred wanted to know the time, what did he do? He looked at some candles. They were very tall and thick and had notches or marks on them. When they had burned down to one of these notches he knew it was his study hour. Another notch meant that the recreation hour or dinner-time was at hand. And still another meant bedtime. But ninth-century buildings, even palaces, were not constructed to keep out the wind. When it blew, the wind sifted in through the cracks and crevices, and oftener than not the candles went out.

The marvellously constructed timepieces of today are not affected by the elements. They bear no resemblance to these notched candles of Alfred the Great. On reliable timepieces we depend as on old tried friends. They govern our comings and goings. They are indispensable to a well-ordered life.

We have been watch merchants for one hundred and twenty-two years. In our watch department you will find all the best-known foreign and American-made watches. There is a wide choice in designs, and the movement of every watch is made to tell the time correctly. Won't you visit our watch department?

Shreve, Crump and Low Company
Founded in 1800
Jewelry, Gold and Silver Craft, Clocks, Antiques
147 Tremont Street — Boston, Massachusetts

© 1922, S., C. & L. Co.

AUTOS NEEDED LEST ANY ORPHAN MISS THEATRICAL TREAT

OWNERS ASKED TO HELP

Thurston, "King of Kiddies," to Provide Afternoon of Magic Thursday

"STOP!"

It's the Orphan Editor of the Boston American. He is holding up his hand for a moment, in imitation of a traffic officer, and asking owners of private automobiles in Boston to stop and listen.

He asks them to help orphanage children have an afternoon of such dazzling pleasure as seldom bright ens their parentless lives.

It's an opportunity for you, Mr. and Mrs. Owner.

AFTERNOON OF FUN.

Here's the situation: The Boston American, through the kindness of Thurston, the magician, and his great love for children, is offering a free afternoon of fun to children in Boston orphan asylums.

They are to see Thurston, his tricks, his animals and all the magical, mysterious and amusing things they do at the Plymouth Theatre this coming Thursday afternoon, September 28.

Orphan asylum managements are accepting the invitation on behalf of the children. Ever been in an orphan asylum? Do you know how often the little charges there get such a treat? The institutions do all they can to shelter, raise and guide the orphans. But they can't provide afternoons of magic for them. The institutions are delighted at the chance of such an afternoon of joy for the boys and girls.

But the children must be taken to and from the theatre. Thurston cannot very well stage his big show in the institutions. And there's the chance for automobile owners to "carry on" in child welfare.

Chester I. Campbell, the auto show manager, offers to arrange transportation to and fro for 200 children.

Mayor James M. Curley—"glad to help"—will see that several more are landed at the theatre and back. But more cars are needed—more—More —MORE!

So, if you can take some children from one of the institutions in your car that afternoon, please notify the Orphan Editor of the Boston American at 80 Summer street in person, or write or telephone (Main 5180). and please do so right away. The orphans' treat comes Thursday next, you know, and arrangements have to be made a bit ahead.

Already offers are coming. Michael H. Bedigan of No. 1708 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, and of No. 109 Fremont street, who has a child in his home, has volunteered to take care of ten orphans on this theatre afternoon.

His brother, Harry Bedigan of No. 9 Boulevard terrace, Allston, likewise will take ten children to and from the theatre.

Maybe some orphans, who might go to the magic show, will miss out because there wasn't any auto to carry them. That would be hard. But an orphan is used to tough luck, anyhow.

Think it over.

CHILDREN ANXIOUS TO SEE THURSTON

AWAITING "KING OF KIDDIES"

These are some of the orphans of Boston institutions who will be made happy by a visit to the the aims. Only lack of automobiles to convoy them can spoil their treat.

Autos Needed to Take Orphans to Show

Who will help make orphans happy?

It can be done. Automobiles are needed to take children in Boston orphan asylums to and from the Plymouth Theatre next Thursday afternoon, Sept. 28.

A wonderful afternoon of magic delight is being arranged for them by Thurston, the Magician, and the Boston American.

Will YOU—maybe you have happy children of your own—will YOU help the orphans to and from the magic treat?

Cars are needed with a big NEED. If you can see your way to do this thing for orphans—which you would do in a twinkling for your own little ones—then call on, call up or write to Orphan Editor, Boston American, 80 Summer street, Boston. (Telephone 5180 Main.)

There isn't much time left.

Advertisement

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair "Use Liquid Arvon"

Girls—If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Advertisement

Girlish Complexion Now Easily Acquired

By Using Pure Mercolized Wax

If your complexion's bad just try this simple, harmless home treatment. It will prove a revelation to you. This evening before retiring cover the entire face with a thin layer of ordinary Mercolized Wax (Dearborn Supply Co., Chicago). You can get it at any drug store. In the morning wash this off with warm water, followed by a dash of cold. Fine particles of the lifeless scarf skin adhere to the wax and are removed with it. Repeat this treatment nightly until the entire surface skin is absorbed in this way. Result—the loveliest natural complexion imaginable. The fresh, new skin then in evidence is soft and velvety in appearance, delicately tinted with the bloom of youth.

The old surface skin comes off so gradually there is no pain, no inconvenience, and no detention indoors. Freckles, muth patches, liver spots, pimples or defects are of course removed with the skin itself.

Cuticura Soap —Is Ideal for— The Complexion

Soap, Ointment, Talcum. Sold everywhere. For samples address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. X, Malden, Mass.

Irresistible Eyes

are those which are Bright and Sparkling. Keep Your Eyes Young and Beautiful through the daily use of Murine. It has stood the test of time. At all Druggists.

MURINE FOR YOUR EYES

ITALIAN PUPILS LOVE HER, SAYS NEGRESS

"My Italian pupils fight over the question of who loves me most," said Miss Wilhelmina M. Crosson, a young negro teacher in the Hancock School, North End, in answer to a petition which is being circulated by John Bustle, editor of an Italian weekly, and other prominent citizens of the North End, in protest against the colored teachers.

Miss Crosson

The protest alleges that the Italian district is being discriminated against by the employment of colored teachers in their schools and not in other districts of the city. Miss Crosson has taught in the North End since November, 1920. She is twenty-two years old and lives at No. 28 Greenwich park, South End. Mrs. Mary E. Smith, of No. 27 Aberdeen street, Back Bay, a teacher in the Christopher Columbus School, is also an object of the protest.

"Propaganda," was the term used by Miss Crosson in characterising the petition. "I have taught in other parts of the city. Children look forward to joining my classes. The Italian people are wonderful if they like a person, and the parents of my pupils come to me and offer to make things for me."

Miss Gertrude E. Bigelow, master of the Hancock School, denied that there has been any trouble between pupils and colored teachers.

TWO NURSES CHARGE MEN WITH ATTACK

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 24—Lewis Wood and Edward King, attendants, were arrested, charged with attacking two nurses at the State Hospital here.

The women say the men took them to a country dance. Here the nurses say they were locked in rooms and beaten almost into insensibility. One of the nurses escaped to a farm house and gave the alarm.

GIRL LIVES AFTER FOUR-STORY PLUNGE

New York, Sept. 25.—Catherine Duffy, a stenographer, was found severely injured when she plunged from a fourth story window. She will live.

Corns Go

just say

Blue-jay

to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. The action is the same.

Pain Stops Instantly

REPORT SOVIET FOES GET JAPANESE ARMS

Tokio, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Japanese military authorities are credited with the statement that General Dieterichs, the Anti-Soviet leader in Vladivostok, and General Tso-Lin, the war lord of Manchuria, have been negotiating secretly an agreement under which the arms left by the Japanese in evacuating Siberia will be divided between the Siberian general and the Chinese general, who plans to join in opposing the Soviet force and those of the Far Eastern Republic at Chita.

KHORASSAN KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN ARRIVE

Members of the Adilla Temple, Dramatic Order Knights of Khoras san, of St. John, N. B., are the guests of the Abou Ben Adhem Temple of this city. A large delegation arrived in Boston on the St. John boat, and were met at Central Wharf by representatives of the Boston Temple. Auto tours throughout Greater Boston followed.

James Lord.

James Lord, Royal Vizier, who came with the St. John delegation, is the highest ranking officer in the order. Governor Cox and Mayor Curley are scheduled to assist in a reception at Paine Hall, Appleton street, and Omer Temple. Pythian sisters will receive the women visitors.

BAY STATE WOMAN DIES IN N. Y. STATION

New York, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Villa Rutherford, fifty years old, of North Andover, Mass. was taken from a Pennsylvania train at the terminal in a dying condition.

She died in the station. Her relatives were notified and her body was sent to the morgue.

Diminutive Detectives that dig up anything from a job to a tenant and do it promptly —Boston American Want Ads.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN Boston's Want Ad Directory Read for Profit — Use for Results

RECEPTION TO IRISH WOMEN ARRANGED

Mrs. Mauriel MacSwiney and Miss Lilla Kearns, two distinguished representatives of Irish women, will be tendered a reception in Symphony Hall on next Sunday night, October 1, at 8 p. m.

Representatives of six hundred patriotic societies of Massachusetts held a meeting at Historic Hall, Dec. oon Building, South End, and organized a committee with representatives from every city and town of the State.

A committee of arrangements of 100 was formed with Patrick J. O'Hegarty of Springfield, chairman; Mrs. Frank C. Scanlon, vice-chairman; Miss Elizabeth Needham, secretary, and Peter Harmett, treasurer.

Invitations have been sent to Governor Cox, U. S. Senator Walsh, Mayor James Curley and other distinguished men and women of the state and city.

The speakers will be Mrs. MacSwiney, Miss Kearns, Hon. Frank P. Walsh of Washington, and Peter Golden of New York. The latter has recently returned from Ireland and will give an accurate account of present conditions there.

An appropriate musical program has been arranged.

One of the principal sub-committees is that on press, consisting of 25 members who will canvass every newspaper in the State, and request that a square deal be given to the citizens of Massachusetts who believe that the people of Ireland should be permitted to determine the form of government they desire to live under.

Editor Has Abscess and Readers Must Wait

Indiana, Pa., Sept. 25.—The Indiana County Democrat today announced an indefinite suspension of publication because the editor is suffering from a severe earache. The the notice follows:

Owing to illness of the editor, there will be no Democrat issued this week, and unless some improvement is noted there will be none for several weeks to come.

"The editor has an abscess in his right ear, the result of a bad cold, and great improvement must come before we can get back to the job of grinding out news and writing letters which will cause the subscribers of this paper to come across with the coin which makes the merry jingle."

WILL OF 66 WORDS DISPOSES OF FORTUNE

New York, Sept. 23.—The will of John W. Rapp, wealthy and nationally known manufacturer, in sixty-six words bequeaths the entire estate to his widow. No amount is mentioned, but it is understood that the estate is very large.

TRY TO KILL HEAD OF IRISH CIVIL POLICE

Dublin, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—An attempt was made last night to kill General Owen O'Duffy, chief commander of the Irish civil police. It is announced today by the Free State government.

General O'Duffy, General Hogan and two other officials were proceeding along Naas road when their automobile was ambushed. A heavy revolver fight ensued, in which the attackers were driven off and one of them wounded.

Ply Torch to Mansion of Marquis of Lansdowne

Lyndon, Sept. 25.—The Marquis of Lansdowne informs the Times that his mansion at Derreen, County Kerry, Ireland, has been looted and burned, and the valuable plantations on his estate destroyed. He says he is unaware whether the outrage was committed by Free Staters or Republicans.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, besides holding several Cabinet posts at various times, has served as Governor-General of Canada, and later, of India. His Kerry estates have long been in the family, and with them he inherited the title Earl of Kerry.

Reliable Diamond Dealers 42 Years

One Carat Diamond in Platinum

—This $500 Ring Fulfills Many Ideals—

The size of the diamond is ideal; its beauty is all that one might desire; the pierced setting with hexagonal top gives distinction; the value is extraordinary.....

$300

Other Diamonds for $60, $75, $100 to $2000

Diamonds may be returned by purchaser within one year for full price paid less 10%

Frank A. Andrews, Inc.

Diamonds, Jewelry, Watches, Clocks, Silverware

STORE CLOSES 6:30 P. M. 276 WASHINGTON ST. Cor. WATER St. SAT. 10 P. M.

Free

A 10-Day Test

To show what Pepsodent does. Simply mail the coupon.

Then you will know that there is a way to new beauty, new protection, and no one in your home will neglect it.

Send coupon now.

A Revelation

The prettier teeth that show when you are successfully combating film

Do you realize that men and women—millions of them—have found a way to whiter, prettier teeth?

Look about you. Note how teeth glisten now—teeth which once were dim. So it is everywhere. Careful people of some fifty nations now use this new method, largely by dental advice.

If you don't know this method, we urge you to make this test. Watch the delightful results. You will see and feel some new effects you would not go without.

Combats the dingy film

One object is to fight the film on teeth, that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Under old methods, all those troubles were constantly increasing. Few escaped some film-caused trouble. Beautiful teeth were seen less often than today. All because the ordinary tooth paste cannot effectively fight film. And film is the cause of most tooth troubles.

Has two effective ways

Dental science, after long research, has found two ways to fight that film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, without any harmful scouring.

Many careful tests proved these methods efficient, then authorities endorsed them. Now leading dentists the world over are advising their adoption.

A new-type tooth paste has been created, based on modern research. It brings five effects now considered essential. It avoids several old mistakes. These two great film combatants are embodied in it. The name of that tooth paste is Pepsodent.

A new dental era

Pepsodent, in essential ways, means a new era in dental hygiene. It does more than fight film. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

Old methods brought just opposite effects, due to soap and chalk. So this new way means a vast increase in Nature's tooth-protecting forces in the mouth. Now, those forces fight the enemies of teeth.

Note Men's Teeth

See how they glisten now

Men who smoke are now using Pepsodent to combat the smoke-stained film. You will see the results if you look. Those whiter teeth mean safer teeth as well.

To children Pepsodent has brought new protection. It is helping them avoid the troubles which their parents may have suffered. Under old methods, scarcely a child avoided film-coats and decay.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

That test will convince you that this method should be used by you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

Pepsodent REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

The New-Day Dentifrice

Created to bring five new effects, now regarded as essential. Leading dentists the world over now advise its daily use. All druggists supply the large tubes.

10-Day Tube Free

THE PEPSODENT COMPANY,
Dept. F-20, 1104 S. Wabash Av., Chicago, Ill.
Mail 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent to

Only one tube to a family.

CALLS FOR $9,125,000 TO ENFORCE U. S. DRY LAW ONE YEAR

HAYNES PLANNING TO EXPAND PROHIBITION NAVAL FORCE

Washington, Sept. 25.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes will seek an appropriation of $9,125,000 for the enforcement of the Federal dry laws during the next fiscal year, 1924, it is said at the treasury.

Estimates prepared for the budget bureau carry this amount, which is approximately the same sum authorized by Congress for this purpose during the current fiscal year.

Mr. Haynes was declared to take the view that while a larger sum could be utilized in suppressing the liquor traffic the equivalent of the amount now being expended would enable the prohibition unit to carry on all the activities now in force, including the dry navy which is to be expanded to enable Federal agents to take advantage of the provisions of the tariff act of 1921 permitting search of vessels within twelve miles from shore.

Prohibition estimates, officials say, are being kept to the minimum in line with the administration's policy of keeping expenditures within the expectation of revenue receipts to avoid a deficit.

STRANGER GETS AUTO TO RIDE AND IS KILLED

New York, Sept. 25.—Because he was kind to a stranger who had asked him for a lift in his auto, James Carney faces a charge of homicide. The car skidded and crashed into a telegraph pole. The stranger was thrown out and killed.

MENDEL BEILISS FOUND IN N. Y.

New York, Sept. 25. — Mendel Beilliss, Jewish workman of Kiev, Russia, whose trial in 1913 on the charge of ritual murder attracted world-wide attention, is a resident of New York, it was learned today.

He came to America in 1921 from Palestine, where he went after his acquittal in Russia, and is established in a small printing business.

Beilliss, the only Jew in a city of 10,000 people, was arrested in 1911 after the discovery of the body of a thirteen-year-old boy who had been murdered. Officials charged that he had killed the boy to obtain blood for religious ritual purposes.

He was kept in a dungeon for two years and then placed on trial. At the end of thirty days the jury freed him after two hours' deliberations. The superstitious nature of the charges gained the interest of the entire world.

"It is all past and I do not want to pose as a martyr," he said today. "I am trying to earn a peaceful living."

FORGETS INJURY BY RESUMING SADDLE

IRENE CASTLE AND THUNDERBOLT

Noted dancer who was thrown from her horse has recovered and is to be seen here in "Dances and Fashions of 1923," at Symphony Hall in October.

LINER SINKS SMACK OFF BREST; 3 LOST

Brest, France, Sept. 25 (by International News Service).—Three fishermen were missing today after the steamship Tuscaloosa, bound from New York, ran down and sank a fishing smack in a thick fog, off this port today.

DANCER AGAIN ON HORSE WHICH THREW HER

The first thing that Irene Castle did when the doctor said she had recovered from the injuries received from being thrown from her horse, Thunderbolt, was to have the horse saddled and led to the front of her cottage. Then she descended in riding clothes and, despite the protests of her attendants, mounted him and drove him around for half an hour.

"I had to do it," she declared, "or I would never have been able to ride a horse again. Now I shall never remember that I was thrown and injured. Before I rode him I thought of nothing else.

"It's the same thing in the theatrical business. A performer who fails in a dangerous stunt keeps trying until he succeeds. If he quit he would never be able to do the stunt again without thinking of his failure, and that would make him fail again."

Mrs. Castle proposes to fill all her engagements and she will be seen in Boston at Symphony Hall in October in "Dances and Fashions of 1923."

NEW KRESGE STORE OPENS SATURDAY

Announcement is made today of the opening on Saturday next of the largest and latest of the Kresge chain of 25c to $1 merchandise stores, at Tremont and Bromfield streets.

Almost anything that one would think of from tacks in the hardware department to radio parts in the electrical department, kitchen ware and art goods, neckwear and jewelry, a popular price millinery department and a soda counter and lunch room that will appeal to the most discriminating in cleanliness and good foods can be found there.

Long aisles, mahogany-finished counters, mirrors, plate glass and furnish a revelation in economical changing of merchandise from manufacturers to users.

CAPTURE BARRICADED MAN WITH TEAR GAS

Reading, Kansas, Sept. 25.—After barricading himself in a house near here and frustrating attempts to capture him for two days, Lester Duclo, forty, a plumber, was overcome with tear gas and arrested. He shot himself just before the capture, inflicting a severe wound in the left hip. Duclo had been staying at the home of Frank Hagan, a relative. He was left alone last week and when Hagan returned, drove him away. All attempts to enter the place were met with shots. Officers forced a tear bomb through a window. Duclo threw it out. When a bomb was thrown into the house from the rear, Duclo shot himself.

U. S. NAVAL FORCE IN CHINA ADEQUATE

Ibang, China, Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press). — The American naval force on the Yangtze River between this port and Suifu, about 500 m les west in Szechuen Province, is adequate to afford full protection to the lives of Americans, it is indicated as a result of an inspection trip up that stream by Admiral William W. Phelps of the United States Navy. While firing on steamers virtually has ceased and navigation is open, the feeling against foreigners among the Szechuenese has a tendency to make the situation worse with the probability of a renewal of attacks on foreign ships, it is said.

BODY, LONG IN WATER, IS FOUND

The crew of the police boat Watchman today pulled the body of a man out of the water off Pier 1 at the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad. The body had been in the water apparently two months or more. From the clothing worn by the man it was apparent that he was a laborer, possibly a sailor. Both of his hands were tattooed.

REMOVE JUDGE WHO LET UP ON BOOZE

Tallahassee, Fla., Sept. 25.—Judge J. R. Johnson of St. Lucie County Court, who recently ruled that state authorities couldmake no arrests in prohibition cases unless the liquor involved had been determined by analysis to be intoxicating, has been removed from office by Governor Hardee.

More than 1,500 County residents had signed a petition asking the removal of both the Judge and County Prosecutor Carpenter because of alleged laxity in law enforcement. No action was taken concerning the latter official.

Production of Fire Arms Falls Off 58 Per Cent.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The production of fire arms at private plants in the United States showed a decrease of more than fifty-eight per cent. in the year 1921 as compared with 1919, according to a report today by the Census Bureau.

The total value of the output of the twenty-five establishments operating in 1919 was $30,131,370 against a value of $12,510,302 for the eighteen plants operating last year.

GRANT BAIL FOR 36 IN HERRIN TRAGEDY

Marion, Ill., Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Thirty-six of the forty-four persons indicted for murder in connection with the Herrin mine killings will be given liberty on bond today, it was announced. The remaining eight will not be allowed bond because of "compelling evidence" against them, it was added, and motions to dismiss the indictments will not be granted.

FLAYS HARVARD FOR ATTITUDE ON JEWS

Harvard, for its discrimination against the Jews, was the target for Rabbi Samuel J. Abrams in his New Year sermon at Temple Ohabei Shalom, Union Park street. He deplored "the insincerity of the leaders of Harvard University."

"What visible and tangible advancements have we made," he asked, "in gentleness, forbearance and brotherly love? Have our institutions, our universities, the bulwark and safeguard of Americans, liberty, shown the way to enlightenment?

"This is not very apparent in Boston, the Cradle of Liberty. It is altogether depressing to note the insincerity of the leaders of Harvard University in the question of race discrimination which is being fostered there.

"The new questionnaire shows that, notwithstanding their assertions to the contrary, the leaders are still fanning race discrimination at Harvard. What else can it mean? Its purpose is obvious. The questions are wholly at variance with the traditions of Harvard and the spirit of America."

$ixty $uccessful Men Will $how You How To $ucceed

Beginning October 3, and continuing daily thereafter, sixty of America's most successful men, in business, arts and professions, will tell Boston American readers how to succeed. These revelations will be based upon the experiences of the sixty successful men. Be sure to read every word of this modern human philosophy.

Jordan Marsh Company

Where Growth Has Been Continuous and Uninterrupted for Over Seventy Years

We Announce the 9th Term of

Madame Coates' School of

Sewing and Dressmaking

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED BY

Miss Edith M. Trattles

THE work presented in this school is widely recognized as a course of instruction invaluable to all women who appreciate the advantages of being able to make fashionable and perfect fitting garments for themselves or for others.

OVER four thousand women in Boston are now profiting by the instruction received in the Madame Coates' School of Sewing and Dressmaking during the eight previous occasions it has been held in the Jordan Marsh Store.

Two Courses of 12 Lessons Each

The Price of Either Complete Course is Five Dollars

CLASS A

Beginning October 2

Household Sewing

Mondays and Wednesdays, 2:30 to 4:30 P. M.; Fridays, 9:30 to 11:30 A. M.

PRESENTED for the first time in Boston this course meets the ordinary sewing needs of a family and includes the cutting, constructing and fitting of:

Simple Gowns	House Dresses
Morning Dresses	Aprons
Children's Clothing	Doily Rolls
Handy Bags	Undergarments
Vanity Bags	Sewing Cases
Traveling Cases	Card Table Covers
Shoe Bags	Christmas Novelties

CLASS B

Beginning October 3

Dressmaking—Tailoring

This Class Meets Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 2:30 to 4:30 P. M.

THIS COURSE is an analytical and finishing course in cutting, fitting, altering, constructing, draping, trimming and finishing.

Dresses	Lingerie Blouses
Gowns	Fancy Blouses
Toilettes	Tailored Suits
Afternoon Gowns	Tailored Skirts
Dinner Gowns	Traveling Suits
Evening Gowns	Business Suits
Street Dresses	Tailored Costumes

Pupils may enroll in one or both courses—Each course covers a period of four weeks—for less than the cost of having one house dress made

Enrollment for Both Courses Now Going On Application at Small Wares Section

Two Free Explanatory Lectures

Thursday and Friday, September 28 and 29

2:30 P. M., Assembly Hall, 7th Floor, Annex

These lectures fully explain the work of Classes A and B, and what to bring to the first lesson, which is Monday, October 2, for Class A, and Tuesday, October 3, for Class B. Both courses end Friday, October 27.

Miss Trattles will also discuss the season's latest fashion features and will illustrate her talk with gowns, hats, wraps, shoes, and dress accessories, personally selected by her from models imported by Jordan Marsh Company.

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

25c to $1.00 Department Store

Announce

A Grand Opening

OF A

Grand New Store

IN OUR OWN

Grand New Building

NEW STUDIO BUILDING

Tremont and Bromfield Sts.

SATURDAY,

SEPTEMBER 30th

WE EXTEND the invitation to the people of Boston and vicinity to visit our NEW STORE and BUILDING. You really will be surprised at the wonderful merchandise at the low prices which we have to offer. The store you have been waiting for. Our prices will appeal to the Well to Do, as well as the man or woman in moderate circumstances. We cannot begin to tell you of these wonderful values but ask you to accept our most cordial invitation to come and see for yourself. Our great buying power enables us to offer our merchandise at these attractive prices. We mention a few of the important lines in our New Store.

Hosiery	House	Jewelry
Ready to Wear	Furnishings	Ladies'
Muslin	Hardware	Neckwear
Underwear	Electrical	Ribbons
Toys	Radio	Art Goods

POPULAR PRICED MILLINERY DEPT.

Prices range from $1.00 to $5.00. This department alone will more than repay you for your visit to our store.

OUR NEW SODA FOUNTAIN and LUNCH DEPT.

Will appeal to the most discriminating and delicate appetite. One of the most complete and up-to-date Fountain and Lunch Depts. in New England. A place you will remember for its good foods and cleanliness. The Popular Prices will Be a Surprise to You.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 30th

S. S. KRESGE CO.

25c to $1.00 Department Store

NEW STUDIO BUILDING

Tremont and Bromfield Streets

TWO COMPLETE NEWS SECTIONS, TWO FIRST PAGES, TWO FICTION PAGES, 14 AND 15, TWO PAGES OFPICTURES AND COMICS, 13 AND 14

FIRST WITH THE LATEST
Only Boston paper with full leased wires of International, Universal, Cosmopolitan and Associated Press News Services

BOSTON AMERICAN
LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

THIS PAPER IS NOT COMPLETE WITHOUT THE FIRST SECTION—GET BOTH.

2ND SECTION—HOME NEWS
More Pictures, Comics, Fiction and Features than any other Boston Newspaper

CONVICT CALLS MURPHY A. AND P. SLAYER

"Bambino's" Baby Mystery Grows Deeper

SWAT KING MIXED ON DATES

Wife Positive Little Dorothy Was a June Present in the Household

New York, Sept. 25.—The mystery of Babe Ruth's baby grows deeper as a nosey public pries into their records.

Mrs. George Ruth, wife of the ball player, surprised her friends recently when she announced that the baby, christened Dorothy Helen, was her own, and not an adopted child, as had been supposed.

This was looked up by a state agent for Guardian Ruth, the child father. He added that the baby was born February 2, 1921, in the Lying-in Hospital. He could not forget that date for it was his birthday.

NEWS TO CLERGYMAN

Mrs. Ruth, however, said the baby was born June 7, 1921, in St. Vincent's Hospital. She insisted that the correct date and place of the birth of baby Dorothy Helen. Yet the sisters of that hospital say it is not a maternity hospital. There is no record of the baby's birth in the files of Vital Statistics.

Dorothy Helen was christened after, she said Mrs. Ruth. "She was christened in a Roman Catholic church. I can't remember the church, but it was somewhere on Ninth street."

At such Catholic church on Sixth street is St. Catherine's, in the East street on the East Side, but a Sister on the clerical staff has no record of christening Dorothy Helen Ruth.

The daughter of Babe Ruth" h[illegible] surprise. "Oh, I'd remember becoming his baby."

BABE IS MUM NOW.

About six weeks ago, a close friend of Ruth said he heard the baby's name while holding the child in his powerful arms, at a lobby of the Hotel Ansonia.

How do you like my baby? I'm going to adopt her."

The Babe is saying nothing now. Attempts to communicate with Mrs. Ruth for further information on [illegible]

REPULSE ATTACK OF REBELS ON TUXPAM

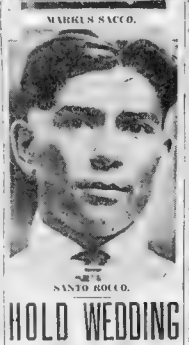
Vera Cruz, Sept 25.—The port of Tuxpam was attacked by rebels last Friday, according to advices just received here. The Sinet Federal garrison found the attackers to retreat. The retreat are said to be operating under the leadership of Police Chief Guadalupe Sanchez, chief of military operations in the district, has gone to the capital to confer with President Obregon as to the advisability of another military campaign to rid the oil region of all rebels.

DORCHESTER PEOPLE PROTEST ON GARAGE

A [illegible] of men and women who reside in the vicinity of Harvard street, Dorchester, led by Councilor Gaine A. Watson, invaded the [illegible] commissioners office today to oppose the petition of Sam Schwartz and others to erect a public garage. [illegible] and Harvard streets. [illegible] Chairman Dunn postponed decision to give Mr. Schwartz counsel, Joseph Lundy, an opportunity to appear.

In Wedding Fight

MARCUS SACCO.



SANTO ROCCO.

HOLD WEDDING GUESTS IN KNIFE FIGHT

The aftermath of what promised to be a happy East Boston wedding was staged in East Boston Court today when five of the guests were fined $15 each for drunken [illegible] and another was held in $500 bail, charged with [illegible] with [illegible] of the bride. With [illegible] out of the [illegible] Three [illegible] who [illegible] they [illegible] been invited to the wedding party, are at the East Boston Relief Hospital. The bride [illegible] soldering out her [illegible] [illegible] Rocco Sacco [illegible] Lena Sacco of No. 7 Benham street, East Boston, one of the [illegible] when the police raided [illegible] and stopped the party, is charged with striking Marcus Sacco [illegible] identified him when he was taken to the hospital today. The other two injured men [illegible] to identify him. Santo pushed out [illegible] with [illegible] arrested in the [illegible] Boston Court. He case was continued until October 3. He [illegible] to secure bonds.

The [illegible] charged with interfering [illegible] Constable Hagop Jamgochian [illegible] Santo Rocco [illegible] Joseph Sacco [illegible] Ralph Sacco [illegible] They had their [illegible]

Police say that the party was [illegible] when [illegible] started [illegible] and Miss [illegible] Sacco [illegible] Marcus [illegible] [illegible] Sacco [illegible] [illegible] Santo [illegible] refused entrance, according to the police, and then explained that they were friends of the groom, George Rossetto and the bride, Constance Scalica.

Patrick Sacco

Melvin Sacco

DOROTHY CLARK HAS VANISHED

Disappears Just as Authorities Start Inquiry of Charges Against Rawlinson

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25.—Dorothy Clark has disappeared.

The young dancer whose sensational charges against Herbert Rawlinson, screen star, has stirred film circles, was last seen Saturday when she left her mother on a downtown street corner at 3 o'clock.

She was expected home for dinner. It was not until she failed to arrive during yesterday that her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Clark, became fearful that harm might have befallen the girl.

With District Attorney Woolwine scheduled to take action in the allegations by the girl and her mother, in which Rawlinson is charged with attacking her on two occasions, her dropping out of sight has lent another link in the intricate [illegible] circumstances that has surrounded her life since her association with the screen star.

MAY BE IN HIDING.

Has she, brooding over the notoriety that has been thrust upon her by the action of her mother, sought seclusion at the home of some of her friends?

Has she surreptitiously returned to her husband, Karl Elms, who she [illegible] has frequently offered to receive her once again as his wife?

Has she, in a fit of despondency, ended her life?

Two circumstances in connection with continued absence [illegible] in the case.

LEFT SATURDAY

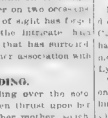
First, at the time she left her mother on Saturday afternoon she said to have had only a small amount of money. This fact is thought to have precluded her having traveled any distance of her own accord.

Second, the fact that for several nights previously, two rough-[illegible] strangers are said to have been loitering around the apartment at No. 1645 North Harvard boulevard where the girl and her mother have been residing.

"HELLO" GIRL WEDS WATERBURY MAN

Lawrence, Sept 25.—Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Maud Cahill [illegible] Lawrence, [illegible] Chandler [illegible] Waterbury, Ct., [illegible] manager of the Southern New England Telephone company. The bride was formerly employed as a "hello girl" in the Lawrence exchange of the company. Mr. Chandler is a graduate of Yale university.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles H. Booth of the First Congregational Church of Lawrence. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes L. Kirk as bridesmaid. Mr. Webster is a direct descendant of Daniel Webster.



Mrs. John Webster.

BOY HANGS SELF IN PHYSICAL EXERCISE

Fall River, Sept. [illegible] years, 17 years old, a pupil of the [illegible] Junior High school, was found dead hanging to a cross bar [illegible] in rear of his home. [illegible] Jeremy, [illegible] with a leather [illegible] around his neck.

The boy's father found the body and stated that his son had been in the habit of going into the shed each day to take physical exercise.

Policeman In Shafts Hauls Drunk to Wakefield Cell

Joseph Dolan of Armory street, Wakefield, dropped on the street near his home, unconscious from liquor, the police say. Police Chief James J. Pollard saw him and rang for the patrol wagon.

The patrol was out. So the chief went to a barn and got a light delivery wagon. Having no horse he called Patrolman Hardy Russell and put him between the shafts. Dolan was bundled into the wagon, and, with Russell in front and Chief Pollard behind, pushing, the cavalcade started for the station.

Before reaching the station the wagon was hauled past several hundred returning churchgoers in Wakefield square. Dolan was locked in a cell on a drunk charge.

8 MAROONED ON ROCKS, 10 IN BOATS SAVED

Eight persons were rescued from a swamping shell on Station Coast Guard crew from Nahant, after they had been marooned on half submerged rocks off Lynn Shore Drive, Lynn.

Three boys, who had waded out on Red Rock, near the Swampscott line at low tide, were caught when the tide rose and [illegible] to the rocks. They were [illegible] by the [illegible] and [illegible] brought to safety.

The boys gave their names as Herbert Matthews, fourteen years old, of Walnut and Herbert Bliss, seventeen and twelve years old respectively. All live in Lynn. A heavy sea was running, and the boys would have been wash[illegible] from the rocks before the coast guards arrived a little later.

On their way back to Nahant the guards rode [illegible] of a [illegible] Rock, which [illegible] broke off shore. Going to [illegible] to find a man, he was [illegible] and [illegible] by the [illegible] [illegible] the high waves made the work of rescuing difficult.

After rescuing the [illegible] to the shores with [illegible] Point and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] a second [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

HOW DO I GET OUT OF THIS HOTEL IN CASE OF FIRE?
MINDENT BOYS
JUMP OUT OF THE WINDOW AND TURN TO THE RIGHT

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

PLANS UNDER WAY TO MATCH SIKI AND DEMPSEY FOR TITLE

NEW RING STAR EAGER TO FIGHT CHAMPION

Georges Out for Three Hours; Jaw Broken, Wrist Sprained

Carpentier did not recover consciousness for three hours. The surgeon who was hurriedly summoned to the Carpentier apartment reported that the French fighter's jaw was broken and that he had a dislocated wrist and two broken fingers. It was a grand fight if you like the sort of fight this was. In America it would probably be termed a burlesque.

Continued From First Page.

end condition. Now, they feel his confidence would carry him through.

BADLY BEATEN.

Carpentier passed a good night after the hammering he got in the bout, Deschamps told visitors. The swelling of the face seemed somewhat reduced, but the left foot is twice its normal size from the twisting which the partisans of Georges contend it suffered when he fell as he went down for the last time. Even his friends, however, do not claim that Siki could find him or that Georges could have continued the fight.

The ex-champion's thumb is out of commission and his right hand is broken from the hard but ineffective blows he planted on Siki, who came out of the fight 'fresh as a rose,' as his manager expressed it. All agree that Siki was not marked by Carpintier's punches and that his head is the most nearly invulnerable part of his anatomy.

Deschamps is a one in insisting that Siki tropped his man. He said he might file a protest with the boxing federation and would in any event file a formal challenge for a return match.

"If Georges," said his manager, after receiving the news had been willing to wait with his kloe on the floor for the count of nine he might have resumed the fight without difficulty but he did not wish to give the public a bad impression of him self 'Carpentier down!' he thought 'never that.' As for the tripping, the movies will prove that without the slightest doubt '

FOUL FIGHTING.

Carpentier himself is severely criticised for his delivery of low blows, his butting and his rushing into Siki's corner at the start of the fifth round; as well as for other possible questionable conduct in the ring; while Siki is generally conceded to be a clean fighter, and, above all, as having shown a reluctance to continue smashing Carpentier when the latter was unable longer to defend himself.

The Carpentier-Siki bout has crowded virtually everything else off the front pages of the Paris newspapers and has obscured the Turco-Greek conflict in public interest. Uqth last night and today business generally was slowed down by the absorbed discussion of the event.

Rickard Rushes Agents to Siki to Sign Him Up

Next on the fight screen—

Battling Siki versus Jack Dempsey.

The ferocious Senegalese fighter against the present heavyweight champion.

The news of Siki's decisive victory over Georges Carpentier, idol of France—now a fallen idol—did not had hardly been finished to this side of the Atlantic from Paris when the thoughts of all fightdom leaped to the idea of the black battler from Senegal being matched against the dominant Dempsey.

Dempsey knocked out Carpentier in the fourth round on Boyle's Thirty Acres at Jersey City in July, 1921.

TOUGH SCRAPPERS.

Siki battered Carpentier to a shuddering pulp in six rounds in Paris. Senegalese are tough scrappers. Ask any of our soldier lads who were "over there" and had chance to observe the ecstatic ferocity of pouring Senegal soldier wherever the fighting is good.

The bitter defeat of Carpentier has kicked up new interest in the plans for a battle for the world's heavyweight title, interest both here and abroad.

It is off with Willis and on with Siki in the eyes of fast-working promoters.

Siki is no stranger to either Dempsey or Kearns, his manager, as they were considering the new black European champion as a possible match for Dempsey on his recent trip abroad.

But the new conqueror of Carpentier was no drawing card at that time. The plans for a match fell through, as did the plans for a bout with Carpentier.

The Siki-Dempsey battle will apparently be put over until the passing of a few years Siki can have settled down over here. Two Red Cross representatives sailed from New York today with orders to put a price on their head, to be paid by the government.

From the reports he received on the ability of Siki, and the exploits of the new star's career, as transmitted over the cable, Rickard is confident even now that Siki would give Champion Dempsey a harder battle than did Carpentier.

TEX RICKARD'S VIEW.

"I am not losing any time in starting negotiations with Siki," said Rickard after receiving accounts of the Senegalese triumph over Carpentier.

"His knockout of Carpentier has been one of the biggest surprises I have experienced during my association with boxing. He must be a great fighter to conquer Carpentier.

"Two of my representatives have sailed today for France and will deal personally with him and his manager. I will outline my offer in a cable tomorrow when I will also request of Siki and his manager that they do nothing until they hear directly from my representatives."

London Amazed at Carpentier's Defeat

By FORBES W. FAIRBAIRN,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Special Cable to Universal Service.

London, Sept. 25.—Sporting circles in London were thunderstruck at the result of the Siki-Carpentier bout in Paris. Siki was practically unknown here and Carpentier was heavily backed, as there was absolutely no expectation of his being defeated.

Negotiations have already been opened to bring Siki to London at an early date to meet the British champion.

YOUNG MONTREAL PUNCHING HARD

Young Montreal and his bald dome continue to whirl along merrily in the fistic parade. The Providence scrapper did a [illegible] to [illegible] Saturday night, knocking out Babe Asher.

There are a lot of people who figure that Montreal—as Meehan of Providence—would be able to win the bantamweight championship from Joe Lynch. The latter looked anything but a titleholder in his recent bout with Kid Wolfe.

Young Montreal

Arlington Opens Season

Arlington High will open its season Saturday afternoon with the Lynn Classical School team at Arlington, and play Somerville High second on October 6.

BATTLING SIKI EAGER TO KAYO "TIGER JACK"

This husky Senegalese, who got his first training as a fighter going over the top on the western front, believes he can knock out Jack Dempsey. Tex Rickard is prepared to give Siki a chance at the champion.

Carpentier Knocked Out by Siki in Sixth Round

By BASIL D. WOON,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Special Wireless to Universal Service.

Paris, Sept. 25.—Georges Carpentier has passed into ring history. He was beaten literally insensible by the big Senegalese, Battling Siki who becomes the light heavyweight champion of Europe.

The fight lasted six rounds but Carpentier practically received a knockout in the third round, staggering through the other three rounds blinded and powerless to land a blow.

Carpentier was the victim of his own over-confidence, coupled with the tremendous kick behind Siki's fight.

Siki, however, was nearer knocked out at the finish than any champion ever was. He passed out in a clinch, after hearing the referee, Amid a near riot, give the fight to Carpentier on the ground that Siki fouled him.

As Carpentier himself deliberately butted the negro just before the finish, the crowd thought it was Carpentier who had been disqualified, and when the 60,000 fans understood that the fight had been given to Carpentier, it looked like trouble. In fact the place might have been wrecked in another minute, had not the judges revoked the referee's unfair decision, and finally, after ten minutes' deliberation, awarded the fight to the Senegalese.

Carpentier's own supporters were the loudest against the first decision, the women standing on chairs and yelling:

"Siki, Siki!"

"Carpentier is through forever," declared his manager, Descamps to me after the fight."

However, friends of Carpentier are already clamoring for a return fight claiming that the champion was undertrained.

The fight by rounds:

First Round—Siki is the picture of nervousness. He cannot make up his mind to punch; seems afraid who is dancing all around throwing swings at his body fields in his guard. Siki misses Carpentier at Carp and Jabs with his left. Siki breaks, swings and misses Carp swings to the jaw and Siki goes down to one knee for the count of seven. Siki clinches.

Second Round—Nearly all fighting Carpentier lands a wicked one, bringing blood from Siki's nose. Siki is growing more confident and lands several hard ones. Carpentier is not so cocksure, but the round is Carpentier's.

Round Three—Carpentier lands on Siki's jaw. The Senegalese aways and recovers and at once lands behind Carp's left ear. Carpentier goes down for the count of four. Siki carries the fight to the ring position, landing repeatedly on Carp's face. Carp is bleeding badly. Siki lands to Carp's jaw and Carp returns the compliment. Both are badly dazed. The round is Siki's.

Round Four—Siki is landing as he likes. Carp is out on his feet, taking terrible punishment in the face.

Round Five—A continuation of the situat on in the fourth round.

Round Six—Carpentier is landed His wrist has to be bandaged Siki is not much better. Siki lands on Carp's mouth. Carp is out.

Then the referee awarded the fight to Carpentier on a foul, and a near riot ensued with the result that the

GREB IS READY FOR TUNNEY CONTEST

New York, Sept. 25.—Harry Greb, the fighting heavyweight champion, will probably remain his peace while taking [illegible] months a few days. The Pittsburgher is [illegible] hard [illegible] fans [illegible] Greb will [illegible] early to [illegible] in action. He said the next place [illegible] will [illegible] in the world but he's so full of pep and animation that he makes a big hit. At that time the sport will [illegible] need of some stars, for most of the rapid boys are laid up on the shelf.

Greb is cleaning the decks or rather we should say his manager is trading sails for another bout with Gene Tunney. Harry won his title from Gene in one of the most sensational scraps ever seen around this part of the country. It was a battle that proved without a doubt that Tunney could "take it" and fight back furiously.

Harry Greb

Jeffersons Want Games

The Jefferies A. C. of East Boston desire to book a few more Sunday games (preferably away from home). Would like to hear from any strong team in the State, averaging 130-135 pounds, that can offer a reasonable guarantee. Communicate with W. E. Malone, 440 Newbury street, Boston, or phone Back Bay 20150, between 6 and 7 P. M.

judges had to take the decision under reconsideration, finally giving the fight to the negro.

Paris Staggered by Defeat of Idol

Paris, Sept. 25.—From out of the murk of obscurity into the glare of international publicity soared the big ebony Battling Siki, Senegalese boxer, through his sensational defeat of Georges Carpentier.

Paris will grasps over the tremendous upset of all pugilistic dope when an unknown, rated by the "wise ones" as a bum, made the graceful, clever "idol of France" appear like a novice and battered him about the ring at will.

And today Battling Siki is being feted along the boulevard cafes and touted by many as the most European challenger of Dempsey.

WEARS A WILD SMILE.

One of the most distinguishing characteristics of the Senegalese is the wide smile he wears entering the ring. This discloses the perfect row of white teeth typical of the negro. And as he fights his smile narrows to a fierce and awesome leer.

Like a leopard he makes great leaps about the ring when evading the attacks of a foeman. And frequently he leaps as he strikes. This jumping tendency, coupled with the grin, and the symmetrical lines of his body make him one of the most picturesque fighters ever seen in America.

Siki was one of the Senegalese soldiers brought to the western front during the war. It was while in the army that he gained knowledge of boxing and since then has been boxing and living in this country.

Battling Siki was unknown, except to a few small-time managers and small fight arena directors, up to recently, when he achieved some notoriety by knocking out Harry Reeve, a former light heavyweight champion of England, and later won he outpointed Marcel Nilles in fifteen rounds in Paris.

FINALLY GOT MATCH.

It was after this latter fight that Francois Descampes, Carpentier's manager, who is rated as one of the best and shrewdest judges of fighters in the country asserted Siki was such a dangerous fighter he would permit Carpentier to meet him.

Fight promoters refused to enthuse over the probabilities of a match between the unknown negro and the popular Carpentier. In fact, in view of the extreme lack of interest in such a meeting it is rather difficult to understand how the bout came to be arranged.

Siki has never lost a fight in France and so, presumably, has never been defeated.

He possesses terrific punching power, the bout with Carpentier showed. Also he has a knowledge of both defence and offence. He is a crafty ringster and has a bewildering way of feinting.

While there are no accurate figures as to his measurement available just at present, Siki is larger than Carpentier and apparently much stronger. His has massive muscled shoulders.

All Paris is already discussing the chance he would have against Dempsey, and it is a certainty that, if he continues to display such form as he did against Carpentier, overtures will be made to the champion by French promoters.

KOTSONAROS IN TOUGH MAT BATTLE

George Kotsonaros, Greek light-heavyweight champion, is very liable to receive a outback when he battles Ivan Mi [illegible] tonight in a finish bout at the Grand Opera House Thursday night.

Michaloff has grappled with most of the world's leading heavyweight stars and figures he will be ready for the Greek title holder who has won two straight bouts in Boston.

The wrestling will find Paul Bowser, [illegible] a come-back with Frank Dutcher as an opponent. This is a grudge bout. The pair planned to settle their differences in a private go, but were finally induced to settle their affairs in a regular match. Louis Bartles will meet Young Golch in the prelim.

Paul Bowser.

DALEY TO COACH CASEY GRIDDERS

Lee Daley, former Boston College captain and present coach of Hyde Park High of the Pere Marquette Council, K. of C. football team for the season. More than forty candidates were on hand for first practice and School, has been engaged to coach from present indications the council will have the best team in its history. Among the veterans who have already reported are Manning, Santry, Captain Van Planaky, Colina, Conway, Ryan, Kirby, C. O'Brien, Geeley, Hurley, McDonald, O'Connor Carr, Gavin and Flaherty.

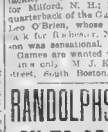
The sport will be greatly strengthened by the acquisition of McClusky, former Boston College tackle; Hodgen, who played halfback for Milford, N. H.; McNevin, star quarterback of the Gustin A. C., and Leo O'Brien, whose work on fullback for Rahway, N. J., last season was sensational.

Games are wanted with first-class teams only. Wm J. King, 79 Tudor street, South Boston.

Ivo Daley

RANDOLPHS JUMP ON TO GRIDIRON

The Randolph All Stars, after a fairly successful season at baseball, are out to gain further prestige in football this season. Richard Palfrey, who was also one of the best half-backs in the Milton End last year, will be back again this fall. Manager Dulles would like to arrange games with all elevens in the Cambridge Club, Adrian A. A. and other strong 125-135-pound teams in New England. For game write to Frank Dulles, 17 Kearsarge avenue, Roxbury, or phone Roxbury 4223 W.



Richard Palfrey

HARVARD FRESHIES REPORT FOR GRID

Coach Snow has issued the call to Harvard freshmen to report at the Locker Building for their first practice in Harvard togs. If the demonstration made by aspirants for Coach Fisher's varsity is any harbinger, Coach Snow will find a large aggregation waiting to be initiated into Harvard football ways.

Coach Shaw said of his freshman prospects this fall that it looked like peaches and cream, on paper. A big bunch of school football stars express their desire to enter Harvard, but there is usually a blue pencil in a professor's hand between them and attendance.

However, Snow is sure to count on Joe McGlone of Exeter and Jake Stafford of Newton High. These two men come to Harvard with great reputations as schoolboy quarterbacks and will have the fight between them as to who will run the Harvard eleven after Charley Buell departs.

Concord Plays Maynard

Concord High will play its first game Saturday afternoon with Maynard High.

PICK SHEVLIN TO WIN OVER TRAMBITAS

By JACK CONWAY.

Eddie Shevlin, proud boss of our New England welterweights, will have to fight every bit as good as he did against George Ward at Revere to win the decision over Alex Trambitas of California in their ten-round bout at the Arena A. C.'s show at the Boston Arena tonight.

Trambitas has fought a draw with Dave Shade, while he handed Steve Latzo a pasting in his Boston debut. As Alex will be in much better condition tonight than he was a week ago when he walloped his way to a decisive victory, Shevlin will have a very busy evening.

Trambitas is the type of fighter that has always caused Shevlin bother. The Coast welterweight is not only a classy boxer, but he is aggressive and an inside puncher. He is a mighty difficult man to handle once he gets within the five-inch zone, as it were.

Alex Trambitas

At the Arena last week, Trambitas won over Latzo by forcing his way to close quarters and then counting with short, damaging left and right hand smashes to the head and body. The blows landed with crushing effect and soon took all the combative qualities out of Latzo.

McCarthy Says Body Blows Will Conquer Shevlin

"Trambitas' body blows will beat Shevlin tonight," remarked Joe McCarthy, manager of the Californian. "Alex hits hard to the body," continued Large Joseph, "and this is one spot where Shevlin cannot take them. Eddie is not as young as he used to be and I don't think he will be able to stand up under a heavy bombardment to the body.

"Trambitas will hammer away at Shevlin's body. This type of campaign will wear Dartmouth Eddie down and result in a victory for the Californian. We shall then be ready to take another whirl at Dave Shade."

Shevlin Is Prepared For a Torrid Tussle

Shevlin, best boxoffice attraction in New England, is not worrying about the outcome of the fray. As usual, the Roxbury favorite has got himself into the best possible condition for the bout.

Shevlin, who has an abundance of brains, figures he will not only outbox Trambitas but he also believes he will outfight his rival at close quarters.

Billy Hegerson, Shevlin's manager, saw Trambitas in action against Latzo.

"I was glad to see that Alex will walk in and punch with an opponent," said Henderson. "Of late," continued Henderson, "Shevlin has been trading blows with his rivals. This is how he won over George Ward. The latter is a brilliant boxer and is bigger physically than Eddie. But when this pair met at Revere, Shevlin got to close quarters where he outfought Ward and won the decision."

Winner of Bout to Get Shot at Dave Shade

The winner of tonight's fracas will probably be matched to meet Dave Shade at the Arena. Leo Flynn has informed Matchmaker Tom Goodwin of the Arena that the star of the Shade family is anxious to show in Boston.

What could be a better match than the winner of tonight's bout against Dave Shade?

There will also be three eights, Frankie Quill will oppose Rocky Smith, Red Chapman will oppose Bert Jones, while Frankie Wallace will quarrel with Jimmy Manning.

Ouimet Beats Guilford

Newport, R. I., Sept. 25.—Fifteen hundred people witnessed the second day's play in the exhibition golf match at T. Suffern Tailer's Ocean links between Jesse Guilford and Francis Ouimet. The latter won by two up on the 36th hole after a thrilling match.

Will Play at Chelmsford

The Concord Junction town team has booked a game for Saturday afternoon at Chelmsford.

Jack Conway Picks Shevlin to Win Over Trambitas

W	L
60	9

"Monday was a shady," murmured Jack Conway as the shook his right duke in the general direction of his typewriter today. "Some people think they have a tough life because they have to do the washing for twelve or fourteen kids.

"And all I have got to do is to pick the winner or tonight's bout and I've got a headache. That's because Eddie Shevlin is on the card. He's got my number. He's been responsible for three of my losses, or rather I should say I've been the guilty party as I have had my difficulties getting Shevlin in the league of dope.

"Anyhow I'm going to pick Dartmouth Eddie to win over Alex Trambitas tonight. I suppose now that I have picked Shevlin to win, this bird Trambitas will count with enough of those short, sharp jolts to the head and body to land the decision. But I'll stand by Eddie until the dear old chimes sound at the end of the tenth frame."

Jack then mumbled a few more words about how soft Monday is for some people with only wash day to think about and passed out into Summer street to give his think reservoir an airing.

P. C. .869

BASEBALL PLAYER STRICKEN IN FIELD

Providence, Sept. 25.—Ernest Levesque, twenty years old, of Centredale, was stricken with a heart attack while playing a game of baseball with an amateur team here and died while in an automobile on his way to a physician. Levesque, who was catching, collapsed just after throwing the ball back to the pitcher during the fourth inning.

We Challenge the World!

The new VIM Truck will out-perform any truck of similar capacity in the world in speed, hill-climbing and economy of operation. We will prove this by demonstration or competition. Interested?

Vim Motor Truck Company of N. E.
1106-08 Commonwealth Ave.

The NEW VIM 1/2-3/4 TON TRUCK

PREPARE FOR OPPORTUNITY AT THE K OF C
Evening School
Short Practical Courses Free to All Ex-Service Men
Some courses open to others on fee covering actual cost.
Fall Term, Oct. 2 to Dec. 22
REGISTER NOW
AT 199 MASS. AVE.
Evenings 7 to 9:30

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON'S LIVE WIRES — DISABLED VETS OF FISHER'S CAVE BUSINESS COLLEGE — VON HINDENBURG NASH — "FROSTY FACE" NUGENT — "SLAM" O'DONNELL — GOOD LOOKING MULLIN — HAPPY McCARTHY — ROCKY ODELL — ONE TEACHER WHITING — "PLUMBER JAKE" — BARNEFER KELLY — "BRAINLESS" BRENNAN SHEEHAN — "HEAVY" SHEEHAN — WHAT'S YOUR LIST?

SPORTS

BIG THREE PREXIES START THINGS WITH NEW SPORT RULES

FACULTY COACHING ROUSES COMMENT

By CHARLES E. PARKER

He made a wise crack, but his dope was twisted.
What I mean, that writer feller who pulled the line:
Cahots speak only to Lowells,
"And Lowells speak only to God."

Taxe, Trinstance, A. Lawrence Lowell.

A. Lawrence Lowell has spoken to an Angell (J. R. Angell, president of Yale), and the two of 'em conferred with Hibben (not Heaven), president of Princeton, and the three of 'em have evolved a set of nine commandments for the conduct of college athletics, over which the well known world now wazes warmly.

These commandments would take the very bread from the mouths of our best tramp athletes; they would make the college athletic coach work for his money and then get less money than he now is receiving, and they would conduct the game of football (schedules, out-of-town trips, etc.) in a manner in which only Harvard, Yale and Princeton and several other large institutions could conduct it without loss of prestige or pelf.

In the first instance above noted the commandments are deserving of praise and approval. In the second instance they are open for debating and experiment. In the third instance they are apt to be knocked sky high and disobeyed (except by Harvard, Yale and Princeton with zeal and fervor.

Commandments Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 tacitly admit past practices of conducting college athletics along virtually professional lines, for they disapprove of preparatory school proselyting in which special inducements are made or other institutions spoken of disparagingly; they bar from college athletics athletes who have transferred from other colleges after having gained athletic fame; they place the so-called athletic scholarships, grants and loans under the supervision of an officer of the university; they seek to oust from college competition athletes who have commercial used their athletic ability.

All Interested Will Approve the Commandments

Except in the last listed case no person, interested in the betterment of college athletics, will fail to approve the commandments. Since the college athletic agitation started several years ago it had been only a question of time when such regulations would be demanded, and the H-Y-P prexies have beaten others to it in mapping out the laws.

But barring from college competition students, who have commercialized their athletic ability, will cause much debate. Summer baseball, the ground work and Summer camp activities, in which it is safe to say athletes from every college have engaged, constitute unquestionably violations of the proposed rule.

Sponsors of the purely Corinthian college athletics will approve but there will be many who will question the sale and the ability of the college authorities to enforce it. It has been tried before without marked success.

It Will Be Curious to Watch the Coaches

Commandment No. 6 has to do with the coaches. It will be interesting to watch its working and to learn what the present crop of athletic instructors have to say of it.

For the most part college coaches have been men ensnared in business or profession, who for the salaries paid by the university authorities, plus added reward of valuable consideration gained from wealthy, ultra loyal alumni, plus the picking up of an occasional dollar through newspaper or athletic journal articles, have felt repaid in neglecting said business, or profession, for the particular season of their particular branch of sport.

Wonder What They'll Say When They Hear the News

When they are told they must join the faculty; stay by the dear old alma mater from one year's end to the other, and eschew all coin except that stipulated in their contract with the university, we wonder what they will say, we have an idea how they will say it.

But the application of commandment No. 6 is essentially an experiment, which, however much criticised by present day coaches, may be conducted with success. Time alone will tell.

Commandments Nos. 6 and 7 are those which rub the grain of college other than Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, Syracuse and a few more.

Commandment No. 6 would prohibit trips by football teams and limit the bulk of the games to the respective local athletic field. Commandment No. 7 tells that Harvard, Yale, Princeton managers in their games only with such teams as comply with all the foregoing commandments.

Are Located Close to Popular Cities

Now, Harvard, Yale and Princeton are located in or sufficiently close to populous cities to assure huge attendances and correspondingly large gate receipts at all home games. So, too, are the other institutions above mentioned. But how about Cornell, Dartmouth, Penn State and numerous other colleges and universities, whose campuses are far off the beaten path?

They, like Harvard, Yale and Princeton, rely largely upon their football income to maintain the expense of intercollegiate and intra-collegiate athletics, under which thousands of students benefit. When the crowds can't come to the teams, the teams must go to the crowds. We doubt the general acceptance and application of a rule specially designed by and adaptable to the "Big Three."

Commandment No. 8 is for the prexies and their aids, who would lessen undue emphasis upon athletics, and football in particular.

Commandment No. 9 gives the general public opportunity to prepare for what is to come, for it reads:

"The foregoing regulations shall go into effect January 1, 1923."

The Future Greats

Jimmy Holden, playing an end on the Malden eleven, is a sterling player. A year on the Malden line as a tackle makes this lad just the man wanted by Coach McDonald to turn back the surges of opposing backs.

* * *

Jim Walsh, quarterback of St. John's Prep, used poor judgment in playing Everett on Saturday. As soon as Jim realizes that a line plunge making four yards at each smash of the line is good progress, the sooner St. John's will get into the victory column.

Today's Dope On Pennant Races

Going into the last week of the pennant races of the National and American leagues the Giants and Yankees find themselves needing but one more game to clinch the pennants. The worst the two teams can get is a tie, even if they lose their remaining games while the Pirates and Browns are winning the rest of their contests.

The Giants can clinch the pennant today if they defeat the Cardinals. If they fail today they have another chance tomorrow against the same team. If they fail again they have a double chance when they meet the Phillies in two games on Wednesday.

In the American League the Yanks cannot clinch their right to participate in the World's Series until next Thursday, when they open a three-game series against the Red Sox.

In the meantime, the contending Pirates and Browns will be idle for the first few days of the week. The Pirates do not engage in another game until Saturday. The Browns play their final three games with the White Sox starting next Friday.

The Giants have eight more games to play. If the Giants win but one game while the Pirates are winning their three contests, the final standing will be:

Team	Won	Lost
New York	89	65
Pittsburgh	88	66

If the Yankees only win one game of their remaining four contests, while the Browns are winning three games the standing will be:

Team	Won	Lost
New York	94	60
St. Louis	93	61

Captain Henry Blackman of Somerville High played alert football against the heavy Providence Tech team. Intercepting a forward pass, recovering two fumbles and rushing the ball for a total of 60 yards is a fair day's work.

Harvard Star Who Put the Foot in Football

Home Run Hitters in Yesterday's Games

Hornsby, Cards	2
Wheat, Dodgers	1
Ruiser, Athletics	1
High, Dodgers	1
Adams, Pirates	1

TOTAL TO DATE

American League	510
National League	506
Total	1016

HOME RUNS IN 1921

American League	477
National League	460
Total	937

HAVERHILL SCHOOLS IN THE LIMELIGHT

By FRED C. LANE

Major league methods used to football authority at St. James' and Haverhill highs proved valuable at [illegible]

Training camps in the country, the ablest coaches in the business, first class equipment and suitable grounds have given the two leading high schools of that city a standing that no other high schools in New England enjoy.

While the scholastic season is only a week old and while most coaches are experimenting with green material, Coaches Broderick and Carroll have developed already scoring machines of power.

Seldom have school teams, as such an early date exhibited such strength both on attack and defense as the Haverhill teams displayed. Haverhill High won over Gardiner High of Maine 39 to 0, and St. James' triumphed over Somersworth High of New Hampshire 100 to 0. These victories prove that early season work and things done in big style bring big results.

Bill Broderick

William Broderick has [illegible] ing football at Haverhill for [illegible] years. Haverhill has [illegible] with the leaders always. On two occasions it won the state championship and when not playing for that title has gone through the season undefeated.

This year Broderick could foresee obstacles in his path to the state title and as a result Fred Ostergren, former Holy Cross player, and now [illegible] at Bowdoin College, was employed to whip the green material into shape.

Practically the same story can be told of St. James High piloted by "Dodger" Carroll. Coach Carroll is a firm believer in early season training. Since he has taken the Catholic School football team in hand the progress of the Haverhill private school has been by leaps and bounds. In three years, St. James High has become the leading school in the country.

Nothing is spared at this school to build a strong eleven. The popularity of the St. James team is shown by the requests of out-of-state teams for games.

The Paul school of Chicago will play the Haverhill boys at [illegible] on Dec. 2, Leonard High of Baltimore and Catholic High of Philadelphia will play in Haverhill on November 4 and 25, respectively.

Newton Highs coach "Abe" Dickinson, one of the ablest mentors in the game, follows the Haverhill principles. He carries over from the previous year a goodly number of men who, although they sit on the bench for the entire season, they absorb enough football in watching the play of their first string teammates to be able to jump into the same the next year seasoned veterans.

Everett High School football team after years in the cellar of the Suburban League, has been given new life by Coach George Brickley. Holding St. John's Prep powerful eleven to no-score is a feat worth praise.

On taking the reins dropped by Gardiner Hazen, Coach Brickley had little material. With the help of former Everett stars Everett should stand out in the Suburban League fight.

College Grid Games

EAST

Harvard vs. Middlebury, at Cambridge.
Dartmouth vs. Norwich, at Hanover.
Yale vs. Carnegie Tech, at New Haven.
Princeton vs. Johns Hopkins, at Princeton.
Cornell vs. St. Bonaventure, at Ithaca.
Pennsylvania vs. Franklin & Marshall, at Philadelphia.
Penn State vs. William & Mary, at State College.
Pittsburgh vs. Cincinnati, at Cincinnati.
Syracuse vs. Muhlenburg, at Syracuse.
Amherst vs. Bowdoin, at Amherst.
Brown vs. R. I. State, at Providence.
Colby vs. Boston University, at Waterville.
Colgate vs. Clarkson, at Hamilton.
Columbia vs. Ursinus, at New York.
Fordham vs. Canisius, at New York.
Holy Cross vs. Providence, at Worcester.
Lafayette vs. Richmond, at Easton.
Lehigh vs. Gettysburg, at Bethlehem.
Maine vs. Vermont, at Orono.
New Hampshire State vs. Bates, at Durham.
Rutgers vs. Pennsylvania Military, at Brunswick.
Trinity vs. Lowell Textile, at Hartford.
Tufts vs. Connecticut Aggies, at Medford.
Army vs. Lebanon Valley and Springfield, at West Point.
Washington and Jefferson vs. Westminster, at Washington.
Wesleyan vs. Union, at Middletown.
West Virginia vs. West Virginia Wesleyan, at Morgantown.
Williams vs. Hamilton, at Williamstown.

WEST

California vs. Santa Clara, at Berkeley.
Detroit vs. Wilmington, at Detroit.
Notre Dame vs. Kalamazoo, at Notre Dame.
Oregon vs. Pacific, at Eugene.
Alabama vs. Marion, at Tuscaloosa.
Clemson vs. Centre, at Clemson.
Georgia vs. Mercer, at Athens.
Georgia Tech vs. Oglethorpe, at Atlanta.
Kentucky vs. Marshall, at Lexington.
North Carolina State vs. Road Macon, at Raleigh.
South Carolina vs. Erskine, at Columbia.
Tennessee vs. Carson-Newman, at Knoxville.
Virginia vs. George Washington, at Charlottesville.
Washington & Lee vs. Emory & Henry, at Lexington.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

National League	W.	L.	P.C.	New Clubs Will Stand Tonight W.	L.
New York	88	58	.603	.603	.599
Pittsburgh	85	60	.586	.586	.558
St. Louis	82	66	.554	.557	.550
Cincinnati	82	69	.543	.550	.543
Chicago	78	71	.523	.527	.520
Brooklyn	74	76	.493	.497	.490
Philadelphia	55	92	.374	.374	.374
BOSTON	50	97	.340	.340	.340

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

St. Louis 10, New York 6.
Brooklyn 4, Pittsburgh 2 (first game).
Pittsburgh 11, Brooklyn 5 (second game).

GAMES TODAY.

St. Louis at New York.
Pittsburgh at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.

American League	W.	L.	P.C.	New Clubs Will Stand Tonight W.	L.
New York	93	57	.620	.620	.620
St. Louis	90	61	.596	.598	.596
Detroit	79	73	.520	.520	.520
Chicago	77	74	.510	.510	.510
Cleveland	76	76	.500	.500	.500
Washington	66	81	.449	.449	.449
Philadelphia	61	87	.412	.412	.412
BOSTON	59	92	.391	.391	.391

McGOVERN-DIXON FIGHT OVER AGAIN

New York, Sept. 25.—A repetition of the famous Terry McGovern-George Dixon battle held at the Old Broadway Club of the Horton law days, will be staged here the present generation of fans tomorrow night when Irish Johnny Curtin, Jersey City's pride, meets Danny Edwards, the clever little negro bantam from the Pacific Coast, in the feature bout of 12 rounds.

Curtin has shown in his battles of the past year that he possesses much of the aggressive and [illegible] has that fighting spirit that never admits defeat. On the other hand Danny Edwards is a heady, whirlwind boxer with a dangerous kick is either hand of the type of Dixon.

HARVARD MAKES READY FOR MIDDLEBURY

The Harvard football prayers will devote this week to scrimmaging and learning the plays that will be used in the Middlebury game on Saturday.

Coach Bob Fisher is optimistic in predicting that the Harvard craft will ride the turbulent waves in true Harvard style.

On Saturday Fiske Brown was at the Stadium showing the candidates for the guard berths how he played the position. Fiske is on his guard now among the financiers of State Street.

Karl Pfaffman, famous at a tennis player at the university across the Charles as well as for his reliable dropkicking, was instrumental in the victory of the White Jerseys, one of the two divisions of the first varsity in a scrub game. From the twenty-five-yard mark Karl shot one between the uprights at a difficult angle.

Jack Hammond, freshman fullback last year, and Erwin Gehrke, baseball pitcher, and a back at times last season, also helped the White Jerseys. Each scored a touchdown.

For the losers, the Red Jerseys, Frank Rouillard ploughed his way over for a touchdown.

Elimination goes on. The squad now numbers sixty-seven, but before the week is over this number will be reduced to about forty, the annual number on Harvard's varsity playing force.

Four 8-minute periods were played.

David Morey, the former Dartmouth and Malden High star, is the coach of Middlebury.

St. Williams on Grid

The St. Williams Catholic Club of Dorchester will be represented by a football team this season. Games are desired with 125-pound teams, the "Pals" of Waltham, West Newton Tigers, Mohawks of Dorchester, [illegible] Catholic C. C. of Dedham, [illegible] Indians and the Stanwoks of Brighton preferred. Address Edw. G. Connolly, 69 Adams street, Dorchester. Phone Dorchester 1239-R, 6 to 7 P. M.

HARRY HARPER IS BACK IN NEWS

Harry Harper

Harry Harper, former Red Sox southpaw hurler, has pushed himself back into the baseball news. Harry has not signed a contract to pitch for the Brooklyn Lodgers next year. Harper passed from the Red Sox to the Yankees and then out of big league baseball.

The Dodgers are in need of southpaw hurlers and maybe Harper will manage to get enough control to help along his new outfit.

We say, MAYBE!

Bart McDonough, the husky plunging back of the Woburn team, will command consideration when the all-scholastic teams are in the making.

TABLE OF RUNS

DAY'S HIGH—LOW SCORES

NATIONAL LEAGUE

High—Pittsburgh 13
Low—New York 6.

	M	T	W	T	F	S	S	H.
1 Boston	4	1	8	1	2	7	8	* 1
2 N. York	7	*	1	8	1	3	7	8 10
3 Chicago	1	*	9	1	1	10	1	* 1
4 Cle'land	2	*	15	1	6	3	1	14 1 11
5 Pitt'h	13	6	4	23	6	7	6	13 5
6 Cin'ti	2	*	15	17	6	3	5	* 5
7 Phila.	8	1	20	29	10	14	4	* 5
8 St. L's	1	*	8	14	28	1	7	5 10
Totals	47	10	81	150	41	67	56	36

AMERICAN LEAGUE

High—Detroit and St. Louis 7.
Low—Boston 2.

	M	T	W	Th	F	S	S	H.
9 Detroit	11	3	1	9	8	8	4	7
10 Chicago	7	*	4	11	1	6	8	4
11 N. York	3	4	6	13	9	9	7	*
12 St. L's	2	3	0	7	11	5	7	15
13 Boston	0	6	6	1*	4	5	6	2
14 Cle'd	3	10	10	23	5	3	6	3
15 Wash'n	3	4	5	11	6	4	3	5
16 Phila	1	4	*	2	4	5	3	6
Totals	33	50	38	104	47	46	47	52

Middlesex Starts Practice

The first practice session of the Middlesex [illegible] football team will be held [illegible] afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. [illegible] David A. Baldwin and Robert F. Foster. The first game will be played on Saturday with Browne and Nichols.

NO CUP CHALLENGE THIS YEAR—LIPTON

New York, Sept. 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton declared he had no intention of challenging America to another yacht race—at least not until 1924, upon his arrival here aboard the liner Berlic. What he came here for, he said, was "to have a little fun and perhaps sell a little tea." He added:

"There'll be no challenge this year—none is contemplated. I feel sure enough to [illegible] attempt to lift the cup, but the wind isn't just right. But later we shall see what we shall see."

CHARLES BUELL

Crimson's great drop kicker

PEABODY HAS TOWN GRID TEAM IN FIELD

Peabody, Sept. 25.—Host West [illegible] worth and Byrne Nanos are [illegible] ing a Peabody town football squad comprising some strong additions to last year's winning aggregation. Among the new men signed is Threshie, last year's first string end on the Dartmouth varsity team. Norman Crane of Worcester Tech, Everett Wilson, an old Peabody High star; Dick Lynch, Ryder, "Hank" Keefe and Trask. The [illegible] Lynch and O'Keefe.

The first game will be played on October 1, against the Lowell Indians, one of the biggest teams in the State.

THE VAN HEUSEN is a testimonial to a man's good taste and an outward and visible sign of his good sense; and just as a man retains these two qualities all the year round, in like manner he wears his VAN HEUSEN three hundred and sixty-five days a year.

No Starching | No Rough Edges | Wears Longest
Will Not Wrinkle | Saves Your Shirts | Saves Your Ties

VAN HEUSEN
the Worlds Smartest COLLAR
PHILLIPS-JONES CORPORATION, Makers, NEW YORK AND 77 SUMMER ST., BOSTON

THE THIMBLE THEATRE

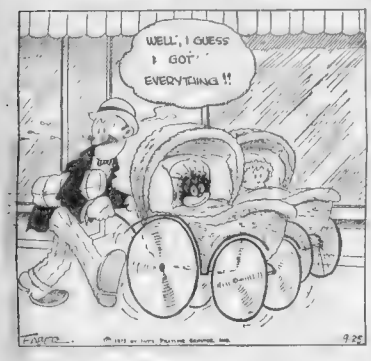
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Now Showing—"Try It Yourself."

To-morrow—"Up and Down."

THEN THE FUN BEGAN

Registered U. S. Patent Office



HELPFUL HENRY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

HENRY, I'M SELLING STOCK NOW
IS THAT SO? SAY LET ME GIVE YOU A LETTER OF INTRODUCTION TO MY FRIEND ALF BIGGS
HE'S A VERY GOOD FRIEND OF MINE—I MUST HAVE YOU MEET HIM—HE MAY DO SOMETHING FOR YOU
GEE IT'S GREAT TO KNOW AN INFLUENTIAL GUY LIKE HENRY!
MY GRACIOUS—WHAT HAPPENED?
HE SAID I WAS THE SEVENTH BUM YOU HAD SENT TO HIM THIS WEEK, AND THEN HE THREW ME OUT OF THE WINDOW
9-25 ARNOT

Kabibble Kabaret

Copyright 1922 International Feature Service, Inc.—Registered U. S. Patent Office

BY HENRY FIELD

DEAR MR. KABIBBLE:—MY HUSBAND IS ALWAYS THREATENING TO LEAVE ME AND MY FIVE CHILDREN. SHALL I TELL HIM TO GO? MRS. P.

YES—BUT DON'T BE AFRAID TO FINISH THE SENTENCE!

9-25

BRINGING UP FATHER

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

DAILY IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN AND IN COLORS IN THE BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER

By Geo. McManus

THANK GOODNESS EVERY ONE IS WELL SO THERE IS NOTHIN' TO STOP US FROM SAILIN' FOR CHINA ON SCHEDULE
GO TO DINTY MOORE'S HOUSE—I WANNA BE SURE THAT HE IS ALL SET TO SAIL!
WE'VE ALL BEEN LAID UP BUT—NOTHIN CAN STOP US NOW.
NO—BUT WE NEED SOMETHING TO START US.
I JUST GOT A TELEGRAM—IT SAYS OUR BOAT TO CHINA IS LAID UP!
© 1922 BY INT'L FEATURE SERVICE, INC
9-25

POLLY AND HER PALS

Registered U. S. Patent Office

Just the Thing for Pa.

NOT A LOTTA ROT AN' PIFFLE! BAH!
S'MATTER?
I'M FED UP WITH MUSHY STORIES DANGONE 'EM!
TOO TAME. EH?
YEAH! I WANNA READ SOMETHIN' HAIR-RAISIN' AN' BLOOD-CURDLIN' FER A CHANGE!
ATTA BOY, PA!
I'LL FETCH YOU MY MILLINER'S BILL!

JERRY ON THE JOB

Registered U. S. Patent Office

He Can't Forget the Coal Shortage

YOU'LL NEVER GET VERY FAR IN THE RAILROAD BUSINESS UNTIL YOU'VE READ PROFESSOR GINK'S BOOK—"RAILROADS" AND HOW TO RUN THEM." SO TAKE IT AND READ IT AND SOMEDAY YOU MAY AMOUNT TO SOMETHING.
YEAH
POO POO. THAT STUFF! POOPOOH!
THERE'S MUCH MORE IMPORTANT STUFF THAN THAT—SUCH AS THE COAL SHORTAGE ETC.
NOW LET'S SEE HOW YOU'RE DOING WITH THE BOOK—SUPPOSE YOU'RE IN A LOCOMOTIVE AND YOU SEE ANOTHER ONE COMING HEAD ON AT YOU—WHAT WOULD YOU DO?
WAH-UH—TO-
I'D TAKE A HUNK OF COAL IN EACH HAND AND JUMP

ABIE THE AGENT

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

There Are Limits Even for a Brother

LISTEN, ABE, I'M TIRED OF HAVING YOU CALL ME A GAMBLER AND A BUM—GET ME A GOOD JOB SOME PLACE AND I WILL GO TO WORK!!
POSITIVELY, HYMIE—ANYTHING TO KEEP YOU OUT OF MY OFFICE! GO TO THE J.P. MULLER CO. AND SAY I SENT YOU! WHILE YOURE ON THE WAY THERE, I'LL PHONE THEM ABOUT YOU!!!
YES, MISTER MULLER, MY BROTHER IS ON THE WAY TO YOUR COMPANY NOW! IF YOU HIRE HIM, I'LL SAY THAT YOU ARE GETTING A FINE WORKER. HE'S A CLEAN NICE GENTLEMAN, STEADY, DON'T HANG AROUND WITH BUMS, SAVES HIS MONEY. VERY SMART IN EVERY WAY—SUCH A BOY LIKE HIM WILL BE A CREDIT TO YOUR—
IS THAT YOU, HYMIE?
YES, ABE
DIDN'T YOU GO TO THE MULLER CO. YET???
I JUST PHONED HIM A WONDERFUL RECOMMENDATION FOR YOU!!
YES, BUT HE SENT ME HERE TO ASK YOU IF YOU ARE WILLING TO GO SO FAR AS WRITING IT OUT AND SIGN IT???

KRAZY KAT

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Ignatz Is Correct

US BOYS

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Skinny Gets an Offer

SAY SHRIMP, EVERYBODY IS SAYIN' YOU'RE JEALOUS AT ME 'CAUSE I'M IN THE MOVIES AND MAKIN' COIN HAND OVER FIST!
JEALOUS OF YOU!—HA, HA, HA!
HA, HA, HA! JEALOUS OF YOU! HA, HA!
WHY SHOULD I BE JEALOUS OF YOU?
WELL, YA KNOW! I SEE ALL KINDS OF STARS AT THE STOODIO!
YOU SHUT UP OR YOU'LL SEE ALL KINDS OF STARS RIGHT HERE!
TOM McNAMARA 9-25

FAIL TO IDENTIFY GEORGE AS ATTACKER OF SALEM YOUTH

"CHECKING IN" AND PAYING UP" AT WELLESLEY COLLEGE TODAY. Here's Helen Young (at left) making out her class schedule, which looks like a blueprint, and Mary Smith, who is signing her application to the institute of learning. The girls in the line in the rear are waiting to pass over their money for the first installment of the year's tuition fee. If they all have good luck they'll all come out four years hence—"suma cum laude."

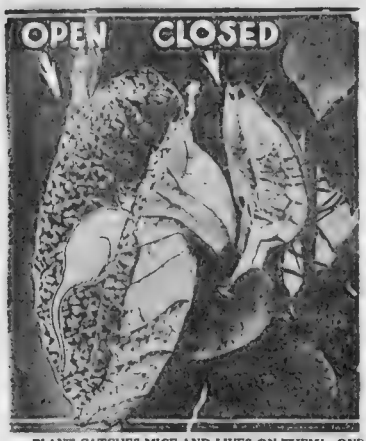
THOUSANDS HEAR ANNIVERSARY MASS OF THE LAYMAN'S RETREAT GUILD in Brighton! The musical part of the mass, held on the beautiful grounds of St Gabriel's Monastery, were given by the Young Men's Catholic Association choir, under the direction of Prof. Thomas J. Hurley. The grounds were specially decorated for the occasion. The photo shows part of the large crowd which attended, with Father Purtill taking a leading part in the exercises. The Cardinal Cadets served as a guard of honor.

YOUNGEST BARBER IN Greater Boston! Dominic Orlando, 17, of No. 523 Medford street, Somerville, claims this distinction. Took over his dad's shop at 15 Can you beat this, barbers?

NEW BIRD-LIKE AMERICAN GLIDER AROUSES Interest of Aerial Experts! With the motorless device, Roy E. Duese stayed in the air for eight minutes, rivalling the achievements of many of the biplane gliders. He is shown ready to take off from a mountainside. (International News Reel.)

CHAMPIONS ALL! THIS bunch of husky U. S. Marines from the Oklahoma pulled a whaleboat over a two-mile course and won the Marine Corps challenge cup for 1922. Several New England lads were numbered among the "runner-up" crew. The match took place on the Pacific coast.

FAIL TO IDENTIFY John George as Salem Boy's Slayer! George was given two months in jail on the charge of attacking Francis T. McAvoy, five, of Jamaica Plain (above). The man said little Francis threw coal at him.



PLANT CATCHES MICE AND LIVES ON THEM! ONE of the most extraordinary plants in existence is the "Dutchman's Pipe," from the East Indies. Insects, and particularly mice, are attracted by the odor of the plant, into which the victims creep in search of it. Natural bristles prevent their return and the plant closes in on them forever. The victim is slowly consumed by the plant's "digestive juices."

IT ISN'T WHAT YOU WEAR, IT'S HOW YOU WEAR it! This applies to the headdress as well as any other kind of dress. The pink silk, with protruding curls, coupled with carefully strung pearls, constitute the latest style in which to wear the hair. Paris started it. (International News Reel.)

LOS ANGELES Rebels! Even the blase folk of the coast city lifted surprised eyebrows when this daring suit made its appearance at a fashion pageant there. Purity leagues call this type of garment a social evil. The model calls criticism of the suit prudery. The only thing arrested was the public's attention

CHARGED WITH THE SHOOTING TO DEATH of Salvatore Procopio, Joseph Morello was arraigned in court today. Here is Morello, handcuffed to an officer and also in a closeup view. The police charge Morello is in another Black Hand plot.

FALLS A VICTIM OF BLACK HAND IN CROWDED HAYMARKET SQUARE. PHOTO-DIAGRAM of the shooting of Salvatore Procopio, as described by two women who were the nearest witnesses, as they stepped from behind an auto. Procopio was attacked as he emerged from the subway station.

PRETTY STOWAWAY! Ellis Island officials are loth to send Gertrude Friederich, fifteen-year-old stowaway on the S. S Yorke, back to Bremen, Gemany, but the law says she must go The girl hid in a coal bunker. (International News Reel.)

GREATER BOSTON GOLFERS ATTEND "INSPECTION" OPEN TOURNA- ment at Sandy Burr Country Club, Wayland! Above are two buildings of the club, which sets amid a shower of greenery off the main Boston-to-Worcester road. The club has just been admitted to the United States Golf Association and membership in the Massachusetts organization will automatically follow. Audrey White (in circle) went around the course in 50. Donald Ross laid out the ...

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

This Day in History—September 25, 1922

THIS is the anniversary of the discovery, in 1513, of the Pacific by Balboa, the first white man to see it from American shores. He got his first view from a hilltop in Panama, and called it the South Sea.

Magazine Page

Toll Bars and Turnpikes

THE toll bar system originated in England in 1207. General turnpikes were set up in 1663, and tokens were issued for the payment of tolls. In 1827 twenty-seven toll bars were removed in London, the last abolished in 1872.

Man and Maid

By Elinor Glyn

START THIS NEW STORY TODAY

Sir Nicholas Thormonde, a wealthy Englishman, wounded and blinded in one eye in action, starts writing his diary in Paris while the war is still on. He is sick of life. The war has robbed it of all that a young man can find of joy. He tries to amuse himself in the company of several women friends, who, he feels, seek his company for his money and not for the love he craves. He starts to write a book and hires a typist, Miss Sharp. He begins to fall in love with her.

Now Go On With the Story

MISS SHARP'S refined voice was level, as though she were controlling herself, not to allow any personal feeling to enter her discourse; her gloved hands were perfectly still in her lap.

She was in profile to me so that I could see that her very long eyelashes seemed to be quite pressed against the glass.

I have not before been so near to her in a bright light. Why does she wear those dammed spectacles? I was thinking, when she said:

"You find it hard to be confined to your room and not be able to fight, don't you? Well when you could fight it was impossible to prevent us all from doing our bit. You have to have times in the trenches, too, hadn't you—when you just had to bear it?"

"Of course!"

"Well, you are in the trenches now, don't you see—and it is according to how your soul learns the lesson of them, as to whether in this life you will ever be allowed to have peace."

"What is the lesson?"

"I am not God—I cannot tell you—but we would all know what our lesson to learn is, if we were not too vain to face the truth into our eyes."

"Is vanity the—"

"Why, of course, to improve character and learn strength."

"Is it not time to talk about me, in a person, Miss Sharp?"

"Self-control and restraint."

"You have no sympathy with weaklings?"

"None whatever—bad strong people are better than weak good ones."

I knew this was true. This fragile creature possessed a fortitude to endure and persevere that could she have done in former life to bring her back in such unkind surroundings, that she must spend her days in drudgery, so that she has never even leisure to think?—I longed to ask her, but did not dare.

"Shall we not begin work now?" she suggested, and I demonstrated my first lesson in self control by accepting a no and did not talk again until luncheon time.

"If you don't mind we shall go to the little cafe by the tao," I said, "and then afterwards we can find another place and work again. Burton will have had my wheeled chair brought down there, so we can choose a decent spot in one of the bosquets."

She nodded slightly. Now that it was not to help my moral regeneration she did not intend to talk any more, it seemed!

As we got into the fiacre I slipped in the slightest degree and caught on to her arm—she bare to the snow in the little cheap cotton frock, and as I touched the fine skin, that maddening feeling came over me again to clasp her in my arms. I pulled myself together, and she got in beside me. She has a darling tiny body when one touches her—and slipped down prettily because her hair is so unfashionably dressed—None of Suzon "Ideal," but even the subtle perfect taste of the fluffies—it is just torn back and rolled into a tight twist. But now that I saw her out of doors and in perspective I realize that she has a lovely small figure, and that everything is in the right place. I had told Burton to order the nicest lunch he could think of in that simple place, and our table under one of the umbrellas was waiting for us when we arrived.

There were only four other people there, besides ourselves, and a few came in afterwards.

I had forgotten my bread tickets, so Miss Sharp gave me one of hers. She had escaped into absolute silence. The only words she had uttered as we came down that avenue from The Trianon to the lac were when I exclaimed at the beauty of it—I judged by her mouth that she was admiring it too—and she said softly—

"For me, Versailles is the loveliest spot on earth!"

My mind flew then to the thought of what it would be to buy a really nice house here and spend the Summers with her—for my own—. I found myself clutching at my crutch—.

I tried to make conversation at lunch. There is nothing in the world so difficult as to keep this up when you are nervous with interest, and the other person is determined not to say a sentence which is unnecessary A chill crept over me.

Burton turned up in time to pay the bill and put me into my chair.

I walked with my crutch to a delicious spot I know

"I don't think you look well enough to stay out the after noon Sir Nicholas"—he said—"Better go straight back to the flats, and rest—"

Miss Sharp joined in.

"I was going to say that"—she said.

I felt like a cross, disappointed child—I knew they were both right though; I was feeling pretty tired and had not an idea in my head. But if I did that, there would be a chance to see her last—and all the long hours to face alone—

"I am quite right and I want to work." I said fretfully—and we started off.

We went up through the lovely allees past Encelades—and on to the Quincunx du Nord, Miss Sharp walking a little behind my chair.

Here Burton bent over me—

"It would be good for you to be taking a nap Sir Nicholas—Indeed, it would."

It seemed as if Miss Sharp was abetting him, for she came to my side—.

"If you can get quite comfortable I would read to you, and you might sleep," she said.

"We've got a new book"—I retorted—peeved, and yet pleased at the idea.

"I have one here which will do"—and she took a little volume from her bag—"I have wanted it for a long time and I bought it at the Fnac as I came from the station today—it cost a franc!"

It was a worn eighteenth century copy of Francois Villon—.

"Yes, that will be nice," I agreed—and leaned back while Burton settled my cushion, and then retired to a distance. Twelve years or and off of Paris has not taught him French—at least not the French of Francois Villon!

Miss Sharp took a little pare chair and I was able to watch her as she read—I did not even hear the words—because as she was looking down I had not to guard myself, but could let my eyes devour her small oval face All my nerves were thrilling again and there was no peace—how I longed—ached—to take her into my arms!

She looked up once after an hour to see if I were asleep, I suppose. She must have observed my passionate emotion in my eye—she looked down at the book instantly, but a soft pink flush came into her cheek—which have a mother-of pearl transparency usually. This caused me deep pleasure—I had been able to make her feel something at any rate, but then I was frightened—perhaps she would suggest going if she found the situation uncomfortable. Her voice had a fresh tone in it as she went on, and finally it faltered, and she stopped.

"If it is not putting you to sleep," she remarked, "perhaps you would not object if I walked on and typed what I took down this morning. It seems a pity to waste this time."

I knew that if I did not let her have her way there might be difficulties, so I agreed — and said that I would go back to the hotel and rest upon the sofa in the salon. So the procession started, and as we took the allee, to bring us to the reservoirs on the level, I suddenly caught sight of Coralie and her last favored one, both of whom are supposed to be at Deauville with the rest!

Coralie was exquisitely dressed, Duquesnois in uniform.

I realized that she had seen us, and that she could not avoid coming up to talk, although that had not been her intention. When one is supposed to be at Deauville with one's family, and is really at Versailles with one's lover — one does not seek to recognize one's friends!

She came forward with empressement when she found the meeting was inevitable—

"That is Miss Sharp — my secretary — What are you doing—here Coralie?"

"Perhaps the same as you, cher ami—" and she rippled with laughter—"Versailles is so tranquil a place."

I could have slapped her — fortunately Miss Sharp was out of earshot—

"Nicholas"—she cooed, "—what happiness"—

Then she eyed Miss Sharp mischievously making a moment as though she expected me to introduce them—

But Miss Sharp defeated this by immediately walking on—

"Tiens" said Coralie—

Jean Duquesnois now joined in —he was back from the front for two days—things were going better — peace would certainly be declared before Christmas—

Coralie meanwhile was looking after Miss Sharp with an expression upon her clever face which only a French woman is able to put there—It said plainly as words. "So this is the reason Nicholas—Well, you have chosen something very every day and inexpensive this time!—Men are certainly crazy in their tastes!"

I pretended not to notice, and so she spoke.

"Why, if you can come here cannot you come to Deauville, Nicholas?—there must be some irresistible attraction stronger than to be with your friends!"

"Yes—he is an excellent Swedish masseur who is glued to Paris—also I like solitude sometimes"—

"Solitude!" and Coralie glanced at Miss Sharp's rapidly disappearing figure—. "Hein?"

I would not permit myself to grow angry.

"The book is nearly finished —you can tell the rest"—

"That old book! You were much more entertaining before you commenced it, Nicholas! Perhaps the idea has come to me why!"

I would not be drawn—I threw the war into the enemy's country.

"You are staying at the reservoirs?"

I saw that she was—and that now the thought of my being there disconcerted her.

"But no!" she lied sweetly—"I am merely out here for the day to see Louise, who has a son in the hospital"——

It was my turn to say—

"Tiens?"

And then we both laughed—and I let them go on.

But when I got into my skin —I heard no typing—only there was a note from Miss Sharp to say that some slight thing had gone wrong with the machine, so she had taken the work to finish it at home.

I cursed Coralie and all the fluffies in the world' and then in pain laid down upon my bed.

Yesterday I was so restless I could not settle to anything I read pages and pages of Plato and was conscious that the words were going over in my head without conveying the slightest meaning, and that the other part of my mind was absorbed with thoughts of Miss Sharp—. If I only dared to be natural with her, we surely could be friends, but I am always obsessed with the fear that she will leave me if I transgress in the slightest upon the line she has marked between us—. I see that she is determined to remain only the secretary, and I realize that it is her breeding which makes her act as she does—. If she were familiar or friendly with me, she would feel it was not correct to come to my flat alone. She only comes at all because the money is of necessity to her and having to come, she protects her dignity by wearing this ice mask—I know that she was interrupted by Coralie's look on Thursday, and that is why she went home pretending the typing machine was out of order—Now if any more of these entire tempts happen she will probably give me warning. Burton instinctively sensed this, and that is why he disapproved of my asking her to lunch—If she had been an ordinary typist Burton would not have objected in the least—as I said before, Burton knows the world'

Copyright 1922, by Elinor Glyn.
(J. B. Lippincott Co., Publishers.)

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Desert Love

By Joan Conquest

"SIX times," said the woman, "shall Amen strike thee in love, so that thou nearest sou, and once shall he strike thee upon both breasts so that a woman child shall spring from thy loins.

"Love is thy portion, thy meat and thy drink, bringing unto thee those who, traveling in love, shall come for the wisdom, and those laboring in grief for thy succor.

"And thou shalt not die before thy time, and thou shalt pass to the gods with thy hand in thy master's, for he shall not leave thee through all thy life, nay not even at the last. And thy name shall ring throughout the land of Egypt, and be engraven upon the walls of one.

"Behori Hathor, behold I speak and false time the unalterable words rang through the place as Jill sank back staring open-eyed.

The small white hand had pulled the veil aside from about the face, and head, and body of the fortune-teller, so that for a moment she seemed to stand outlined against the pillar, with flashing eyes, scarlet mouth, and brow encircled with a golden band, from which sprang something round with wings not in progress, flame the silver of the goddess. [illegible] with an [illegible] Born in the [illegible] her pencil arms [illegible] and [illegible] downward [illegible] words with [illegible] time I [illegible] in so that the finger [illegible] on the rounded thighs.

And then Jill rubbed her eyes and stared, and stared again; for the spot was empty, save for a square of sand with strange signs drawn upon it; neither was there wound of retreating footsteps or swish of drapery.

Jill tumbled to her feet, swaying as she caught at a pillar for support, and then with a violent effort of will walked to a street shaft of sunshine which [illegible] the ground. [illegible] like a [illegible] from an open [illegible] roof.

"Am I mad?" she whispered. "Did I dream that woman—and yet the sand is there?"

A pitiful little smile flickered across the ashen face as she stood motionless and alone in the ruins.

"The temple of love," she cried softly, flinging out her arms, "the temple of love and I am alone. Hahmed beloved, where are you? I feel so—I—I wish you were here to take me in your arms that I may be comforted—I want comforting—I do—I'm lonely—I—I'm—oh, oh! God—God have mercy on me—I—we—"

For a moment the transfigured girl stood upright, her face one blaze of wonder in the light of the sun, her eyes wide open and filled with a great surprise and a greater awe.

And then she slowly sank to her knees and bowed her beautiful head in the sand, whilst the echoes took up her words and carried them to the far corners of the vast temple.

"I am not worthy, my beloved, for this great honor—I am not worthy in that I am not with thee at this moment when thy child stirs within me. I am covered in shame in that I doubted. I am bowed down with shame and yet lifted up to heavens with joy."

For long minutes thus knelt she alone with her happiness, and then she raised herself whilst a great sob shook her from head to foot.

"Hahmed," she cried as she flung her arms out wide, "[illegible] I was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

The First Advertisement

WHAT has been described as "the earliest known advertisement" is on a rare cup of the first century in the late Sir John Evans's collection. An inscription reads: "Made by Ennion, let the buyer remember."

Magazine Page

Fashions 5,000 Years Ago

RECONSTRUCTED pictures of Egyptian life 5,000 years ago show similarity to modern notions. Women's jewelry in those days resembled present-day ornaments. Women wore wigs and fringes.

"Mary"

ROMANCE OF A BOSTON BUSINESS GIRL

By Elenore Meherin

Start This Story Today

MARY KELLY wins the post of private secretary to HALL DAWSON, a dynamic promoter with offices in Water street. She instinctively fears him. After the conclusion of a big deal he calls her his mascot and gives her a check for $100, which she accepts with misgivings. Reassured by Dawson, however, she plunges into her work, dreaming of the day she will be his partner. Mary goes to see the parade of the returning Yankee Division and meets PAT SULLIVAN, her childhood sweetheart. JACK MAHONEY, a young millionaire, declares his love for her. Pat takes Mary riding and she realizes she loves him only. She receives a letter of proposal from Mahoney and answers it with a refusal. Pat has a row with Dawson. Mary sits for her portrait to Allan Bruce. Dawson insults her at his house and Mrs. Dawson orders her out. She receives a letter from Pat telling her he loves her. She gets a new job.

I DIDN'T need to worry about Bruce. He and dad talked of Ireland, and they became so interested Bruce made little sketches of the streets in Dublin, where dad was born, but had left when he was 12 years. He wasn't watching dad's table manners. Ma sat there like a queen, her eyes glowing with pleasure. She thought it an honor to have Allan for dinner.

Then the moment I had breakfast eaten, Dad took up the crust to break in his tea. Allan took out his pencil and began to sketch. Ma went quietly and got a big sheet of paper.

"I'd like to keep it," her little hands trembled with pleasure.

"Hold the bread just over the pan," Allan said to dad, and in a jiffy he had penciled a startling likeness. Ma went into raptures over it.

"I'd like to finish it. What a subject!"

There are different ways, I suppose, of viewing an old man breaking bread in his tea.

Ma had the pencil sketch framed.

I kept on going to the studio. One afternoon three artist friends of Bruce a dropped in. Their admiration of his picture was so genuine it filled me with joy, and even Bruce seemed pleased.

"You know, Mona, I never worked like this in my life. You'll make an artist of me. You might even make a man of me. I wonder if you'd try?"

Was there ever a woman strong enough to resist that plea? I wasn't.

"Guess I'll have to hurry, my limousine is waiting," Maud Harris, one of the girls in the shoping office, stood at the window looking out at 1 o'clock Saturday. "It's a beautiful running car! It's a new one, kids."

It was the signal for the weekly push to the window. On Saturday afternoons the wives of some of the men bigner up made a practice of calling for their husbands.

"I'll say there's class to that all right. The luck of some people!"

"Let me get a look." Carrie, the red haired girl, edged into the group

"There's a man driving that. Oh, if I were only stepping out with him!"

Curiosity got the best of me. I went over to the window.

"Oh!" I started back, surprised, overjoyed. The silver-gray sedan I knew so well—Jack's car was the subject of discussion. I didn't know he was in town.

"Ah, a friend of yours?" Maud bantered amiably. "We have the four hundred in our midst. I suppose you'll have luncheon at the Touraine?

"Probably. He's a very old friend of mine."

"How nice" They didn't believe me. We went down in the elevator together.

"Why don't you speak to your friend?" Maud jibed airily as we came out of the building. "He's looking for you, I'm sure." Then she gasped and stepped back. Jack, hat in hand, dapper, sparkling, was coming toward us. "Can you beat that! Of all things!" Maud looked as though Jack's coming for me were a personal insult to her.

"Good-by," I called, rather excited by her envy; delighted to see Jack again. He took my arm, his merry eyes smiling.

"How are you, little sweetheart!" He helped me into the sedan and I sank down in the beautiful blue cushions, pleasantly conscious of surprised glances from a hundred eyes as the girls from the shipping company and the other offices in the building hurried to the street. They would have much to say Maud and Carrie were spending their lunch hour discussing me.

"Have you the seven league boots, Jack? I didn't expect you for another week. I thought you were in the West?"

"I have a seven league heart, darling. It leaped out of the train going West and started on its own steam for Boston I had no choice but to follow it."

"You're nice, Jack." He was stopping at the Touraine. The footman with the crinkly green eyes greeted him as though he was his bosom cronie

"Hello, Hughie," Jack shook hands with him, then he turned to me "I didn't ask if you wanted to come here, Mary, do you?"

"It's fine, because we haven't much time. I have a date at 2:30."

"A date, Mary!" His face was suddenly white "Don't we have the day together?"

"It's only for a little while," I hurried to explain. "Allan Bruce is painting my picture. I'll only go for an hour. He says it is his masterpiece. You see he's in earnest now and if I don't go maybe he'll lose interest."

Jack's whimsical eyes were shadowed and he said:

"So you're going to reform Allan Bruce, are you?"

"You wouldn't say it was reforming an artist to pose for him, would you?"

"Yes. While he paints your face, you try to wash his soul—free it from the rust of many travels. Allan has a coat that won't wear off."

"And you think I'll only succeed in getting the grime in my finger nails?"

"No, you, darling! But many have known that fate. Making a picture or breaking a heart, one gift comes as easy as the other to Allan He pays tribute to both at the same time; or rather he breaks a heart and of the fragments makes his portrait."

"I guess he hasn't been much of a destroyer, he has so few pictures finished."

"The hearts didn't last long enough."

"Mine must be a big one. He hasn't taken a chip off it yet and the canvas is almost finished."

"If he should chip it, daging, you have all of mine to mend it with. I'll be the surgeon, painless operation guaranteed

"If I take you up there will you come with me afterwards?"

It was just what I hoped he would do. Allan came to the door and if he was surprised to see Jack with me he didn't show it. He seemed just glad to see us both

"You might even make a man of me," said Bruce

"I won't keep you very long, Mona," he promised, commencing to paint.

"Genius doesn't take its work from time, Mona." There was a confident challenge in his low voice. "You can see, Hero Jack! I'm giving my model a holiday. My gift went wandering, too."

Jack picked up his hat with an eager gayety. "Mind you, don't try to woo it back with a chip from Mona's heart."

"The gift will return," Allan held my hand and smiled as though a sense of his own power stated him. "And me picture will be finished."

It seemed to me there was a subtle significance in his words. They had an odd, depressing effect on me that all Jack's gay chatter did not relieve

I felt my face blanch; my hands shook. A thousand questions rushed to my tongue, but Jack started talking about the shows he had seen while away

"Mary, I'm coming back in a month and carry you off to New York with me. I'm not going to leave you here to have genius painting sorrow in your eyes."

I could scarcely listen to him. Of all that he said, one sentence stuck in my mind—"I saw Pat Sullivan, he's a wide skeleton."

"I love you, sweetheart, I'm coming in a month," Jack said, as he took my hands in his

Listen to this, Mary—they're giving silk neckties for $10.95! Extra heavy silk quality, plain or box plaited shirts, two-toned ribbon." Ma was sitting in her low rocker, next to dad's old Morris chair, reading the ads. "That is a real bargain."

"Would you like one, Ma?" She never wore anything but percale aprons at $1.95 Four of them lasted a year, sometimes longer. She would pin a bit of ribbon at the neck, braiding it with the ruffy brooch, if years she had longed for a silk kimono with a cascade of lace at her throat and ruffles about the wrists, little hands. I made up my mind to buy her a negligee from the money I was saving for a new suit.

It was lonely to sit there and watch dad and me. Six nights I had served them, washing the dishes, singing a little for them.

Six nights ago Jack had stood at the door, holding my hand, whispering his happy threat—"I love you, sweetheart. I'm coming in a month to take you to New York"

I had forgotten it almost at once, forgotten the pleasure of the dinner at the Touraine.

Saturday morning I went up to George Brand, chief of our department, and asked him to give me an hour off. I wanted to buy the orchids. I was going home to spend the time with ma. I wasn't going to the studio.

Brand was the most polite and formal man I ever met. "Your work is most excellent, Miss Kelly I'm glad to let you have the time."

Underneath was a purple one—the very color I wanted

"Want that?" the clerk asked "I just grabbed it with the others."

I knew it was ma's dream of beauty and elegance, heavy crepe, a ruffle of plaited georgette, lace at the sleeves. I'll never forget the look on her face when she saw it A dozen aunts might go for the joy of that memory

"Not for me, Mary! I was only fooling. You didn't take any of your salt money? You're shabby I didn't want you to do it."

But she put it on, trembling, tears of happiness in her eyes "What will Robert say? He'll think I'm a fashionable woman

But after dinner she brushed her fluffy hair and put it up

I had not overcome Hakept looking at her

When he came in to kiss me good night he put his arms around me, shaking his head, looking at me. Then he wiped his eyes and went out

We were at breakfast Sunday morning when a special delivery letter came. It was from Allan Bruce

"Dear Mona: You are angry because I wasted your time last Saturday. It was unavoidable. A most unpleasant event of the morning ruined the possibility of work for me. I should have phoned you, but it is entirely selfish in me to expect this time from you My only justification is my belief that the picture will be good. Its fate depends on you Will you let me finish it? Ned and Tom are coming in today around noon. Could you come then for an hour or two?"

That letter made me ashamed. Allan Bruce in a reckless mood, slapping on paint as a child might, smudging it off, had frightened me I'm was a trifler I was a fool to let his fascination bring me to his studio. Pat's comment, "a shabby adventure," echoed in my ears. Yesterday I had deliberately avoided the studio

Now it seemed a petty, selfish thing to have done. I had agreed to pose. The picture was vibrant with promise. Every artist who saw it praised it. One of the papers had given it half a column, predicting that Allan Bruce was at last to realise an achievement worthy of his gift. I didn't have the right to refuse.

I went to the studio. Neil and Tom were there. Bruce was sketching, not bothering to entertain them. When I had taken off my coat and hat he began swishing a brush on the palette table in an absent-minded fashion. For half an hour he worked rather aimlessly, talking to me, laughing. Gradually his face took on that tense, nervous ardor of concentration. He worked rapidly, with a sureness, a subtlety that made his eyes flame, his reckless mouth seemed strong even dominant

I went to a chair after that. I was no longer afraid He was brilliant! His might be shallow, but there was no harm in his talk about him that was no woman The feeling I had for him deepened I trusted him.

Once or he came unannounced and asked me to take a ride in a little car a friend of his had loaned him

I sat low in the seat, Bruce put his arm around me

"We can speed, Mona, but the old fellow with the scythe will catch us in the end."

"Death isn't so horrible. It's the funeral—the burial. It's lying in the grave forever that I hate to think of."

"There's one solution to that. I'm going to be so tired when my time comes all eternity won't be too long to rest in me. I'm entirely selfish in my plan. You can't cheat death but you can give him a good run for the money."

He spoke rapidly, his head thrown back, his mouth reckless I shrank from him His face sobered instantly

"You trust me, Mona. Don't let the things other people say rob me of that," then he laughed. "How old are you?"

"Twenty four"

To Be Continued Tomorrow

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES—By ANN LISLE

"YOU say she's a friend of yours. Then why shouldn't I introduce myself to her when I sent her trying to get a taxi driver to understand her funny English"

"I haven't heard of your playing champion to any other friend of mine. I don't even know how you were aware of my friendship with Mrs. Cordova," I replied.

"MAYBE I SLEW YOU WITH HER."

"Maybe I seen you with her. Why do you lay all this weight on my knowing or not knowing a peculiar friend of yours?" demanded Dad Lee.

It appears as if Dad Lee were not only attempting to prove to me that his speaking to Rose meant nothing in particular, but as if at the same time he were trying to make it mean something or not him some gain.

It was on the tip of my tongue to burst out angrily and demand how he could keep up his pose of injured innocence in face of the fact that I knew he'd intercepted Rose without cause to demand if he had a message for him. I remembered her description of how he rambled along for a while before he got up courage to speak to her. Rosa had been convinced that Dad Lee was sent by Dick to spy upon her.

However much I wanted the satisfaction of telling Dad Lee that I was thoroughly perfect in his eyes with Rosa, I had to deny myself. I don't propose now or at any other time to reveal to him any more than he knows already. So I reverted to the unanswered question which lay between us and answered it in terms of Dad Lee and me, leaving Rosa practically out of the reckoning.

It seems to me that my real father wouldn't want to force himself on any acquaintance of mine. He'd wait for me to introduce him." I said in a flat and uncompromising tone.

"Your real father," repeated Dad Lee detectedly. "You can say that. Oh, ni'dear?"

"I can say that," I repeated almost guiltily to wash back the motion with which his quavering voice threatened me.

"All this because I know a pretty woman when I see her—and doin' beauty in distress, what's a fiend of yours to boot, I go and try to do what I can for her," protested Dad Lee.

"Oh—don't!" I cried to greet dismay. I don't like your pose of acting a friend of mine—and then a damn sight more than about beauty in distress—it's—it's more than I can bear."

"Then, why do you think I spoke to Mrs. Cordova?" he insisted.

"Why do I think you rushed up to a strange woman on the street and overwhelmed her with the declaration that you are my father? I don't know. The plans you and—Dick West draw up are too much for me," I confessed with deliberation.

"Dick West! Now you're dragging that poor boy into my private affairs."

"How can you call Mrs. Cordova your affair?" I demanded curtly. "Tell me that. And let's end this running around in circles."

"She's your affair,—ain't she, m'dear? Yours—and your Jim's? Didn't you think I might take a fatherly interest in any lady my daughter's husband admires so much that she seems to be up here in this place, so to speak?"

It was insufferable.

"Do you think that's the way a father talks to the daughter he loves? Do you think a man who had one scrap of natural affection could spy and sneak and insinuate and undermine as you do—for Dick West and your own purposes!" I cried, broke myself with the tawdriness of the whole situation

"What are you saying?" asked Dad Lee, his little eyes ablaze with an emotion I couldn't quite make out

"You know."

"Stop saying it—without really saying it—and come out with it, he color. Let's hear you, m'dear, if you're willing to have it on your conscience that you hurt an old man so deeply in aiming to do sooner or later."

We glared at each other as we shot our words out briskly through the polished stillness of Carlotta's study

"I'm afraid to say what's on your mind—think shame of yourself," taunted Dad Lee.

I stared at him in amazement at his daring. Then I said quietly, breathlessly—glad to have it out at last.

"You know very well what I mean. No father would act as you do. Therefore, you can't be my father."

"You my I can't be your father!" cried Dad Lee on a high, hysterical note. "I'll know you was coming to that. But why you aim to discredit the old man who gave you your start in life, I can't see. It's cruel—that's what it is, cruel!"

"You asked for it." I stammered, half regretting the brutal frankness which my desperate fears for Jim had driven me to "You know why I'm compelled to feel this way. No father of mine could—side with Dick West as you do."

"Dick!" repeated Dad Lee thunderingly. "Him—why would keep tabs on Dick if I didn't? Who'd watch him?"

"You say that—" I began, but a tap at the door interrupted me.

Pulling myself together with the consciousness that I was breathing hard as if I'd been running a race, I went to the door. There stood Bertha herself, spick and span in gray mohair and neatly capped and aproned.

"Dinner is served, Mrs. Harrison," she said in the most amiable of tones.

"Why, Bertha, that's splendid! Dinner—when I only asked for a cold lunch

"First you prepare it at this hour of the night. Now you're going to serve it. This isn't fair of me—though it's very kind of you." I cried.

"As if Lyons and I aren't always hoping against hope that there's going to be something we can do for you, big or little," Bertha answered quietly,

Copyright, 1923, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

To Be Continued Tomorrow

Amusements

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE
Tel. Beach 4520
Evgs. 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:15
ENGAGEMENT LIMITED
ROBERT B.
MANTELL
and GENEVIEVE HAMPER
In Shakespearean and Classic Repertoire
TONIGHT—RICHELIEU
Tom'w'w mat., Hamlet Wed. Mat., As You Like It
Wed. eve., Julius Caesar; Thur. eve., King Lear
Fri. eve., Macbeth; Sat. mat., Merchant of Venice
Sat. eve., Julius Caesar; Next Week—Monday eve., King Lear, Tues. eve., Merchant of Venice
Wed. mat., As You Like It; Wed. eve., Hamlet
Thur. eve., Richelieu; Fri. eve., Macbeth; Sat. mat., Merchant of Venice; Sat. eve., Richelieu
Prices, Eves & Sat. Mat. 50c, $1, $1.50 & $2
Wed. Mat., 50c to $1.50

LOEW'S STATE
MASSACHUSETTS' AIR-CONDITIONED STATE-WIDER
Mats. 25c & 50c After 5 PM 50c & 75c (Holidays)
A Superb Paramount Picture
CECIL B. DeMILLE'S
Production of MANSLAUGHTER
WITH THOS. MEIGHAN
and Grand Cast, Including
LEATRICE JOY and LOIS WILSON
A Romance That Thrills Through Scenes of Love and Hate
LATEST NEWS & COMEDY

SHUBERT
LEE & J. J. SHUBERT
PHONE BEACH 4520
Evgs. 8:15 Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:15
A CARLTON SUCCESS!
SANDERSON TANGERINE
With JULIA
$1.50 WED. MAT.

MODERN BURLESQUE
Direct Relation of Burlesque to Theatre
The STARTLING PICTURE
WHAT'S WRONG WITH WOMEN?
QUEEN of the MOULIN ROUGE

"Big & Bad"
It's the Bat
Under You
THE BAT
WILBUR THEATRE
SEATS 8 WEEKS IN ADVANCE
"Harry & God 'Zat"
50c to $2.50 Every Night including Saturday

HOLLIS
Evgs. at 8:10. Mats. Wed. & Sat. at 2:10
TONIGHT AT 8:10
RAY K. HARRIS will present
FRANCINE LARRIMORE
in Aaron Hoffman's Comedy Success
NICE PEOPLE

SHUBERT
MAJESTIC
Tel. Beach 4520
Evgs. 8:15 Mats. Daily at 2
THIS WEEK ONLY
SHUBERT ALL STAR VAUDEVILLE
JOS. M. GAITES'
Harlequinade of Variation
GIMME A THRILL
20 Lovely Thrillers
And GARDNER TRIO, Gene Barnes & Co., Herbert & Nelson, Jack Alfred & His Tip Top Four, Byron & Langdon, Nonette & De Leon, Ethel Hope, with Her Caddie, Charley Chase.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
CONTINUOUS—9:15 A.M. to 11:30 P.M.
DOROTHY DALTON
In "THE SIREN CELL"
A Paramount-Artcraft Picture
GREAT VAUDEVILLE ACTS
JACK WELCH & CO., LEW CANTOR & CO., MANE & SMILEY, JANIS & KAHLER and BERT LAMONT & CO.

SELWYN
Evgs. at 8:15
Mats. Wed. & Sat. at 2:15
MUSICAL COMEDY SENSATION
SHUFFLE ALONG with and by
MILLER & LYLES
SISSLE & BLAKE
EXTRA MAT. OCT. 12

TREMONT THEATRE
EVGS. at 8
Mats. Wed. & Sat. at 2:10
The COHANS Comedians
In His Original New Musical Play
LITTLE NELLIE KELLY

GORDON'S OLYMPIA
All This Week
ADOLPHE VALENTINO
in "Blood and Sand"
From Auto Parking

Amusements

THE YEAR'S FILM EVENT
SPECIAL!
MRS. CARR, "The Perfect Mother," will appear in person this afternoon and evening for the first times in Boston.
See PICTURE WITH A SOUL
SILVER WINGS
MARY CARR
PARK THEATRE
MAR. to 3:30 P.M.
SPECIAL PARK THEATRE ORCHESTRA

GORDON'S SCOLLAY SQ. Orpheum
EXTRA—ALL THIS WEEK
Special Engagement by Popular Request
NORMA TALMADGE
IN THE DRAMA MAGNIFICENT
"The ETERNAL FLAME"
8 Reels of Wonderment
5 BIG VAUDEVILLE ACTS 5

KEITH'S PLYMOUTH
Seats Also Left a Side at Box Office Prices
Evgs. at 8:15 Pop. Mats. Thurs. & Sat. at 2:15
THE WONDER SHOW OF THE UNIVERSE!
THURSTON
THE GREAT MAGICIAN
NEW
See Thurston's Cabinet Demonstration
Bring the Children to the Matinees
Thur. & Sat. 50c to $1.50, Eves. 50c to $2

BOSTON
BRIGHTEST
Week of Sept. 30 at 8 and 2. Phone Beach 3740
SOPHIE TUCKER
With TED SHAPIRO and JACK CARROLL
TOM PATRICOLA, WM. & JOE MANDELL
Lou Holtz, Dotson, Van & Corey, Ina Ward & Billy
Wheeler-Cwen McGiveney

ARLINGTON NOW
Beach 5967
"OH JOY"
EVGS. at 8:15 MAT. WED. & SAT. at 2:15
$1 to 25c
FOLLIES
50c to $1.75

GAYETY
BURLESQUE VAUDEVILLE
2:00 & 8:00
JEAN ARTHUR'S
Chuckles of 1923
ALL COLORED

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE
Continuous Vaud. 10:30
THE BIG 4 in "HOT TIMES" 2nd Week
Direction JOHN GILBERT
"The Yellow Streak"

Amusements

COLONIAL
LAST 5 TIMES
Mats. Wed. & Sat.
ZIEGFELD TRIUMPH
MARILYN MILLER
LEON ERROL
SALLY
NEXT MON.—Seats Thurs.
Direct From the Year's Run at the Moss' Broadway Theatre, N. Y.
"MOST FAMOUS SHOW IN AMERICA"

SAM H. HARRIS presents
IRVING BERLIN'S
MUSIC BOX REVUE
Staged by BASSARD CHOST
WITH ENTIRE NEW YORK CAST
William Collier, Florence Moore, Joseph Santley, Ivy Sawyer, Sally Ward, Chelsea Terry, Hugh Cameron, Paul Frawley, Mlle. Marguerite, Rose Rolando, Renda Dunn, Helen Nalerio, Chester Hale, Carlos and Inez, Dorothy Burgess, Anna Wheaton, Katherine Van Pelt, Mary Milford, Frank Gill, and the MUSIC BOX GIRLS.

"An Entertainment Unsurpassed"
Now Showing Daily—
2:15 and 8:15 P. M.
TREMONT TEMPLE
"With Eustace in Africa
Through Jungle Wilds"
A film which ranks easily first in the wonders of its animal photography, its thrills of a hunter's life, and the wealth of beauty in scenes which would know more of the almost unexplored jungle and its wild inhabitants.
MR. and MRS. HARRY K. EUSTACE
The famous African explorers who are now visiting Boston will appear personally at each performance.
TREMONT TEMPLE
For Six Days Only.

WALDRON'S
AL REEVES
Blue Vaudeville and Picture Show
Doors Open 12:30 CONTINUOUS to 10:30

BOSTON THEATRE
CONTINUOUS
GREAT EUROPEAN ACTS
PRINCETON FIVE, Jones & Greenlee & Lee, Ezra Hayes, Jack & Sandy, new comedy act

FRANKLIN PARK
Connecticut Yankees
ESTELLE TAYLOR in "A Full Day" with Tom Moore, Lila Lee, Warner Bros. All-Star Cast

HOWARD
MAT. WHITE AND HIS RISING CADETS IN THE SPLENDID LIE
E. WATSON and others. Always something doing 2 till 11.

LANCASTER THEATRE
HOUSE PLUS—"The Storm" "Top of the Hundred"

GORDON'S OLYMPIA
Prize B. Keen's Great Story
"KINDRED OF THE DUST"
5 BIG VAUDEVILLE ACTS
Auto Parking

GORDON'S STRAND
All This Week
ADOLPHE VALENTINO
in "Blood and Sand"
Free Auto Parking

Amusements

See these super-photoplays
Created by Cosmopolitan Productions at your favorite theatre
MARION DAVIES
in

"The Bride's Play"
Starring Marion Davies
Sept. 27-28—Keith's, Falmouth, Mass.
Sept. 28—Isis, Exeter, N. H.
Oct. 2-4—Tremont, Boston, Mass.

"Beauty's Worth"
Starring Marion Davies
Sept. 24-26—Pantian, Boston Mass.
Sept. 27-28—Empire, Newport, R. I.
Sept. 28—Bijou, Fall River, Mass.
Oct. 1—Fairbanks, Dorchester, Mass.
Oct. 2—Strand, Roxbury, Mass.
Oct. 3-4—Colonial, Lawrence, Mass.

"Enchantment"
Starring Marion Davies
Sept. 24-26—Maplewood, Maplewood, Mass.
Oct. 1—Lawrence, Revere, Mass.
Oct. 2—Lynn, Revere, Mass.
Oct. 3—Davis, Revere, Mass.
Oct. 4—Bijou, Wakefield, Mass.

"Young Diana"
Starring Marion Davies
Sept. 24-27—Alhambra, Quincy, Mass.
Sept. 28-30—Garden, Dorchester, Mass.
Oct. 1—Strand, Roxbury, Mass.
Oct. 2-3—Colonial, Woonsocket, R. I.
Oct. 4—Strand, Pawtucket, R. I.
Oct. 5—Strand, Taunton, Mass.
Oct. 6—Empire, Fall River, Mass.
Oct. 7—Empire, Newport, R. I.

"Buried Treasure"
Starring Marion Davies
Sept. 24-26—Park, Somerville, Mass.
Sept. 27-29—Lawler, Greenfield, Mass.
Sept. 30—Gem, Enfield, Mass.
Other Cosmopolitan Productions

"The Good Provider"
Sept. 23-27—Central, Waltham, Mass.
Sept. 24-27—Comique, Taunton, Mass.
Sept. 27—Opera House, East Weymouth, Mass.
Sept. 27-28—Strand, Quincy, Mass.
Sept. 28-30—North Shore, Gloucester, Mass.
Oct. 1—Empire, Newburyport, Mass.
Oct. 2-3—La Ingres, Lawrence, Mass.
Oct. 4—Park, Salem, Mass.
Oct. 5—Elm Park, Methuen, Mass.
Oct. 6—Bijou, Haverhill, Mass.
Oct. 7—Strand, North Reading, Mass.
Oct. 8—Strand, Wakefield, Mass.
Oct. 9—Crescent, South Boston, Mass.
Oct. 10-11—Empire, Brockton, Mass.

"The Beauty Shop"
Sept. 25—Bellevue St. Auburn, Me.
Sept. 27—Champlain, Bangor, Me.
Sept. 28—Strand, Augusta, Me.
Sept. 29—Strand, Rockland, Me.
Sept. 30—Opera House, Thomaston, Me.
Oct. 1—Opera House, Belfast, Me.
Oct. 2—Opera House, Dover, Me.
Oct. 3—Opera House, Foxcroft, Me.

"Straight Is the Way"
Sept. 24—Opera House, Turners Falls, Mass.

"Valley of Silent Men"
Sept. 24-27—Washington, Boston, Mass.
Sept. 24-25—Empire, Newburyport, Mass.
Sept. 25-27—Bijou Dream, Boston, Mass.
Sept. 27-29—Tremont, Brattleboro, Vt.
Sept. 28-30—Alhambra, Quincy, Mass.
Sept. 28-30—Scenic, Boston, Mass.
Sept. 28-30—Opera House, Boston, Mass.
Sept. 30—Strand, Roxbury, Mass.
Sept. 29—Casino, Saugerties, N. Y.
Sept. 30—Arthur Hall, Chelsea, Mass.
Sept. 28-30—Federal, Salem, Mass.
Oct. 1-2—Strand, Worcester, Mass.
Oct. 3—Lansing, Rochester, Mass.
Oct. 3—Strand, Newburyport, Mass.
Oct. 3-7—Colonial, Keene, N. H.
Oct. 4-6—Strand, Lynn, Mass.
Oct. 5—Opera House, Manchester, N. H.
Oct. 6-7—Strand, Lawrence, Mass.
Oct. 8—Strand, Lowell, Mass.

"Find the Woman"
Sept. 24—Opera House, Franklin, Mass.
Sept. 27—Grand Opera House, Boston, Mass.
Sept. 27—Casino, Chelsea, Mass.
Sept. 27—Grand, Revere, Mass.
Oct. 4—Strand, Wallace, Mass.
Oct. 4—Lincoln, Lincoln, N. H.
Oct. 4—Empire, Exeter, Mass.
Oct. 7—Empire, Whitman, Mass.

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford"
Sept. 24—Globe, Malden, Mass.
Sept. 27—Lincoln, Lincoln, N. H.
Oct. 1—Empire, Wood St., Vt.
Oct. 7—Lawrence, E. Lee, Library, N. H.

"Back Pay"
Sept. 26—Lyric, Warren, R. I.
Sept. 28—Grand, Pawtucket, R. I.
Sept. 30—Palace, Jamestown, R. I.
Oct. 2—Empire, Newport, R. I.
Oct. 3—Empire, Tremont, Mass.

"Boomerang Bill"
Sept. 26—Pastime, Chicopee, Mass.
Sept. 27—Grand, Pawtucket, R. I.
Oct. 5-7—Tremont, Boston, Mass.

"Just Around the Corner"
Sept. 26-27—Strand, Lawrence, Mass.
Sept. 29—Star, Fairfax, Vt.
Oct. 3—Empire, Derby Line, Mass.

"Woman God Changed"
Sept. 27-29—Anderson's, Woodsville, N. H.

"Humoresque"
Sept. 25-26—Star, North Breathit d, Mass.
Sept. 30—Call's, Winn, Maine

"Heliotrope"
Sept. 24—Town Hall, Milton, Mass.
Sept. 25—Community, West Warren, Mass.
Oct. 2—Lincoln, West Lincoln, Mass.
Oct. 6-7—G. H. Hall, Gilbertville, Mass.

"Inside the Cup"
Sept. 29—Lyric, Bristol, R. I.
Oct. 3—Capitol, Providence, R. I.

Created by Cosmopolitan Productions

Oils and Specialties Lead Strong New York Market Rebound After Reaction

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

New York, Sept 25—What may we expect the final quarter of the year to bring forth business-wise?

* * *

My one-sentence reply would be: Moderate improvement despite various threatened developments of an unsettling nature.

* * *

What are some of these threatened developments?

Well, the November voting is not likely to cause financial or business hilarity.

The German volcano may burst into eruption. Germany cannot long continue manufacturing bill-ons of paper currency daily without bursting on a crisis, especially as prices are being marked up more rapidly than wages. The Reichsbank has raised its discount rate to 8 per cent, the highest figure in fifteen years.

There's a fresh uprising against the treatment accorded her by the Allies, causing widespread unrest, as it portends, of course, that really serious warfare may be precipitated, but somehow, I can't take a panicky view of this situation.

Scarcity of coal may cause some inconvenience and dislocation.

Railway congestion may prove a real handicap to industrial expansion, the marketing of crops and business in general.

The new tariff law is fraught with unpleasant possibilities, domestic and international.

After the November elections Washington may again alarm the financial and business world by taking up the bonus arrow.

And wholly unforeseen events may, of course, occur at any moment to cause acute uneasiness.

* * *

Rather a sobering list, isn't it?

* * *

Yet, favorable should outweight unfavorable developments during the last three months of the year.

* * *

The world's 1922 yield of wheat is far from excessive, so that our farmers should obtain better prices than those which lately ruled. Satisfactory prices for the crops would do more than any other one thing to stimulate and solidify business prosperity in this country.

The world's supplies of cotton are light, and all indications are that the South will experience its greatest harvest in the history of profitable prices for its staple product.

* * *

The spending power of this country has been greatly increased during recent months through the very notable expansion in employment, while the rising tendency in wages is also a factor to be taken into the reckoning.

* * *

Thanks to the long period of abundant surplus funds, business leaders in business centers always have been able to raise enormous amounts of capital to take care of the wishes of the owners of business in fact, a condition of momentous importance. Should money rates become firmer, there is definitely because of demands to handle greater industrial and business activity and, consequently, ought to be regarded as an encouraging sign. Most authorities predict the continuance of low money rates in Wall street and elsewhere, but my opinion that rates are likely to become distinctly firmer is probably worthless. Inside the stock exchange loans were marked up last week, call money going to 4% per cent.

The stocks of merchandise in most lines are extremely light in being duly emphasized by the unusual rapidity of turn in goods being delivered. It is quite possible that the upward trend of prices now under way will result in a stampede of buyers. While this would give business a drastic impetus, it would foster a state of mind highly injurious, and certain to entail disastrous consequences. If we are to have the right kind of prosperity, all trade interests, from manufacturer to retailer, must resist the temptation to rush into speculative prices. Everything considered, I feel that there is almost as much danger to be apprehended from extend buying as from unduly restricted buying between now and the end of the year.

* * *

Railroad earnings are on the increase. The iron and steel industry is becoming distinctly busier, of advancing prices for a number of products. The building boom can be relied on all sides although rising costs threaten to modify it. The settlement of the coal and railway and textile strikes is having a stimulating influence. The reopening of numerous plants is also helping. Equipment companies are booming much business. The shoe, lumber, copper, lead, woolen and a host of other industries are doing better and promise to continue to do better.

* * *

That the final three months of the year will witness distinctly better times than were enjoyed in the first three months of the year is certain.

(Copyright, 1922, by B. C. Forbes.)

SUBSTANTIAL STOCK DIVIDEND PLANNED

Special meeting of shareholders of American Machine and Foundry has been called for October 17 to vote on increasing capital stock $37,500,000. Proposition is to present it to stockholders as a stock dividend. There is no present intention of issuing for cash any of additional 50,000 shares at $100 par. Substantial stock dividend is in contemplation.

STANDARD OILS ARE FEATURES IN TRADING

Oils and specialties led a strong rebound after a forenoon reaction on the N. Y. stock exchange Saturday. Railway issues were also in demand, call funds later dropping to 4½. Standard Oil issues were features in trading.

New London for the year were made to Standard Oil of New Jersey chief Stokes steel kings, Owens Bottle, U. S. Realty and Int. Nickel. Lead Kennecott advanced 5 points at 130, then receded to 125. Copper was up to a new at 19¼. Tobacco Products issues gained 2 to 3, California Petroleum 2 and Associated Oil 1.

STUDEBAKER OFF

Studebaker opened up at 196¾, sagged to 194, rallied to 199 and then declined to 195¾, a net loss of 1¾.

Point or better gains appeared in Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Pacific Gas & Electric, Mexican Petroleum, Pan-American, Coca Cola, American Beet Sugar, Phillips Pate, Standard Oil of California, Canadian Pacific, General Electric, New York Central, Norfolk & Western, Phillips Petroleum, Pure Oil and Pacific Gas.

Republic Steel shipped a point at 68¼ and Retail Stores lost 1⅛ at 80¾.

Woolworth's added 6¼ at 190; American Tobacco, 2¾ at 134, and Davison Chemical, 2¾ at 63¾.

CURB STANDARDS HIGH.

On the New York Curb Standard Oil issues were conspicuous for gains in the petroleum group. Sarnia Oil ranging from 6⅞ to 8⅝, with the trading being influenced by predictions of 100 per cent. stock dividend.

Standard Oil of New York sold at 129 and touched 130, a new record for the year so far as known, but without special change in its market position. International Petroleum sold at 21 and 21⅜.

European Bonds Keep Up Their Advances

Trading in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange was up to active, prices showing some irregularity, but with the main trend distinctly upward.

Foreign bonds continued to show improvement, moderate gains being recorded in Belgian 7½s and 8s, Czechoslovak 8s, Serbian 7½s and Italian Mediterranean 8s and Cassino-Plowlan 8s.

Anton Turgeds 8s were pushed up 2¼ points in reflection of reports of better earnings, and Mexican 4s and Cuba Republic 5s of 1904 also moved to higher levels around.

Japanese first 4½s and Danish municipal 8s, series B, dropped a point each.

Wall St. Gossip

W. J. WOLLMAN & CO.—"There is a good foundation on which to build constructively advancing market in standard securities. We believe general course of market will continue upward."

GOODBODY & CO.—"For the present can see nothing except an irregular market."

PRINCE & WHITELY "Do not believe it wise to make purchases on the rise and ignore daily fluctuations."

J. S. BACHE & CO.—"Aside from possible developments due to European complications, there seems to be nothing in domestic conditions to change the bull per upward trend of prices."

E. F. HUTTON & CO.—The market has acted very well in our opinion and we think that present accumulation of certain stocks has been going on.

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT is contemplating issue of one of its outstanding issues in exchange for its four coupon 8 per cent. treasury notes, redeemable at 102½.

INDUSTRIAL shares on the New York Curb most of its principal issues which has seldom been recorded, present figures having been exceeded only in the bull swings of 1916 and 1919.

THE BETHLEHEM Rajcora Corporation, which has been incorporated in Delaware, is to be entitled to issue of $1,000,000 common capital subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

MAYO TIRE will issue 5,000 shares of no par value at a special meeting of the stockholders called for October 17 if present plans are approved according to official announcement.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE QUOTATIONS FIRM

Foreign exchange quotations were firm. Sterling demand was 4 42⅜; cables, 4.42⅝. Other demands were: francs, .0768; lires, .0423½; Belgians, .0724½; marks, .0007⅝; drachmas, .0321; guilders, .3613; Swiss, .1871; pesetas, .1533; Sweden, .2646; Norway, .1688 and Denmark, .2086.

PRICES ARE STEADY IN LONDON MARKET

Prices are steady in the London and Liverpool spot markets. Cotton was last up ⅛ at 4⅞, 57, up 1, 4s, 100 fund ing 4s, 88⅝, off ¼; French 4s, 35½, up ¼; Russian 4s, 12, up ½; 4½s, 7½, up ½; 7, up 1. Rio Tinto 2s, up ⅝.

NEW YORK STOCKS

The prices on the New York Stock Exchange from the opening until the close had the following range:

Figures after dividend paying stocks signify yield in dollars.

Stocks	Open	High	Low	Close
Adams Ex	39¾	39¾	39¾	39¾
Adams Mills	18⅞	18⅞	18⅞	18⅞
Alb Perfor Co (8)	79	79	78	78
Alb Perfor Wool	146	146	146	146
Allis Chal (4)	6	6	6	6
Amer Ag Chem	85¾	85¾	85¾	85¾
Am Beet Sug	103	103	101	101
Am Can com	124½	124½	122½	122½
Am Can pf	120	120	120	120
Am Car & Fy	105	105	105	105
Am Car & Fy pf	103	103	103	103
Am Cot Oil	27½	27½	27½	27½
Am Cot Oil pf	75	75	75	75
Am Hide & L pf	70	70	70	70
Am Int (1)	114	114	113	113
Am Linseed	26¾	26¾	26¾	26¾
Am Linseed pf	87	87	87	87
Am Locomotive	89½	89½	89½	89½
Am Locomotive pf	104	104	104	104
Am Smelting	61½	61½	61½	61½
Am Smelting pf	104	104	104	104
Am Steel Fdy	45¾	46¼	44¾	44¾
Am Sugar	107	107	107	107
Am Sugar pf	107	107	107	107
Am Tel & Tel	122½	122½	122½	122½
Am Tel & Tel rts	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Am Tob pf	134	134	134	134
Am Woolen	48¾	48¾	48¾	48¾
Am Woolen pf	107	107	107	107
Am Writ Paper	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝
Am Zinc	25	25	25	25
Anaconda	39½	39½	39½	39½
Atch (4)	97	97	97	97
Atch pf (4)	94	94	94	94
Atl Coast Line (7)	118½	118½	118½	118½
Atl Gulf & W I	21	21	21	21
Atl Gulf & W I pf	30¾	31	30¾	30¾
Austin Nichols	37	37¾	37	37¾
Austin Nich pf (7)	87¼	88	87¼	87¼
Baldwin (7)	135¾	135¾	133¾	133¾
Baldwin pf (7)	115¾	115¾	115¾	115¾
Balt & Ohio	50¾	50¾	50¾	50¾
Bal & Ohio pf (4)	65¼	65¼	65¼	65¼
Barnsdall A	30¾	30¾	30¾	30¾
Barnsdall B	48	47	47	47¾
Bethlehem B	59¾	59¾	59¾	59¾
Beth Steel (8)	127¾	127¾	127¾	127¾
Beth Steel pf (7)	109	109	109	109
Booth Fish	3	3	3	3
Brooklyn Ed (10)	117¾	117¾	117¾	117¾
Brooklyn Rapid Tr	24¾	24¾	24¾	24¾
Brook R T rts	20¾	20¾	20¾	20¾
Brown Shoe	52¾	52¾	52	52
Brun Bal Wel (10)	117¾	117¾	117¾	117¾
Burroughs	48	47	47¾	47¾
Burns Bros B	75¾	75¾	75¾	75¾
Burns Bros B pf	92¾	92¾	92¾	92¾
Butte Sup	32¾	32¾	32¾	32¾
Butterick	21	21	21	21
Cadillo Oil	11	11¼	11	11
Cal & Arizona (5)	42	42	41	41
Calahan Zinc	9¾	9¾	9¾	9¾
Cal Packing (4)	94	94	94	94
Cal Petr	64¾	64¾	64¾	64¾
Cal Petr pf	74	74	74	74
Cal Petr Leather	41¾	42	41¾	41¾
Cant Leather pf	40	41	40¼	41
Canada Cem	65¾	65¾	65¾	65¾
Can Car Fdry	39½	39½	39½	39½
Can Car Fdry pf	83	83	83	83
Can Pacific	139½	139½	138½	138½
Case Thresh com	60	60	60	60
Case Thresh pf (8)	93	93	93	93
Cent Agu (2)	69¾	69¾	69¾	69¾
Cent Alloy	41	41	41	41
Cent Alloy pf	93	93	93	93
Cent Foundry	39½	39½	38½	38½
Cent Leather	61	60¾	60¾	60¾
Cent Leather pf	93	93	93	93
Cent Pacific	93½	93½	93½	93½
Chandler Motor	74	74	74	74
Chesa & Ohio (4)	75	75	75	75
Chi & Alton	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾
Chi & Alton pf	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾
Chi & R Isl	20¾	20¾	20¾	20¾
Chi & R Isl pf	60	60¼	59¾	59¾
Chi & R Isl rts	3	3	3	3
Chi Rock Isl & P	93¾	93¾	93¾	93¾
C C C & St L	93	93	93	93
Cin Cals (6)	69½	71½	69½	71½
Cin Fund	34	34	34	34
Cin Leaf & St (6)	110¼	112	110¼	112
Cin Gas & El	85¾	85¾	85¾	85¾
Cin Gas & El pf	89¾	89¾	89¾	89¾
Cin Ind Gas	39	39	38¾	38¾
Cin Ind Gas pf	89	89	89	89
Cin Traction	39¾	39¾	39¾	39¾
Cleve Cin Chi & St L	61	61	61	61
Cleve Cin Chi & St L pf	86	86	86	86

REAL ESTATE HAPPENINGS

Papers have been recorded whereby Martin F. McDonnell and wife Matilda from Thomas W. Kelly Estate Trust, the title to the property in No. 621 Tremont street, corner of Dartmouth. The total assessment is $17,800, of which $7,000 is on the 1740 square feet of land.

DORCHESTER SALES.

The following sales have been recorded by the office of J. A. Wales Company of No. 696 Dudley street, Roxbury:

A three-family dwelling at No. 9 Henry street to Mary Lorden, who says for occupancy and investment. The property has 2,500 square feet of land, assessed for a total valuation of $8,500.

At No. 482 Ashmont street, a two-family frame dwelling with modern improvements, assessed at $9,500, which $2,000 is on the 7,400 square feet of land. Anthony Musto was the grantor and Joseph Hogan the grantee, the latter buying for a home and investment.

A three-family dwelling at No. 108 Alexander street, conveyed by Michael J. Lally to Mary Coyne. The property is assessed at $7,500, of which $1,000 is on the 3,000 square feet of land.

At No. 46 Brent street, the single frame dwelling, with 4,500 square feet of land, sold by William E. McIntosh to Annie McGuire. The total valuation is $4,500, with $2,000 of the amount on the land.

At No. 18 Everett street, the three-family dwelling, owned and occupied by Messrs. Hay and Anderson, was sold to James C. McKenzie. The assessed valuation is $10,400, the 6,000 square feet of land having an assessed value of $2,000. Mr. McKenzie later resold to William Byrne.

At No. 804 Park street, the 3-family dwelling, assessed for $11,000, was conveyed by Eugene McCarthy to John Callahan. The 4,500 square feet of land is valued at $2,500.

EXCHANGE INDORSES LICENSE

The board of directors of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange have indorsed the idea of requiring a State license for real estate brokers and salesman, similar to that required by the insurance brokers' license law. The matter has been referred to the Brokers' Board to secure the co-operation of the Boston Real Estate Exchange and other real estate organizations in the State for the purpose of drafting a law for presentation at the next session of the Legislature.

The principal benefit of such a law, according to Warren A. Brennan, president of the Massachusetts Exchange, will be the protection it will afford to the public against selling or buying real estate who are not versed in the law and who at the same time are at the mercy of irresponsible brokers in the matter of commissions and extra fees.

The matter of automobile congestion in the congested sections has been given serious consideration by the exchange. A committee, consisting of Warren A. Brennan, Robert W. Fowler and Thomas F. O'Brien, was appointed to confer with a similar committee of the Boston Real Estate Exchange and the Boston Chamber of Commerce to make a study of the situation. This committee will also co-operate with the new planning board which has been appointed by Mayor Curley.

BAY STATE ROAD SALE.

Deed has been filed to record the transfer of title of No. 83 Bay State road from Estelle P. Clarke to Edith H. Saunders, et al, who purchased for occupancy. Included in the conveyance is a lot of land containing 1,600 square feet, assessed for $9,600, together with a five-story brick and stone dwelling, the total assessed value being $24,000. The brokers in the sale were Street & Company.

RECORD OF TRANSFERS.

The following transfers were recorded at the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds on Friday, September 22, according to the files of the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

CITY PROPERTY.

Marion E. Gage to Edgar F. Benjamin, Dora street.

Lotpi Pollio to Francesco Lesto, et ux., nineteen way to Weston street.

Leopold G. Grbene to Frank L. Woldman, Scarborough street (3 lots).

Alma G. Bowen to Alice E. Nelson, Irving and Falsh streets (2 lots).

Advertisement

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting. Then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

RADIO PROGRAM

STATION WGI, MEDFORD.

7:30 a. m.—"Before Breakfast Set-Ups." Mr. Arthur E. Baird, Cains's College of Physical Culture.

7:30-7:35—Toning up exercises for business men.

7:35-7:50—Weight reducing exercises.

7:50—Weight increasing exercises. A short talk follows the work-out.

10:00 a. m.—Musical program.

11:30 a. m.—Official weather forecast (485 meters).

1:30 p. m.—Boston Farmers Produce Market report (485 meters).

3:30 p. m.—Current events, Boston Traveler.

3:35—Musical program.

6:30 p. m.—Market report—U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics (485 meters).

6:39 p. m.—Boston police reports, Boston police headquarters.

Late news flashes, early sports news, Boston American.

7:00 p. m.—Evening program: I. "The Family Circle," conducted by the Youth's Companion. 1. "Too Ladylike." 2. "The Summons." 3. "There Was None to Spare." 4. "An Antique Bazaar." II.—Weekly business report, by Roger W. Babson. III.—World statistical survey, Bulletins by market and radio on export conditions, U. S. Department of Commerce. IV.—Financial bulletins, Babson's American. V.—Concert program: 1. Adele Rraham, coloratura soprano, assisted by Madame Braham at the piano. Third appearance at these concerts. 2. Joint recital. Mr. Frederick L. Taylor, violinist, artist teacher of Quincy, Master Harry Scott, violinist; Miss Hazel K. Scott, pianist. (a) "Serenade," (b) "Dance Tyrolienne." Wieniawski. Von Blon: (b) "Dance," Ditterdorf: Mr. Taylor and Master Scott. (c) "La Paloma," Yradier; Mr. Hayler. (c) "Pavane," Gabriel-Marie; Lahitzy; Mr. Taylor and Master Scott. 3. Remo Anderini, tenor soloist of the Cosmopolitan Grand Opera Company. Mr. Andreini has a record of sixteen years in the largest opera houses of Europe. He has sung in America with Madame Tetrazzini and Trucilla Galli Curci. Accompanist, Maestro Artur Casiglia, conductor of the Cosmopolitan Grand Opera Company. (a) "Romanza," from opera "Rigoletto," Verdi; (b) "O'Paradiso," from "L'Africana," Meyerbeer.

The Shepard Stores, Boston.

4:00 p. m.—Dance music, the Shepard Colonial Orchestra.

4:30 p. m.—Selections on the Weite Mignon Player Piano.

4:30 p. m.—Dance music, the Shepard Colonial Orchestra.

5:00 p. m.—Selections on Victrola.

10:00 p. m.—

1. Piano solo. "Prelude, C Minor," Rachmaninoff
Mr. Justin E. Sandridge.
2. Duet—"Don't You Weep When I'm Gone," Myers
Mrs. Ethel Hardy Smith, contralto; Mr. E. Percival Parham, tenor; Miss Eva White, accompanist.
3. Soprano solo—"Bonnie Sweet Bessie," Mrs. Ethel Hardy Smith, artist pupil of the Leschetizky theory.
4. Tenor solo—(a) "Vision"; (b) "The Island of Isenderi"
Mr. E. Percival Parham, Musical Director for all the Victrola Records.
5. Baritone solo—"Bedouin Love Song," Mr. Lawrence Henry, pupil of the Mozart Society of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.
6. Piano solo—"Love Dream" ..... Liszt
Miss Eva White, accompanist.
7. Duet—"Sing Me a Song of Solemn Love," Old Form (a) "Darling Nellie Gray," Yeoll
Lauchland theory.
Mr. E. Percival Parham, tenor
8. Soprano solo—"Yesterday and o'l" days" ..... Spross
Mrs. Ethel Hardy Smith.
9. Tenor solo—"Hymn to the Night" ..... Yeoll
"Sylvia" Percival Parham
10. Baritone solo—"Sylvia" Vanderpool (b) "Hymn to the Only With Three Eyes," Old English.
Mr. Lawrence Henry.
11. Duet—"Give Me Thy Hand, O Fairest," from "Don Pasquale," Mozart
Mrs. Ethel Hardy Smith, soprano; Mr. Lawrence Henry, baritone.

This extremely popular group of entertainers were the first negro artists to perform at this station.

Best Recipes

New England housewives are requested to send in recipes for appetizing dishes. Each dollar will be sent each volunteer printed here. Address Recipe Editor, Boston American.

How to Preserve Pears

One peck of pears (about 9½ pounds), 4¾ pounds sugar, 4¾ cups water. Make a syrup of sugar and water, cook pears until tender, then put them in wide-mouthed jars; boil syrup a little longer and pour over pears, filling the jars to overflowing. Seal while hot. One grapefruit peeling or 1 lemon may be cooked in syrup if desired.

ABBIE M. SHERIDAN.

No. 273 Euclid avenue, East Lynn, Mass.

Ham Pudding

Using a greased baking dish, arrange alternately layers of chopped ham and bread soaked in water. The last layer should be ham. Cover this with one egg and one pint of milk well beaten. Bake ½ hour. Serve when cold with potato salad.

MRS. W. HOGARDT.

No. 61 Colburn street, East Dedham, Mass.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Boston American will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment in My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Boston American.

It all happened at a dance. I had just been introduced to a young man. He asked the next dance with another fellow, but promised him the one after. When I returned from the dance, I said, "That fellow will never know what kind of a floor this is, he walked all over my feet. I wouldn't mind so much only he thinks he's a good." Imagine my embarrassment, when I found that it was his brother I was talking about.

DOROTHY S. SHEPARD.

No. 1084 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, Mass.

EMPLOYMENT SHOWS INCREASE IN AUGUST

Washington, Sept. 25.—Despite the railroad and coal strikes, employment in industry showed substantial increases in August over July, the Department of Labor announced today. Reports from 2,500 representative establishment covering 1,249,144 employees in forty-two manufacturing industries showed that in thirty of these industries there were increases in the number of persons employed, while in twelve there were decreases.

MISCELLANEOUS

SILVER FISH MOTH

The silverfish is like all moths.
He quickly does his ravage and runs.
Into satin, clothes and paper of books and pictures
And leaves unfeeling evils high-grade destruction.
No other bug is quite so much.
So very hard to be to catch.
But for sure evil there's a cure
And that's powder in a can.

MARTIN'S SILVERBUG POWDER
Sold by all drug and department stores for 40c and $1.20 big and $1.60 by mail. Eleven different powders. Name kind you're ordering. All guaranteed by Mailo.

WALTHAM CHEMICAL CO.
WALTHAM, MASS.

DIAMONDS, WATCHES & JEWELRY

ALSTERLUND Pays Cash
Diamonds, Old Gold, Silver, Platinum, Purple, Etc. Bonds, Liberty, Stamps, Etc.

WATCHES, DIAMONDS ON CREDIT.
WATCH repairing, manufacturing, jobbing. Original work. Fair prices. Open evenings. J. J. ROUND & CO., 791 Washington.

$1 WEEK. DIAMONDS and WATCHES
$1 DOWN. Large stock; lowest prices. L. H. BURACK & Co., 5 Bromfield St.

PATENTS

OUR PRACTICE has extended over a period of 77 years. All communications strictly confidential. Prompt, efficient, conscientious service. Send for our booklet. Advice free.

MUNN CO., PATENT ATTORNEYS
New York office, 675 Woolworth Bldg., Washington office, Scientific American Bldg., corner 6th and F sts. Tower Bldg., San Francisco office, Hobart Bldg.

LEGAL AND PUBLIC NOTICES

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE AL COREY
NOTARY. Always home. 44 Cortez st., near 312 Columbus Ave.; phone Dewey 8216-J. NOW.

STORAGE

BUR STORAGE WAREHOUSE
899 Washington st.; Tel. Beach 5. Rooms $1 a wk. up. Limited and locked.

No. 45 Evelyn street, Dorchester.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

WHERE TO DINE.

The Oriental Restaurant Co.
344 Mass. Ave.
Phone 5187. Auto Parking Space
Opened from 11:30 a. m. to midnight
REGULAR DINNER, 60c to 85c
Served from 11:30 to 2 p. m.

EVENING SPECIALS
Served from 6 to 8, 45c to $1.25

SUNDAY SPECIAL, $1.25
HIGH CLASS ORCHESTRA
EVERY EVENING

TRAVEL GUIDE

BATH Connections for Lewiston, Augusta and Waterville
FREIGHT AND PASS. DEPOT, Foot of Lincoln, Beach, Ft. Hill, CEDAR GROVE and Ft. 6 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. Leaves Ft. Hill 6 P. M.
KENNEBEC NAVIGATION CO.
Foster's Wharf, Boston Tel Main 4618

NEW YORK $5.19
Via Rail and Boat
Outside rooms with running water for $1.50. Latest connecting train from So. Station 5:15 P. M. Steamer leaves Providence 7 P. M.
COLONIAL LINE 186 Wash. St., Boston

BAY STATE LINE NEW YORK
STATEROOMS, $1.50, $2.25 and $3.00. Steel Steamships Governor and Tremont. Leave Providence 7:00 P. M. Tickets and reservations at South Station, Back Bay and Consolidated Ticket Office.

Furnished Rooms

FURNISHED ROOMS—BOSTON
HARVARD AV., 67 —2 Suite 2; light, modern room, piano, electricity, convenient to everything.

FURNISHED ROOMS—BACK BAY
ST. BOTOLPH ST., 125—Pleasant, newly-furnished suite and single rooms; all conveniences.

FURNISHED ROOMS—BEACHMONT
WINTHROP AV., 320—3 cozy rooms for housekeeping; adults only. Tel. rivers 3005-R.

FURNISHED ROOMS—CAMBRIDGE
BROADWAY, 320—Single room, electric lights, all improvements.
RAYMOND ST., 65 — Suite of 2 rooms furnished; tel. University 1414-R.
NICELY furnished rooms, with or without light housekeeping; all improvements. Tel. eliiote University 1414-R.

FURNISHED ROOMS—CHARLESTOWN
BUNKER HILL ST., 208—Two rooms and bath, gas, set range. Tel. 9782.

FURNISHED ROOMS—DORCHESTER
HEATED ROOM suitable for one; near Dorchester terminal. 104 Rockville Park. Ros. 2296-J.

FURNISHED ROOMS—SOMERVILLE
GLENN ST., 65 — Furnished rooms for light housekeeping. Tel. somerville 3002-M.

FURNISHED ROOMS—SOUTH END
COMFORT—Newly refurnished sunny ROOMS, $1 up day, weekly, $5, $3 up. Tel. 54500 B. B., 567 Tremont st.
HOTEL ALDEN, BOSTON
Get rest at 617A Tremont st.
DARTMOUTH ST., 39—Large room with board, 37 week; single rooms, $2 up week; men only.
W. NEWTON ST., 37—Every room a dream, $5, $6, $7. 25 rooms, 15 showers; change in every room. Private baths. Daily rate $1.25, $2. Early call before 9 p. m. B. 7300
WORCESTER SQ., 30—Large square room, bath room floor, hot and cold water.
UNION PK., 49—Sunny front room.
BOARD AND ROOMS
CHILD wanted; good home; 3 year old. MRS. RICH, 87 Arlington st., Everett. 1856-R.
NEWLY for rooms, good home cooking. MRS. SULLIVAN, 36 E. Newton st., Boston.
WANTED—Children to board. 39 Regent st., Roxbury.

DEATHS

BROWN—In Charlestown, Sept. 22, Bertie (nee Sett), beloved wife of the late Augustus Brown.
Funeral from her late residence on Thurs. at 8:30 a. m., thence to St. Mary's Church at 9:30. High mass of requiem at 10. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Interment private.
BUTMAN—In Roslindale, Sept. 22, Lottie M., wife of Charles H. Butman, in her 59th year.
Funeral services at her late home, 11 Ainsworth st., Monday, Sept. 25, at 2 p. m. Interment private. Kindly omit flowers.
DAILY—In Brookline, Sept. 22, Martin J., husband of Ellen Daily, aged 61 years.
Funeral from his late residence, 19 Eliot crescent, Monday, Sept. 25, at 8:15 a. m. Solemn high mass of requiem at St. Lawrence's church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited.
FOOD—In Boston, Sept. 22, Constance Maxine, child of Marguerite (nee McVey) and the late Lt. David Food of Ad. Brookline st.
Funeral from parents' residence, Monday, at 2 p. m. Burial private.
FOLEY—At Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 20, Hannah Foley, sister of the late Mary Foley (nee Barry), formerly of East Boston.
Funeral from her late residence, 46 Bremen st., Miss Nellie Foley, 2 Adams st., Charlestown, Monday, Sept. 25, at 8:30 a. m., thence to high mass of requiem at St. Francis Xavier's church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.
SMITH—Sept. 22, Louise ——, wife of Frederick Smith, and daughter of Nellie and Patrick Fennell, Standish, aged 28 years.
Funeral Standish, afternoon, 2 p. m., from her late residence, 14 Crandall st., Roslindale.

UNDERTAKERS

Removal Notice
DAVID H. CURTIS
Funeral Home
Every variety of casket shown from the cheapest to most expensive.
FREE USE OF CHAPEL
SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN BACK BAY
Office Warerooms and Chapel Parking & Tel. Bks. Kenmore 2161 and 2162

MALE HELP WANTED

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company
MEN WANTED
Permanent positions for competent men whose work is satisfactory as:
Machinists ..... 66-75c per hour
Boilermakers ..... 67-75c per hour
Blacksmiths ..... 66-75c per hour
Electrical Workers .. 65-75c per hour
Carpenters & Joiners 66-73c per hour
Car Inspectors and Repair Men ..... 63c per hour
Helpers, first year .... 45c per hour
The above rates are those agreed upon with the committee of the Mechanical Department Association.
This is not a strike against the railroad; it is a strike waged against a reduction in rates of pay ordered by the United States Railroad Labor Board effective July 1, 1922.
Apply Room 479
South Station, Boston
Open 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Wanted
FREIGHT HANDLERS
45c per hour
Apply to General Foreman,
WARREN BRIDGE,
Boston & Maine Railroad,
Boston, Mass.

WANTED
RESIDENT SALESMAN FOR WELL KNOWN LIGHT TRUCK AND QUALITY PASSENGER CAR AGENCY. ROLINDALAR, WEST ROXBURY AND JAMAICA PLAIN.
Unquestionably the best selling truck and car in the field.
Passenger car, too, is recognized as a leading value.
Well advertised, well thought of.
We want a man who can sell. Previous automobile selling experience is not necessary, but he must be a hustler. Apply at once.
Box A-37, Boston American.

CABINET MAKER WANTED
First-Class Man on Custom Furniture
FREDERICK EVENSON
47 WAREHAM ST.

WANTED
A FOREMAN—To take care of a garnetting plant; experienced man only need apply.
Lambrette Garnetting Mills, Concord Jct., Mass.

WOODSMEN
For Beebe River and Lincoln, N. H. Cooks, swamper, chappers, etc. Pures advanced. Apply Employment Dept.
PARKER-YOUNG CO.,
Manufacturers Lumber
Cor. Canal and Traverse Sts.

BOILERMAKERS
Sheet Iron Workers
WE want sheets up-to-date men skilled in the above lines. Bonus and better than 70 per cent to capable men. If you want a "real job," this is your chance. Apply today, morning, afternoon or evening.
Boston Navy Yard.

ARTIST MODEL WANTED
FOR part time work, day or evening; experience not necessary. Apply SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL ART, 711 Boylston st. Back Bay 8325.

MEN
WANTED for general work. Apply in person. MERRIMAC CHEMICAL CO., North Woburn.

KNITTING FIXERS
EXPERIENCED on Reece latchets and Hose ribbers, steady work. MEDFORD WOOLEN MFG. CO., off Riverside st., Medford.

WANTED
MACHINE hands for boil sander, variety worker, stripper steady employment. NATIONAL CARBET CO., 125-140 First st., E. Cambridge.

FIRST-CLASS
UPHOLSTERERS
FRANCIS H. BACON CO., 520 Harrison av.

FOR SALE—Spiral conveyor and twine cover 30 feet long; elevator buckets, 8 in. cut, coal or wood. Telephone Jamaica 3727.

FEMALE HELP WANTED

Wanted at Once
By one of the largest publishing houses in New England
Young Lady
Between 20 and 30 years of age, to solicit business by telephone. In letter state former manner of employment and salary expected. Experience not necessary. Address U 420, Boston American.

100 Girls Wanted
Steady work for efficient help; good wages to start. Apply to KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS, NATIONAL BISCUIT CO., Cambridge.

WANTED
The Bravest Woman in Boston
$100 WILL BE PAID to the woman who will volunteer to stand in the Main Hall of the Convict Ship for 3 hours one day between the hours of 10 and 4 during her life-time's sentence in the olden days. Capt. Smith will interview applicants in person at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning aboard the Convict Ship, Warren Bridge, one block north Boston.

ARTIST MODEL WANTED
FOR part time work, day or evening; experience not necessary. Apply SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL ART, 711 Boylston st. Back Bay 8325.

LAUNDRY HELP WANTED
FEEDERS and folders; also 2 SHAKERS. Apply to COMMONWEALTH LAUNDRY CO., 1000 Franklin st., Dorchester.

Exp. Stitchers on All Parts
STEADY work; good pay. RITZ SHOE CO., 619 Albany st., Boston.

HAND PRESSER
WANTED at once. Apply T. LESLIE CO., 64 Vale st., Chelsea. Chelsea 1702-R.

WANTED, Apply LAFAYETTE [illegible] 135 Franklin st., Boston.

CARD ROOM GIRLS
CLEAN STEADY WORK
8-HOUR DAY. 5 days a week. BAY STATE FELTING, INC., 275 A Street, Boston.
COOK wanted at PERKINS INSTITUTE, Watertown. Apply to MRS. LUMMUS.
CURTAIN FINISHER and pairers in dry house, $12 or more. M. H. & S. A., 47 Franklin st., Dept. O.
GIRLS to do pressing in dry house, experience preferred. M. H. & S. A., 47 Franklin st., Dept. O.
GIRL WANTED—To assist in housework. Inquire 146 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill.
MOTHER'S helper wanted to assist with light housekeeping. Roxbury 1371.
GIRLS—Girls wanted on dresses; good pay to experienced workers. Apply to ELIOT NOVELTY CO., 1041 Washington st., Dept. 4.
WE have general and housework girls and cooks; superior families. Call at 6-300 University 1398-J.
AGENTS, CANVASSERS, SALESMEN
AGENTS—Easy making; new carpenty product not sold to stores; unlimited field; 200 per cent profit; sample free. Write today. DeLANCEY S. MITCHELL, Montpelier, Vt.
SALESMEN—Write for list of items and parts that sell on sight. Profits $10,000 yearly; experienced, city or traveling. SAY-A-LOT MFG. CO., 1 Main st., Bridgeport, Conn.
AGENTS—We positively guarantee our household appliance to do good work in all machines; full instructions and sample of work. $3 up. ORIENTAL NOVELTY CO., Box 11, Corpus Christi, Texas.

PIANOS & MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

UPRIGHT PIANOS
$25 $50 $65
as low as
$5 down $1 weekly
33-note player $175
50 rolls made free
New pianos half price
Best Piano Bargains in Boston
Used Chickering, Uprights, $65, $75; Hallet & Davis, Steinway, Weber, Knabe, Emerson & Hamlin and many others, $75 to $125. Newer pianos $135, $175 and up. Biggest warerooms' in New England. Visit us and see how prices will surprise you.
J. P. COLLINS
100 Summer Street, Boston
Largest piano dealer in the world.

NORRIS 181 TREMONT ST.
AUTOPIANO
CONDENSED 100 player piano made; construction most durable; no rubber cloth used; 65 rolls; 88 note; 2 player tracker action; used but in fine condition; sold by CHAS. S. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st. We have a representative in your city.
WE OFFER 50 used upright pianos, standard makes, from $100; 20 player pianos, $350; 65 player pianos, $450; 88 note player pianos, $500. Buy direct. CHAS. S. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st.; all makes to rent. Warerooms open every evening.
KRANICH & BACH, Hallet & Davis, Mehlin, Foote, Wesser Bros., Sanbert, Grand, Square and Upright pianos, new or used, at 500 beautiful new pianos; you will be pleased to call. Open evenings. Ernest Hastings, 395 Washington st.
SCHOOL desks, one specialty.
TUNING, repairing, polishing, exchanging, storing. Work guaranteed. Prices reasonable by CHAS. S. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st. We have a representative in your city.
USED upright player pianos and talking machines for cash or on easy terms. Greenfield st., Medford.

MOTION PICTURES
LADIES, gentlemen, we will train you for movies, dramatic or chorus; write, call or write for free stamp. 100 Boylston st. Room 400.

MACHINERY AND TOOLS
FOR SALE—Spiral conveyor and twine cover 30 feet long; elevator buckets, 8 in. cut, coal or wood. Telephone Jamaica 3727.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

What School?
A Service to Help You Choose
BOSTON AMERICAN,
60 Summer St., Boston
Please furnish me with information concerning a school of
.....
Fill in kind of school
Name .....
Street .....
City and State .....
.....

Acoustics
Estimating
Sound Proofing
Heating and Ventilating
Architectural Working Drawing
Building Construction Supervision
Evening Courses now Starting.
Also day classes. Forty other subjects. Circulars on request.
FRANKLIN UNION
Berkeley & Appleton Sts., Boston

AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE

TONIGHT
Value Five sets of second-hand automobiles; 21 cars, open and closed models; have been carefully gone over; guaranteed to run well in every respect. A small down payment, delivery your car in a few days. This is the opportunity you have been waiting for. Don't delay; now all the time for these new BOSTON BLIMOBILE CO., 949 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

FORD SEDAN
1921, good condition, new tires, lots of extras, quick sale, $295. CROSSMAN'S, 66 Stanhope st. B. B. 1144.
STOP LIGHTS for all makes of cars, Dodge rear end grease retainers, Gbe. BASCOM'S, 324 Cross st., Cambridge.

AUTOMOBILES FOR HIRE
FOR HIRE — 1922 Hudson sedan, careful driver, reasonable rates. Somerville 7313-W.

BICYCLES
NEW bicycles, $25 up. Bds., $10 up; repairing, 16 Warren st., next Dudley Term; open eves.

LOST AND FOUND
LOST—Pocketbook, containing 4 Canadian $10 bills, 1 Canadian $2 bill and 1 American $10 bill, between Dorchester and Mattapan Theatre; liberal reward. EDW. ANDERSON, 3577 Dorchester ave., Dorchester.
LOST—A silk dressing sacque, between Adams st., Milton, and Dorchester. Reward. 1 Adams st., Milton.

SEWING MACHINES
QUINCY SEWING MACHINE—Any machine; good as new, $5. MISS FOLEY, 50½ Inman st., Cambridge.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES
RESTAURANT TO LEASE
At the New Commodore Hotel. Apply to J. W. KHAPIRA & CO., 840 Exchange.

CASH REGISTERS
National Cash Registers
RECEIPT, bought and sold. F. T. KNIGHT, INC., 19 Hankerme st., Richmond Bldg.

DANCING
Wm. H. O'Brien 295 Hunt. Ave. Tel. B. B. 1811
Classes Tuesday and Thursday. Socials Mon., Wed. and Sat. Call or write for "ROSELAND"

LOOMIS 93 MASS. AVE. TEL. BACK BAY 7324
Classes every Monday and Thursday. Private lessons in modern and stage routines. Socials Wed. and Sat.

PROF. LERNER 3504 WASH. AV.
LATEST INSTRUCTION—Commencing Sept. 5 lessons by appointment. Call or write. Try us first; we know we can please you. Private lessons only taught. Very reasonable. Lessons any time. Open all summer.

Join My Soft-Shoe Classes!
IN stage, acrobatic, buck and wing, waltz-clog, ballroom and tap. Call or write. Beach 6911.

MABEL G. HALL 538 Hunt. Av. B. B. 8181
Private lessons 75c. Any time. Call.

HEINEMANN HOUSE, Boston and Somerville. Classes, socials, private lessons. Children's and adult classes. Send for circular. 176 Tremont st.

ALL STATE DANCING SCHOOL, 1083 Washington st. Tel.—Socials, Mon., Wed. Sat.; classes Tues., Thurs., Fri. Private lessons by appointment. Circulars.

STOKELL, 1008 Boylston st. (at Mass. ave.). Class for beginners tonight; 6 private lessons, $3. Circular. Copley 5419-M.

STORES AND OFFICES

STORE FOR RENT, $35
Basement store, 428 Columbus ave., Boston, suitable for delicatessen, millinery, dressmaking or shoe repairing. Apply P. F. STEARNS, 249 Washington st., Boston. Tel. Main 7112.
CORNER STORE TO RENT
MAIN ST., Woburn, good for grocery, meat market, drugist, etc. Inquire 14 Main st., Woburn, or 14 Tremont st., Boston; Congress 4850.

DESKS, CHESTS AND STORE FIXTURES
For Sale or Exchange
Whitman Co.—Sullivan Sq.

DETECTIVES
KNOW THE TRUTH—Confidential reports; 17 years established. RAY, 100 Boylston st.

WOMEN'S SPECIALTIES
Adele silk stockings; also retouch, 8 Winter St. Room 709. Beach 6937

Want-ad Order Blank

Fill Out and Mail to BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
80 SUMMER ST., BOSTON

Rates—35 cents per line one time. Six average words per line. Five cents per line discount on three-line orders and ten cents per line discount on six-time orders. Five cents per line discount on three or six-time orders. "Furnished Rooms" rates—30 cents per line one time.

Name ..... Classification .....
Street ..... Number of Days .....
Post Office ..... Am't Enclosed .....
Write complete ad below, including name, address or phone—Or if blind address is wanted mark X here [ ]

Boston should go upon record as being in the lead of all other cities in the Americanizing of its future citizens.—Daniel P. Caton, business expert.

BOSTON AMERICAN

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—September 25, 1922

The geographical centre of the city of Boston lies in the Roxbury district at the corner of Walnut avenue and Westminster street.

(The editorial which follows appears today in the first edition of W. R. Hearst's latest newspaper, the Syracuse Telegram. Readers of this newspaper will be interested in the fact that the reading family to which they belong now includes another most important city, Syracuse, N. Y., making in all TWELVE cities of the United States in which one or more Hearst newspapers are published.)

Number Twelve

One More Member of a Great and Powerful Family. One More Hearst Newspaper.

Copyright 1922, by Star Company.

Yesterday Hearst newspapers were published in ELEVEN great American cities—New York, Boston, Chicago, Rochester, Washington, D. C., Atlanta, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Milwaukee.

Today SYRACUSE is added to the list, which makes an even twelve. In some of these cities two Hearst newspapers are published, in others only one.

The people of Syracuse, third city in New York State and twelfth in the nation to publish a Hearst newspaper, are interested in the size and character of the Hearst newspaper reading family.

For SIZE means strength, and CHARACTER means infinitely greater strength.

Hearst newspapers are read every day in this country by TWENTY MILLIONS of Americans. They are the biggest newspapers in power, as well as in circulation. The New York Evening Journal has by far the biggest daily circulation in the United States. It was started and created by W. R. Hearst. The circulation is far more than double that of its nearest competitor among the evening newspapers of New York City.

The New York Sunday American has a circulation in excess of one million copies every Sunday. It has more than double the circulation of its nearest competitor, and that in spite of the fact that the New York Sunday American sells for ten cents in New York City, while its competitors all sell for five cents.

Mr. Hearst's Sunday newspapers publish the "American Weekly Magazine," with a circulation in excess of three millions every week throughout the United States.

Mr. Hearst's Chicago American has the biggest circulation of any evening newspaper in Chicago. This in spite of the fact that it sells at three cents a copy, as against the two-cent price of the Chicago Daily News, which had Chicago's biggest circulation until Mr. Hearst created the CHICAGO AMERICAN.

The Hearst publishing organization is not confined to daily newspapers. It includes the COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE, which at thirty-five cents a copy circulates more than a million copies monthly.

It circulated 250,000 copies at ten cents when Mr. Hearst bought it.

Good Housekeeping Magazine, of the Hearst family, is the most successful family publication in the United States. That family includes also Harper's Bazar, Motor, Motor Boating and Hearst's International Magazine.

These facts interest all business men in the United States, for a large part of their problem is distribution through publicity.

So much by way of information concerning the family of which this newspaper is the youngest member.

It is a gigantic family of readers, the largest ever gathered together in this world, undoubtedly.

As you read this newspaper you know that many millions of your fellow citizens from Boston to Los Angeles, from Seattle to Atlanta, are reading newspapers of the same family, inspired and directed by the same purposes.

What ARE those purposes? These, briefly:

To get the news first, telling it simply and truthfully, without bias.

To watch, protect and promote the interests of readers and of the entire nation, first by supplying information, which is essential to all accurate thinking, and second, by honest, democratic expression of comment and opinion.

You who read this newspaper may rest assured that your numbers will grow, that you are pioneers in the building of the greatest circulation, the greatest power of public opinion in this important city.

The idea underlying this publication is not merely to add a newspaper to the city of Syracuse, but rather to add the intelligence, good citizenship, earnest, honest thinking of this important American city to the greatest reading family in the United States.

Our readers everywhere from Seattle on the north of our Pacific boundary to Los Angeles in the south, from Chicago to Boston, from Boston to Washington and Atlanta, will be congratulated editorially on the fact that this city of Syracuse is included in the list of great American cities publishing the greatest chain of newspapers anywhere on earth.

It was said in Greece more than two thousand years ago that a nation could not live and retain its freedom when it became too big for the citizens to meet in the public square and discuss together their interests and their enemies.

That was true before the PRINTING PRESS came. The NEWSPAPER is the public square of TO-DAY. It is subject constantly to the initiative and referendum, it can be destroyed in a night, by its readers, if false to its trust.

It is the great mental "market place" in which the people meet and discuss.

TWENTY MILLIONS OF AMERICANS SIMULTANEOUSLY READ, DISCUSS AND THINK THE SAME THINGS IN HEARST'S NEWSPAPERS THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES.

In those readers, in their intelligence, and determination to achieve good government, resides the power for good that is by far the greatest in this country.

Snap Into It!

SEEN AND HEARD

PASSENGERS on west-bound cars from Boston, using the new subway, will find themselves rolling into a station with a strange name, in the future. At "Arlington" station passengers will find themselves reading "ARL," which is being painted in large letters on every other post.

THOMAS W. WHITE, who was appointed Commissioner of Administration and Finance by Governor Cox, is the one man who is given credit for obstructing the efforts to install an exclusive Zoning Ordinance in New ton. As leader of the "minority party" Alderman White was most outspoken against what he termed a "Prussian method" of dividing the city. The matter is still in abeyance.

In the Faneuil Hall primary election recount THOMAS H. BILODEAU of Dorchester, who won a Republican nomination to the House of Representatives, had the questionable pleasure of seeing his votes recounted, although those of his losing opponent were not. The opponent, MAURICE A. KAMM, asked for the recount, but neglected, in the petition, to ask that his own votes be recounted. The election commissioners said that under the law they were compelled to make the recount, even though Bilodeau asked them to refrain from doing so, when it developed that it would be a one-man recount.

JUDGE JOSEPH SHEEHAN of the Municipal Court likes to wear a straw hat. Proof of this was indicated when he continued to wear the straw "lid" several days after the bell rang on September 15. Comfort comes first with the Judge. Style doesn't worry him much.

EDWARD M. GREENE of Dorchester, who is well known in local horse circles, is sorely puzzled over some recent news from abroad which contained the report that a couple of his discarded colts were cleaning up on nearly all the foreign tracks.

MAYOR EDWARD W. QUINN of Cambridge got a laugh out of the advisory committee of two hundred to the Boston Planning Board when he said that "Harvard Bridge is a RATTLING good bridge." Those who have crossed the rickety structure in an automobile need no diagram for this joke.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON EVOLUTION AND BIBLE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"At noontime, in this building, a group of about fifteen or eighteen people who bring their lunches to the office carry on debates about various matters, and very often lately the matter under discussion is evolution.

"A few—a very few—of us take the stand that there is no longer a shadow of doubt among learned men about the fact of evolution, and when our opponents refer us to the Bible account of the origin of man we can only reply that there is quite evidently an error in the Bible.

"Will you be kind enough to consider yourself elected to decide this argument? Your name is often mentioned in our debates on other matters, and I am quite sure that all will take mighty seriously whatever you rule on this.—Barney O'Neill, Houston, Tex."

IT is true that no shadow of doubt rests upon the minds of scientists about the fact of evolution. The whole recent controversy on this subject has been waged on a false basis by those who attack the Darwinian theory. Their attacks show that they do not understand either the theory or the facts on which it is based. The absurdity of these attacks has not been more plainly betrayed than in the heading chosen for one of them, printed with the caption, "God or Monkey?"

When the advocate of a lost cause finds that legitimate argument is, for him, at an end he tries to set up a "man of straw" by ascribing to his opponent some statement or doctrine which that opponent has not made or does not teach. This ridiculous "man of straw," so constructed as to be easy to knock down, is no less persistently than falsely put forth as representing the real opponent and his case, and thus the ignorant and gullible are often deceived by an unscrupulous champion of their errors, who either has not enough intellectual honesty to confess the truth or is himself only a blind man leading the blind.

Man is not descended from the monkey tribe, but their lines are evidently different branches or offshoots from a remote type of vertebrate animal which represented a stage in the process of evolution that eventually brought the primates into existence. Science does not pretend to have discovered precisely how the human type originated, but it points to the incontestible fact that anatomically and physiologically men, apes and monkeys are intimately related, so intimately that their blood responds to the same tests; and it also shows that the whole history of the animal life of this globe is a history of evolution, beginning low in the scale of being and rising to higher degrees of organization, here more rapidly, there at a slower pace.

As to the necessity of concluding that the Bible is in error if the doctrine of evolution is true, I think that is a non sequitur—it doesn't follow from the premises. Some months ago, in one of these articles, I pointed out some passages in the Bible which might be interpreted as strongly supporting evolution, and distinctly recognizing it as the method of the Almighty in the formation of the earth and its inhabitants.

But it is needless to hunt for verification of the discoveries of science in religious books. Such books are full of symbolism because they are addressed to readers whose minds are not upon this material world but upon a state of being disconnected from material facts and beyond the range of physical science.

You Must Go in All Over

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

THEY say that when the late Lord Northcliffe was to be knighted and was given the usual chance to change his commoner name of Harmsworth, he chose Northcliffe because it begins with an "N."

Doubtless, unless you are in the secret, you are asking yourself the high-brow equivalent of "What has that to do with the high price of cheese?"

Just this: that "N" plainly stands for Northcliffe and secretly for Napoleon.

Because, you see, this famous publisher fancied that he resembled, in figure and in spirit, the much more famous Corsican.

It was an amiable weakness, one which many of us share with him. Not that we imagine we look like Napoleon, but we love to feel that we resemble the great ones of the earth.

And so we do, essentially. For we are all of the same spirit stuff.

The great are like the rest of us—only "more so."

The curious thing, however, is: that we are so willing to seem like the great in their faults and defects tha while we fail to respond to the noblesse which should oblige us to emulate their qualities and powers as well.

Note how commonly persons who pun will justify themselves in Shakespeare, who was a notorious punster.

Many minor poets and artists and literati carelessly cruise the coasts of questionable Bohemias, because this or that dead master is known to have been more or less self-indulgent of careless of conventions.

However, Shakespeare is not the transcendent genius of English literature because of his punning, but in spite of it.

Arthur Brisbane called attention, at the time of Northcliffe's death, to the editorial published about this man in his own newspaper: "For the British Empire he was devoted heart and soul.

That is a dynamic trait in any one, and it drives towards a shining success—this gift of the full measure of devotion.

If you are going in for patriotism, go in all over. Be red, white and blue all the way through.

If you have tackled a job, go in all over. Give yourself, every bit of your working self, to it.

If you fall in love, go in all over, dive in deep. As Emerson says: "Give all to love."

Whatever you undertake, get at it heart and soul.

(Copyright, 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

Chip in for Bonus

Editor Boston American:

For the love of Pete, can that chatter about England and Ireland! You people make me sick, always shooting off your mouths, and you don't know what you are talking about.

I did my bit in the World War. So did the English. So did the Irish. I saw how things were pulled off in both England and Ireland, and it was pretty raw on both sides, and there was less talk and is now over it than you hear on this side. Why send money anywhere else when we need it in the U. S. A. for the boys who did their bit?

In every Red Cross office there are two or more women. Bounce one and put a crippled soldier there, and any spare change you have hand to some legion to give to the boys who are down and out. Some of you wise guys would not give a nickel to see the Statue of Liberty do a cake walk, so instead of sending your chance overseas, keep it here, and if the U. S. A. does not give her boys the bonus let's all get together and chip in a dollar each and see if we can't let them have it, instead of Ireland or any other country getting it to buy bullets to bump off their pals. Don't think I'm shooting off, because I want the cash. I'm not a U. S. soldier, but a Canadian boy who did his bit the same as everyone did who had a spark of manhood in him. I thank you.

THE CANUCK
(Jack Conrad).

New Bedford.

Needs to Study

Editor Boston American:

I would advise Harold Ramsey to study the Declaration of Independence. He will learn where George III. tried to establish absolute tyranny over these States. Where he and his brutal hirelings plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burned our towns and destroyed the lives of our people. England has wiped the commerces of Holland, Spain, France and Germany off the seas. The United States is now her nearest rival, and she is working silently night and day to destroy American shipping. The British government has broken the obligations of neutrality at different times to injure the United States. China, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Russia. In the World War, England annexed new territories five times larger than the German Empire was in 1914. There is one thing you can be sure of, Mr. Ramsey, and that is the Irish nation will not help England. Other nations have also deserted her. They are getting wise to her game; they know that the Terrible Turk was never as bad as the Treacherous Limie.

JOHN McNAMARA.

Colonial Records

Editor Boston American:

William Larkin has well answered the writer in The Voice of New England who questioned the Catholic and Irishmen's achievements in the settlements and defense of the United States. I have before me an article in a magazine dated October, 1883, entitled "The Irish in Virginia." In 1649 over 5,000 Irishmen were were exiled by Cromwell, many of these settled in Virginia. Among the early settlers was John Lewis, whose experience in Ireland was sad indeed. Four of his sons were born in Ireland, and one in America—each son leaving many descendants and glorious deeds of service in United States history. Just a few: Thomas, the oldest son, represented Augusta Co. in the House of Burgesses. Andrew, the second son, was the General Lewis who commanded at the battle of Point Pleasant, May 10, 1774. William, third son, was an officer in the Revolutionary Army in which one of his sons was killed and another maimed for life.

There were many other Irish families who, exiled, settled in Virginia and were among the most honored and patriotic families. Among the descendants of John Preston of Derry, and wife, Elizabeth Patton, are many Governors, four members of different Cabinets—John Patton, Andrew Moor, John Mackay, Hugh Tilford, Mulhollands, McGuire, Lyles, McCues, McGowan, Cummings, all Irish. Another, Judge Lynch, after whom Lynchburg is named.

A LOVER OF TRUE HISTORY.

Bonus Killed

Editor Boston American:

The mourners of the bonus are far different from the mourners of John Barleycorn, believe me. Ninety-nine per cent. of overseas and domestic boys have banked on the so-much-promised bonus to pay bills, build and render their families happy. Imagine the disappointment of all the true-hearted soldiers when their country fails (where they never did). Once blood was dearer than gold; now silver is dearer than blood. 1918—Give till it hurts. It did hurt, and now it pains. Again I say, Long live America! But remember we are more to be considered than laughed it. We earned it.

A VOCATIONAL TRAINER.

Haverhill, Mass.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

PERSONS born during the period September 23 to October 23 are born under the sign of Libra and are among the most energetic, impulsive and invet-erate optimists—often gamblers and speculators who recover from crash after crash with buoyant hopefulness. They are intuitive and even mediumistic in their judgments of character.

Today is one of good omen for the formation of personal relations, especially for marriages and betrothals. Whatever the outcome the stars are with you, and you will be the better for Fate's decree.

You will have a happy and interesting year and a gradually increasing prosperity which will surpass present hopes.

A child born today will be sensitive and appreciative and adept at all manner of handicraft.

Famous Persons Born This Day

James Dana—Scientist.

Jonathan Scott Harley—Sculptor.

James Carroll Beckwith—Artist.

Eli Harvy—Sculptor and painter.

(Copyright, 1922, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Once-Overs

Copyright, 1922, by International Feature Service, Inc.

HAVE YOU COURAGE TO FIGHT FOR YOUR RIGHTS?

When you have to fight, fight —and put some spirit into it.

It may be that you are too easy going to get the advancement you want.

You care—give in too easily.

That it is easier to smother your convictions than to fight for them, is the reason you are in such a mediocre position. Isn't that a pretty true statement?

You dislike argument, fear to make enemies, so you overlook many a wrong you should resent.

You have rights, but if you do not insist upon them for yourself, very often you will not be accorded your rights.

Instead of fearing to stand up for yourself, take the attitude of upholding right and justice. You want to be fair, to yourself, as well as others.

Insist upon the respect which is due you, from others.

If you permit every one in turn to usurp your rights—you are not going to get what is due, are you?

It may be necessary for you to get right down to fisticuffs in some instances to preserve your honor. You may have to fight for it.

make the recount, even though Bilodeau asked them to refrain from doing so, when it developed that it would be a one-man recount.

JUDGE JOSEPH SHEEHAN of the Municipal Court likes to wear a straw hat. Proof of this was indicated when he continued to wear the straw "lid" several days after the bell rang on September 15. Comfort comes first with the Judge. Style doesn't worry him much.

EDWARD M. GREENE of Dorchester, who is well known in local horse circles, is sorely puzzled over some recent news from abroad which contained the report that a couple of his discarded colts were cleaning up on nearly all the foreign trucks.

MAYOR EDWARD W. QUINN of Cambridge got a laugh out of the advisory committee of two hundred to the Boston Planning Board when he said that "Harvard Bridge is a RATTLING good bridge." Those who have crossed the rickety structure in an automobile need no diagram for this joke.

—Medbury Says—

It Isn't the New Dress That Costs the Husband So Much, It Is the Upkeep

A lot of women figure their husbands are selfish because they won't buy them a two or three hundred dollar dress. It isn't the price of the dress the husband objects to, it's the upkeep, that he'll get the money somewhere to pay for them.

If he's already got the money, he goes there to pray that he won't get caught.

As soon as a man buys his wife a three hundred dollar gown he has to get a fifty dollar hat to go with it.

When he gets her these he can't take her to the movies any more. The gown and hat wouldn't look well at any place except the opera.

He finally consents to take her and then she tells him that she couldn't possibly go without a cape and the fur he is so expensive that anything but a fur coat wouldn't look well with it.

He buys her the coat and then he has to get her a pair of twenty-five dollar slippers.

The slippers cost so much that she couldn't ride on the street car and take the chance of getting them stepped on so he has to call a taxicab.

This wouldn't be so bad but she's so beautifully dressed that it would look cheap to tip the driver anything less than a dollar.

They get to the opera and she discovers he has seats in the orchestra. She makes him change them for a box where everybody can see her clothes.

Clothes are the reason that half of the women go to the opera and the reason that the other half go to church.

Of course the husband goes to church, too. He has to pray like the dickens that he won't get caught.

Of course he had the money to pay for the dress, hat, coat and slippers, but he had to borrow the money from the firm to pay for the diamond rings and pearl necklaces to go with them.

He has to work hard and try to pay the money back to the firm before the company auditor discovers that he borrowed it.

After the opera is over, his wife is so beautifully dressed that she won't go anywhere but to the swellest cafe for supper.

She can't order a sandwich or some cake and coffee. Nothing but broiled lobster or frogs' legs would look well with her clothes.

His troubles don't even end here. She feels all out of place going home to their dingy four-room apartment, so he has to build her a beautiful home in some exclusive neighborhood.

Then after he bought all of these wonderful things he had to get out of town.

So don't think it's funny when you see an exquisitely gowned and jeweled woman on the street alone; her husband is probably in jail.

JOHN P. MEDBURY.

(Copyright, 1922, King Features Syndicate)

TWO OF TUG WILSON GANG PLEAD GUILTY

EXTRA

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1922

SPORTING EXTRA

Nazzaro Fined for Noisy Party

WIFE THREATENS TO SHOOT ELOPER

2 PLEAD GUILTY OF BREAKS

Members of "Tug" Wilson Gang Admit Cloth and Shoe Thefts

Two more members of the so-called "Tug" Wilson gang, Harry Shea and Dennis W. Gallagher, retracted not guilty pleas and pleaded guilty today in Middlesex Superior Criminal Court at East Cambridge.

Judge Louis S. Cox sentenced Shea to one year in the House of Correction on one of four counts against him. By good conduct he may escape sentence on the other three counts.

Shea and Gallagher have been on trial since Friday, jointly with Max Steir and Isaac Tatlebaum. Sheriffs before noon counsel for the defense conferred with District Attorney Saltonstall and the court. Then Shea and Gallagher pleaded guilty to two counts each of conspiracy to steal and breaking and entering.

All four counts were in connection with thefts of 500 yards of woolen cloth and 132 pairs of shoes from the Boston & Maine Railroad.

In passing sentence Judge Cox observed that Shea had been in jail three months awaiting trial; also that he had been up twice before for sentence.

The court said that sentence would be imposed only on one count of conspiracy to steal 500 yards of cloth.

The action of Shea and Gallagher was similar to that of Frank Mitrano, Somerville storekeeper, who went to trial, but pleaded guilty last Thursday to ster[illegible]ng.

Charged With Giving Wife a Beating

N. T. LORING AND COUNSEL

Attorney John P. Feeney (at left) and Mr. Loring leaving Newton District Court, where the latter was charged with assault and battery on his wife and mother-in-law.

ACCUSE DOCTOR OF DRUG SALE

Dr. F. W. Tozer of Portland Sanitarium Arrested on Charge of Extortion

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—Dr. Frederick W. Tozer, proprietor of an imposing sanitarium in the fashionable Deering section of this city, is to appear in the Federal District Court here tomorrow to plead to secret indictments charging him with unlawful sale of narcotics, both in and out of the sanitarium, and with extortion.

Federal agents, who caused the arrest of Dr. Tozer, maintain that, in addition to other drugs, he has been dispensing "dionin," a powerful derivative of opium. The sale or prescribing of "dionin" is specifically barred by the Harrison Anti-Drug Act, except when ordered by a qualified physician as a medical necessity.

MYSTERY IN CASE.

There is considerable mystery about the extortion charge, which is contained in a second indictment separate from the one alleging unlawful sale of narcotics.

It is alleged, in connection with the extortion complaint, that the physician obtained $160 from Leland Miller of Fairfield, Me. Miller is said to be slated as a State witness against Dr. Tozer when the case comes up for trial.

It is also reported that Miller recently was in touch with the United State's Marshal's office here, prior to the investigation which led to Dr. Tozer's arrest.

The Tozer sanitarium or rest cure was formerly one of the establishments in the Neal Institute chain for cure of the liquor habit. Dr. Tozer took the place over between two and three years ago and has since operated it as a sanitarium for male patients.

REPORT WOMAN HELD.

Report sprang up some months ago that a woman was being held there against her will. The report came to attention of a social service organization here, which made investigation or caused one to be made. But no official action resulted. No tangible evidence to substantiate the report developed.

The sanitarium has accommodations for about twenty-five patients. The complaint against Dr. Tozer sets forth that he dispensed drugs in a manner other than to his patients. In other words, according to the intimations of Federal agents, the physician had not only been supplying drugs to patients in greater quantity than warranted, but he also had been the source of an outside supply.

ARREST DR. TOZER.

The return of secret indictments against the physician Saturday was followed quickly by his arrest at the sanitarium by Federal deputies, who also made search of the premises. They are said to have seized material which, they claim, will be put in evidence for the government.

FINED FOR NOISY PARTY

Family Reunion Broken Up by Police Winds Up in Court

Michael Nazzaro, professional bondsman of Metropolitan avenue, Roslindale, learned in the Roxbury Court today that one is not permitted to hold a family reunion if it becomes so noisy that it annoys the neighbors.

Even the alleged presence of police guests at the party will not help out when the matter reaches the courts.

Michael held such a party on the evening of September 4. He had a band and a large crowd of guests. Among the guests it is alleged there were several policemen.

NEIGHBORS COMPLAIN.

The party became so noisy, police say, that the neighbors landed together and complained to the West Roxbury police.

Sergeant Tilton went to the Nazzaro home and was greeted by the strains of sweet music and the wrath of the hondsman, according to his story. The sergeant declared that Nazzaro told him he was holding his party and could do as he pleased on his own property. Further than that the sergeant said Nazzaro told him he could go where the climate is a bit warmer than Boston Harbor on a February morning.

In court Nazzaro acted as his own counsel. He explained that the party was a family reunion—the first of his family in forty-five years.

FAMILY REUNION.

The court decided that even A family reunion should not disturb the neighbors and fined Nazzaro $25, which he appealed.

Sergeant Tilton then asked that Nazzaro be placed under bonds to maintain the peace, as he heard he was going to stage another party soon. Nazzaro said he expected something would take place before the 10th of October.

'Bad Check' Girl Gets Chance to Reform

BRINGS SARAH BACK TO TOWN

Police Inspector George Augusta and Sarah King of Portland, accused of passing worthless checks. The inspector found her in Manchester.

SAY S SHE MARRIED STARBIRD

Landlady of Haverhill Football Man Tells How She Put Mae Barry Out of Her House

Ruth Carey, Methuen heiress, will elect to hold the love of Billy Starbird, Haverhill football hero.

"I love Billy, I love him," she cried today. "I know that Mae Barry loves him. I will shoot her and him, too, if he is not true to me now that we are married."

Into the sympathetic ear of Mrs. Therese Abrams of No. 210 Harvard street, Allston, little Ruth poured her trouble. This was but a few hours before the strange elopement of the two girls with Billy Starbird and Charles E. McNevin, former restaurant manager.

Are the elopers still in Boston?

Mrs. Abrams thinks they are. "Why," she explained, "I am positive I saw Billy Starbird walking the streets of Allston either Sunday or Saturday.

RUTH IS EXCITED.

"Of course they may have gone to New York, but I am positive that it was Billy I saw. He lived here for a month or more, so I know him pretty well.

"Poor little Ruth, she was so excited and so disturbed over the thought of Mae Barry stealing her Billy.

"She came to me and she said 'Billy has received money at different times from Mae Barry. Now that I am married I am going to have something to say. Mae has got to stop giving Billy money. I do not think it is right for a woman to give a man money, do you?'

"I told the child that I didn't think it was right, and I advised her to go to work and said I would get her a job in a silk factory at $15 a week. I said I thought Billy ought to go to work at once and that then they could get along very nicely.

CERTAIN THEY'RE MARRIED.

"I am certain that Billy and Ruth are married. A week ago Saturday, September 16, Billy introduced the girl as his prospective wife and told me that he planned to get married that day, that he was responsible for her condition and so would get a five-day waiver and marry her at once.

"Well they went away and came back and he said 'Meet my darling wife.' Ruth and he lived together in their room as man and wife until the following Tuesday. He failed to get home Monday until midnight and Ruth came to me scared and said she was afraid something had happened to Billy.

"That Mae Barry is a tartar. I kicked her out of my house and I would have used my fists if she came out here any more. She was here all together three times. The first time she spent an hour with Billy in his room after saying she was his sister.

"Billy Starbird came here about a month ago. One of the first things he wanted to find out was whether girls were permitted to call to the rooms of male lodgers. I answered no, saying that I had never allowed such doings.

ALONG CAME MAE.

"He agreed with me. He said he was anxious to find a place like that, where it was very strict, for he said that he had a girl following him and that she got into his room where he had roomed before.

Continued on Page 7, Column 6.

LORING ASSAULT HEARING IS POSTPONED

Nathaniel T. Loring, cotton and linen dealer of Boston, appeared in the Newton District Court today to answer a charge of assult and battery on his wife, Mrs. Norma Hyatt Loring, of No. 71 Morton street, Newton Centre, and her mother, Mrs. Rose L. Hyatt, on August 26. Judge Bacon continued the case until Saturday.

Since the date of the alleged assult, Mrs. Loring has been granted a divorce. She charged unfaithfulness. Mrs. Ethel Mortlock of No. 43 Centre street, Bookline, a divorcee, was named as corespondent.

The arrest of Mr. Loring came as the result of Mrs. Loring's discovery of Mrs. Mortlock driving a car which Mr. Loring had given his wife. When Mrs. Mortlock appeared at the Woodland Country Club, Auburndale, in the car, Mrs. Loring took possession of it and drove home.

Mr. Loring is said to have administered a beating to his wife and mother-in-law when he found out about the auto incident. John F. Feeney, counsel for Mr. Loring, today told Judge Bacon that Colonel Percy H. Guthrie, Mrs. Loring's counsel, has informed him she does not now wish to persecute her husband on this charge.

Judge Bacon said he could not dispose of the case until papers showing acknowledgement and stipulation are filed.

ATTACKS LABOR HATERS IN MINE MASSACRE

Marion, Ill., Sept. 25.—A. W. Kerr, chief counsel for the defence in the Herrin massacre cases, issued a statement charging that "labor hating" organizations were conducting the prosecution. Thirty-eight of the seventy-six men indicted in connection with the massacre of more than forty non-union coal miners on June 22 will be arraigned on murder charges tomorrow.

The grand jury report was made public Saturday. It revealed 240 indictments against 76 individuals, nearly members of miners' union. Mr. Kerr charges this report was prepared by Attorney-General Brundage at the instigation of the Illinois Chamber of Cymerce. In his statement Mr. Kedd calls attention to the fact that no indictments were returned for the slaying of two union miners.

"Counsel for the defence bitterly resent and assail the conduct of the Attorney-General of the State in making speeches to the grand jury through the public press. We charge deliberately that the report of the grand jury made in conection with the indictments bears all the earmarks of having been drafted in advance by the Attorney-General at No. 10 South La Salle street, Chicago, the Chicago address of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. It runs true to form of the published emissions of that organization."

TURNS ON GAS AFTER FAMILY QUARREL

Louis Palkowitch, twenty-seven years old and married, attempted suicide by inhaling illuminating gas at his home, No. 409 Charles street, West End, following a family quarrel. His wife, breaking down a door, found her husband on the floor, unconscious. At the Haymarket Square Relief Station physicians say he will recover.

Havre de Grace Entries

FIRST RACE—Purse $1,897.62; for two-year-olds; 6½ furlongs (10):

Mabel K	102	Billy Blanche	102
Sergeth Aroon	102	Billy Gibson	102
Seven Hawk	102	Devil	102
Chloe Gold	102	Hallo	102
Bellflower	102	Ridge	102

SECOND RACE—Purse $1,897.62; for three-year-olds and up; five and a half furlongs (7):

Ivy Leaf	97	Minute Man	111
Wildcard	100	Virgil y Witcher	114
Apex	103	Chamblain	111
Lalet	107

W. P. Burch and G. Ross entry.

THIRD RACE—Purse $1,897.62; claiming; for two-year-olds; six furlongs (6):

Gladee	95	Radiant	100
Rock Gorgon	98	Bells of Rose	101
Tom Orrick	101	Ridge	111
Chouhana	102	Water Girl	113
Primus	102	Tassel	113

FOURTH RACE—Purse $1,897.62; the Capitol Handicap; for three-year-olds and up; one mile and a sixteenth (8):

Fifty-Fifty	93	Thomas Buck	111
Comic Song	107	Up Sergeant	112
Iron Kiss	109	Fairway	113

FIFTH RACE—Purse, $1,897.62; claiming; for three-year-olds and up; one mile and seventy yards (9):

Kathryn Rankin	107	Radical	110
Bobbed Hair	107	Silvant	110
Wanderer	107	Realm	113
Lake Scene	107	Gelt	115
Wheeler Jim	110

SIXTH RACE—Purse $1,896.62; claiming; for three-year-olds and up; one mile and seventy yards (9):

Sugar Foot	101	Hobey Baker	109
Regret	104	Fire Chairman	112
Knight of the Heather	104	King John	113

SEVENTH RACE—Purse, $1,897.62; claiming; for three-year-olds and up; one mile and a sixteenth (13):

Miss Filley	101	Remains	109
Proffra	104	Hard Guess	111
Twisted	106	Ultana	111
Miss S	108	Joe Jon	111
Tom Heston	108	Ninth Undersea	111
King Sarge	109	Utah	113
Donald	109

Coupled—C. W. Foreman entry.

Weather clear; track fast.

Apprentice allowance claimed five pounds.

MRS. HARDING IS STEADILY GAINING

Washington Sept. 25.—An X-ray examination of Mrs. Harding reveals that the treatment she had received has been successful in relieving the congested condition of her kidneys, Brigadier-General C. E. Sawyer, the White House physician, announced today. Mrs. Harding is steadily improving and the treatment will be continued.

MUST FILE CLAIMS OR LOSE MONEY

Bank Commissioner Allen today secured an order from the Supreme Court under which depositors having claims against the Hanover Trust Company must submit them before November 15. Failure to do this means that they will be barred from such distribution of the bank's assets as may be made. Greater Boston has 4,400 persons who have deposits of $11,000 in the bank, and yet have made no effort to prove their claims and get their money, despit numerous notices to do so.

GIRL CONVINCES COURT SHE CAN BE GOOD

Pretty Sarah King of Portland, Me., was given her third—and the court emphasized, her last—chance to get over her habit of passing bad checks in department stores.

Sarah was brought in from Manchester, N. H., today by Inspector George Augusta on the check passing charge. She was on a year's suspended sentence on a similar charge. Arraigned in Superior Court, she was able to convince the court that she could overcome her habits and got another chance. She was placed on probation.

3 HELD IN "HAWK" RUM-RUNNING PLOT

Charges of conspiracy in a rum-running plot, nipped when the schooner Hawk was seized off Magnolia last week, were heard before U. S. Commissioner Hayes today. Captain Harry Ludeen and William Mace, both of Rockland, Maine, were held in $500 for the grand jury for conspiracy to smuggle liquor, and Joseph Smith of Gloucester was held for illegal transportation. Harold Harding, Carl Harding and John Smith, all of Gloucester, were allowed to go. The Hawk was sold at auction for $450 to William S. Hazelton of Boston by the U. S. appraisers' stores today.

ENGLAND READY TO REVISE 3-MILE LIMIT

London, Sept. 25 (By International News Service).—Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, has been instructed to inform Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes that Great Britain is ready to cooperate in a revision of the international law establishing a three-mile limit off the American coast.

The American State Department had set up the contention that in the matter of search for illegal whiskey and other such contrabands the American nationality line extends twelve miles to sea instead of only three.

Great Britain points out that the three-mile zone was originally fixed to keep warships out of gun range of the shore, but since those days the rangs of cannon has been greatly increased, consequently Great Britain is willing to extend the zone.

Editor Commits Suicide

St. Louis—Jacques Villard, editor and language teacher, for whom a nation-wide search was conducted when he was kidnaped in Chicago in December, 1920, and held for ransom, committed suicide today by cutting his throat.

80 Summer St.—BOSTON AMERICAN—A Paper for People Who Think—Largest Evening Circulation in New England—MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1922—Phone Main 5180

MRS. STILLMAN TO PLAY NEW CARDS

READY TO APPEAL IF SHE LOSES

Confident, However, That Referee's Decision Will Establish Guy's Legitimacy

New York, Sept. 25.—The story of the Stillmans is not yet all told. New declarations of the same nature as those which have found their way to every part of the world may be added. The exact nature of the new testimony is withheld.

Unless the decision of Daniel J. Gleason of Poughkeepsie, referee in the noted divorce case, completely establishes the innocence of Anne U. Stillman of the charges of unfaithfulness brought against her by her husband, James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank, she will continue the fight to clear her name, even if it means repetition of the old stories and the addition of new ones, it is learned.

CONFIDENT OF TRIUMPH.

Mrs. Stillman, her friends and attorneys are confident that the referee's decision, which will be filed late this week at Carmel, N. Y., will prove a sweeping triumph for her over her husband. But unless it does, Mrs. Stillman will carry the case to the Appellate Division and fight it out in all its details.

Testimony against Mr. Stillman himself, said to reveal new chapters in the story of his night life here, and new witnesses further to attack the charges of intimacy between Mrs. Stillman and Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, have been held in reserve by the defendant's counsel, it is learned, to be used in case the decision fails to clear the name of Anne U. Stillman and of her child Guy, whose legitimacy her husband questioned in his action for divorce.

Belief is almost unanimous among those involved in the case that Guy's legitimacy has not been shaken by the Stillman attacks.

DAMNING TESTIMONY.

The testimony against Mr. Stillman is believed by many to have been sufficiently damning to preclude the granting of a divorce to him.

Technically, the decision of the referee is not final. After it is filed attorneys will follow with a motion to have it affirmed or reversed by the court which receives it—probably Supreme Justice Morschauser's court.

After a study of the entire testimony the judge gives his decision on these motions and any appeal would follow.

Precedent, however, makes it almost certain that the decision will be accepted in its entirety by the court, any further controversy having to be carried to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

MARSH, HARPERS' CRITIC, KILLED

New York, Sept. 25.—Edward C. Marsh, editorial advisor for Harper & Brothers, and widely known critic and short story writer, accidentally shot himself while hunting yesterday on his country place at Bawling, N. Y., it was learned today. Mr. Marsh, out with a party of friends, was clambering over a wall when his gun was discharged, the shot penetrating his temple and killing him instantly.

WAVE NEARLY RUINS MAN'S ONLY GOOD EYE

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 25.—Dr. T. I. Goodfellow of the Saratoga Hospital has hopes of the recovery by E. A. Ketchum of Rochester, N. Y., of the sight in his one good eye, which was at least temporarily destroyed when a big wave struck him while he was in bathing here about a week ago.

'Almighty Bowed Out of Colleges' Says Pastor

New York, Sept. 25.—"The Almighty has been politely bowed out of many of our universities," Dr. S. Edward Young declared at the Bedford Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn.

"What the times demand is not fewer college men but fewer colleges that take the religious convictions out of the youths who enter them. Practically all our leading institutions, such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke Vassar and Smith, began as religious educational institutions, but many of them have turned God out since."

Here's Tiernan Baby Whose Parentage Is Cause of Big Suit

Photo by International News Reel.

MRS. TIERNAN AND THE BABY

This is the youngster whose parentage is being disputed in court. Mrs. Tiernan, the baby's mother, claims Harry Poulin, and not her teacher husband, is the father of the child. Mrs. Tiernan is holding the youngster.

'YOU LIE!' CRIES MRS. TIERNAN AT POULIN

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 25 (By International News Service).—With a scream of rage, the woman in the case faced the man in the case at the Tiernan-Poulin paternity hearing today.

"You liar—oh; you lie!"

It was the climax of the court drama, Mrs. Augusta Tiernan hurling the ugly word at Harry Poulin, the man she accuses of being the father of her baby.

Poulin was on the stand at the time. Calmly, almost with an air of indifference, he was telling his story.

Mrs. Tiernan had jumped to her feet as she interrupted Poulin's attorney. He started, then leaned forward in his chair.

"Sit down," he said in low, deliberate tones—"you'll hear more than that."

Mrs. Tiernan cast a look of scorn at the man she accuses was her lover in an illicit romance, then sank back into the arms of her husband, Professor John P. Tiernan of Notre Dame University.

Samuel Swatz, attorney for the defence, asked Poulin:

"And were you ever alone with Mrs. Tiernan in the branch store maintained by the company for which you work on the university campus?"

"I was not," he answered.

Mrs. Tiernan seemed stunned. Then she sprang to her feet with the angry exclamation.

It was a full minute before order could be restored and Poulin's examination continued.

SIGNALMEN SEEK WARTIME WAGES

Chicago, Sept. 25.—A return to wartime wages and resumption of the basic eight-hour day were requested before the United States Labor Board today, by representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America. D. W. Holt, president of the Brotherhood, opened the hearing for the employes of 42 railroads and their subsidiaries.

John G. Walber, representing Eastern railroads; C. E. Neal, of Southeastern roads, and John Higgins, of the Western lines, oppose the petition.

25,000 VETS DELAY POLL TAX PAPERS

Twenty-five thousand Boston veterans of the World War, who are entitled to an abatement of $3 on their poll tax assessment, have failed to file the blanks for such abatements with the Board of Assessors, as required by law. Chairman Kelley of the board today announced Mayor Curley that time for filing applications expires October 15.

Taken in Raid

MAE STUART.

She and two other girls found serving drinks to a party of Astor street crap shooters were arraigned in court and their cases were placed in file.

FORD'S PROFITS $76,000,000 IN A YEAR

By ALLAN L. BENSON.
By International News Service.
(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

Detroit, Sept. 25.—Henry Ford is making more cars and more profits this year than ever before. Back of these facts is perhaps as amazing a money story as ever told.

Ford's profits for the calendar year 1921 were $76,000,000. This is the high mark of his career up to that time. It was particularly notable because at the beginning of the year, Wall Street, believing him to be in financial difficulties, had sent a banker to Ford to offer him a big loan and to designate the next secretary of the Ford Company.

During the latter part of 1921 and the early part of 1922 Ford reduced the prices of his cars and tractors sufficiently to wipe out his $76,000,000 profits of 1921 and leave a deficit of $15,000,000. That is to say, if the same number of cars and the prices of raw materials were to remain the same there would be a deficit of ten millions on the business of 1922.

Having known all of these facts since the first of the year, I asked Ford today how he was making out.

"We are making more cars, more tractors and more profits," he replied, "than ever before. Our average profits last year were a little more than $6,000,000 a month. Our average monthly profits so far this year have been considerably more than that.

"We are making 5,100 cars a day. This is every car we can possibly turn out with our present facilities. It is more than we ever made before, yet it is about 200 cars a day less than our orders."

Ford's cash balance is now up around the $200,000,000 mark. Money has lost all meaning to him except as an instrument with which to carry out his plans. A while ago his secretary called his attention to a deposit of $2,000,000 in a bank at Windsor, Ont., that Ford had forgotten all about.

EUROPE HUNGRY FOR FOOD, NOT FOR MUSIC

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Food, not music and art, occupies the minds of Europe today, Fredrick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, said today on his return from a Summer abroad in search of new orchestral work. Jazz, in the meantime, has taken a stranglehold on its composers.

"Europe is food mad," the famous conductor declared. "Formerly one could drop in any of the Viennese or Berlin cafes and hear people discussing music and art. Now all they talk about is their stomachs.

"The new art centre of the world has shifted to America.

"Europe is crazy about jazz. The Vienna orchestras, however, don't play it with the pep our jazz-mad bands do, but they are getting the idea. Nor are they relying on American composers for their 'stuff.' They are composing their own jazz, and much of it is music.

"Of course, there's jazz and jazz. Some of it is just thoughtless noise, but real jazz properly played —well, I don't mind saying that I like it.

"Richard Strauss told me in Vienna that the present age is too mechanical and materialistic for real music. Strauss himself is composing nothing but ballets. 'There's no use trying to write serious stuff,' he said. 'Our art must strive to lighten people's hearts and minds.'

"That's what European composers are seeking to do—trying to make people forget about marks and crowns, beefsteaks and eggs."

BACK BAY CRAP SHOOTERS ARE FINED $5 EACH

For bouncing the bones on the Lord's Day, $5 fine—Condon Croighton, William Pease, Frank L. Grayes, William H. Williams, William Gisner and Edward Chase.

This was the aftermath of the session of "Sunday golf" in the apartment of Mr. Creighton at No. 63 Astor street, which was raided by Back Bay police.

Three girls found serving drinks to the crap-shooters were also arraigned. They were, Mae Stuart, twenty-eight, No. 31 Berlin street, Wollaston; Louise Howard, twenty-one, No. 75 Allston street, West End, and Edith Worth, thirty, No. 728 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

The cases against the girls, who were charged with drunkenness, were placed on file.

PAUPER GRAVE FOR WOMAN OF MYSTERY

Annie Queeney will be buried in an unmarked grave in Potter's field unless somebody comes forth to lift the veil of mystery that had kept her a lone, pathetic figure until the day she was found dead from gas poisoning in her room in a South End lodging house.

She never received any mail. There was never a visitor or relative to cheer her. She was known as the "woman of mystery." Death has not removed the veil. And unless relatives read of her death and come forward, Annie Queeney, a gentle old soul, will join the rest of the unknown who lay in a pauper's field.

Any theory that the spinster, dependent, committed suicide, was dispelled today by Mrs. Lizzie Evans, proprietor of the lodging house at No. 1443 Washington street, who, through the Boston American, seeks relatives to give Annie a decent burial. According to her, Miss Queeney's death was accidental. She discovered the aged woman's body. Beside the bed was an unlighted gas stove. Gas was flowing from it.

The spinster was in a half-reclining position on the bed. Her arms were spread as though she had struggled to overcome the gas fumes.

"Miss Queeney had lived with me for about a year," said Mrs. Evans. "She told me she was never married. We called her 'Midget.' She was a small woman and weighed not over ninety-five pounds. She was a very quiet, little old lady. She appeared well-bred. Once in awhile she broke her silence with a 'Good morning.'

"She always paid her rent. She once told me she had a sister-in-law in Boston. She said they were nice people and had chided her for living alone. Once or twice each week she would be gone for the afternoon. I think that on some of these occasions she must have visited relatives. I hope some of Annie's kin will read of her death in the Boston American and save her from any such thing as burial in the Potter's field.

'RED HEAD' MAY SCORE AS THE KID'S NO. 9

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—"Don't be surprised, kid, dear, if you see me in a few days.

(Signed) "RED HEAD."

I was a telegram from Detroit addressed to Mr. Norman Selby, of Hollywood, and way point.

And Kid McCoy, unreformed matrimonial champion of the universe, nervously pacing his garden in the sparkling morning and a bath robe, plucked a posy and quoth:

"I've been expecting her for several months. I wish she would hurry. Repeat two whole dollars for a marriage license for myself and Mrs. Jacqueline McDowell.

"Jaqueline found Red Head's telegram and went back home. But I certainly hate to think that I wasted those two dollars.

"Isn't it possible to change the name on the marriage license and use it just like new?"

And so it looks like the Kid, otherwise Selby, refuses to take the count, although the fair Jaqueline tried her best to put him down by leaving him to hold the marriage license at the bridegroom's chair.

Incidentally, if the mysterious red head consents to let the parson wed them one she will become Mrs. Kid No. 9. And Herman is still a young man, too.

Quits the Kid Cold

MRS. JAQUELINE McDOWELL.

Who refused to become Norman Selby's ninth bride, when she discovered a love telegram to him from his "Red Head" girl.

Reveals Her Marriage June 5; Quits Her Young Husband

Gertrude E. McDonough of South Boston, whose disappearance is accounted for by her marriage. Her parents objected to the wedding. She has returned to Boston, but is not living with her husband.

Mary Has a New Skirt -- 5 Inches From Ground

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Here's good news and comfort for those who wear 'em long:

Mary Pickford is on their side.

She said so today when she arrived in San Francisco with Douglas Fairbanks en route to Canada, New York and Mexico.

Poking a tiny slippered and slim ankle beyond the skirt line, she said:

"You see, it's just five inches from the ground."

Mary denied that Douglas had anything to do with the selection of her costume or the location of the skirtline.

THREATENS TO SHOOT ELOPERS

Continued from First Page.

"A week passed when along came Mae Barry. I didn't see her at the door. She brushed right in past a woman lodger, who stopped her and told her it was wrong for her to go to Billy's room. She said very boldly, 'He is my brother, so I will go there whether you think it is right or not.'

"Well, I just sent my little daughter to Billy's room and ordered that he come right down. When he did, I told him I thought he was doing a very wrong thing. Mae Barry came down, too. She said, 'I am his sister, so it is perfectly all right for me to be in his room.' Billy said the same. I said, 'I do not believe you.' However, they were in there together for more than an hour.

ORDERED HER OUT.

"Mae Barry came into my house twice after that. The second time I was away when she sneaked in. I came home unexpectedly and what I saw—well, it was just enough, so I ordered that girl right out of my house at once."

MRS. EMMA McDONOUGH.

Who says she will not take her daughter back into her home because she has married.

GIRL MARRIES, DISOWNED BY MOTHER

Here is news for the friends of Miss Gertrude E. McDonough, No. 103 I street, South Boston, who have been wondering at her disappearance some weeks ago.

The fact, it became known today, is that she is no longer Miss McDonough but Mrs. Charles H. Walsh.

The couple were married June 5, in Plymouth, N. H. Shortly before then, when the couple left Boston, it was believed by Gertrude's parents and Walsh's friends that it was merely a vacation trip. The parents of the girl had objected to a marriage between the two because of a difference in faiths.

Following information received by the girl's mother that she was married, Gertrude was disowned.

Now Gertrude is back in Boston again, but she is not living with her husband.

The mother, Mrs. Emma McDonough, says she will not take the daughter back. Walsh could not be reached for a statement. He was formerly a guard on the Boston Elevated, living at No. 2 Fourth street place, South Boston.

SHIPS TO HAVE OIL BURNER EQUIPMENT

New York, Sept. 25.—The Todd Shipyards Corporation today announced orders for the immediate equipment of twelve ships, segregating more than 81,000 gross tons, with oil burners. The ships include the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland, the Red Star liner Kroonland, five vessels of the United Fruit Line, four of the Southern Pacific fleet and one Mallory liner.

ADORES U. S., BUT SCORNS ITS STYLES

New York, Sept. 25.—"I do not hate America, I adore it. I know its history by heart. I am the victim of one grand mistake—all because I was shocked by the women's styles, and had the candor to say so!"

Thus did Mademoiselle Marcelle Dallaire comment upon the explanation offered by Professor Darbie Rowland, university teacher, that he would not marry her because of her hatred of America.

WAS TO BE MARRIED.

"When I came here," Mlle. Dallaire said, "I was admitted at the ships' pier in custody of the Traveling Aid Society with the understanding I was to be married to Professor Rowland of Greencastle, Ind., whom I had met in France five years ago. Scarcely had we landed, when I was amazed at the styles and costumes of the New York women.

"The sight of bobbed-haired girls in red hats, green dresses, blue waists, yellow stockings and lavender shoes was too much for me. I had never before in my life seen such variegated colors on women.

"I did express disapproval of New York women's dress. But that's all, and it was meant in a true spirit of comradeship with the man I intended to marry. To fancy that any man could take such comment as enough to cause him to cast aside a girl who would cross an ocean to be his wife would be to debauch intelligence. Why should my views on bobbed hair make me an ineligible bride to"—she paused—"a college professor?"

GOOD EXPERIENCE.

"Ah, well, it's all over. We shall call it a good experience, that's all. But I do not hate America. I am going to be deported back to my father and mother in France. But I love America, even though I gasp at its bobbed hair, red shags, pink hats yellow stockings—ah!"

JEWISH GIRLS WELCOMED AT RADCLIFFE

Jewish girls at Radcliffe hold the same social status as the other students. The authorities of the college declare the truth of this, and the students themselves back it up.

A Jewish girl, Dorothy Adlow of Roxbury, was last year president of the Liberal Club, one of the largest clubs at Radcliffe. Mina Rosen, '23, of Boston, is college auditor this year, and Katherine Smith, '23, of Melrose, acknowledged one of the most popular girls at the college, is business manager of the News this year. Marion Coppleman of Boston is one of the members of the Junior Welcoming Committee.

Today Radcliffe opened with 226 new students and about 500 upperclassmen, Jewish, Chinese, Japanese and all kinds.

"No discrimination will cause unhappiness for any girl among us," said a member of the Junior welcoming committee today, flashing her red badge and directing a wandering Freshman toward Pay Hall for registration.

"Every girl is taken on her merits at Radcliffe," said another, a little junior.

There are about thirty-five Jewish girls at Radcliffe. In the past they have taken part in the Idler plays, debating and all other social as well as academic affairs.

WELLS FARGO HEAD DIES ON PULLMAN

New York, Sept. 25.—Burns D. Caldwell, president of Wells Fargo & Co. and a veteran railway official, was on his way home from a flying trip in Canada, when he died in a Pullman stateroom shortly before his train reached Burlington, Vt., it was said today at his office. He resided in Orange, N. J.

Mr. Caldwell, who was sixty-four years old, had been head of Wells Fargo & Co. for eleven years and since July 1, 1918, had been chairman of the board of the American Railway Express Company.

Man Arrested Three Times in One Day for Drunkenness

All drunk records went by the board in the municipal court today. John McCarron of Barn street, Somerville, is the holder of the honor, and when the record of three arrests for drunkenness in one day was chalked up against him, Judge Lourie decided the case was worth looking into. Proceedings against McCarron were accordingly postponed until September 28, so that all three arresting officers may be on the spot at one time.